SULZER TO FIGHT TO THE VERY END

Rumors Conditioned Upon His Losing Fight to Avoid the Court

LEGALITY OF PROCEEDINGS

Decision on Monday—Predicament of Mr. Garrison Held for Contempt. Habeas Corpus Issued Last Night.

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 20.—With rumors current that Governor William Sulzer would resign in the event his attorneys lose their fight to prevent him from being forced to defend himself before the high court of impeachment, statements forthcoming from his counsel today seemed to indicate that he has every intention of fighting the case out to the end, be it bitter or sweet.

The statements were inspired by the general interpretation placed on the letter which Mr. Sulzer sent yesterday to Lieutenant Governor Glynn, turning over to him for signature requisition papers for the extradition of a prisoner. The letter was taken to mean that the impeached executive thereby recognized the right of Mr. Glynn to act as Governor pending the outcome of the trial.

This his counsel—Valentine Taylor and D. Cady Herrick, as well as the Governor's secretary, Chester Platt, all emphatically denied.

They made it plain that he did not recognize as final the recent decision of Supreme Court Justice Hasbrouck that Mr. Sulzer as Governor, had no right to exercise the pardoning power.

"Neither Governor Sulzer nor his counsel," said Judge Herrick tonight, "has conceded for one moment the right of Lieutenant Governor Glynn to act as Governor, nor that the Assembly had jurisdiction to impeach at the extraordinary session.

"Counsel for Governor Sulzer asked Mr. Glynn shortly after the article of impeachment were served on the Governor, to make a test case, so that the question as to who was to act as Governor in the meantime might be decided. Of course, it followed that if such a test was made, both parties would abide by the result. The request was refused.

"Without any co-operation on the part of, or by the advice of counsel for the Governor, a case was brought before Justice Hasbrouck which involved the question as to whether Governor Sulzer had the right to grant a pardon. That decision was adverse to such right. Governor Sulzer immediately was advised to perform no further executive act, but to respect the decision of the court until it should be reversed.

"Yesterday two matters arose that seemed to demand immediate consideration, and under the decision of Justice Hasbrouck, it was estimated that the public authorities would not recognize any act of Governor Sulzer. His counsel, for the purpose of enabling these seemingly urgent matters to be disposed of, advised that the papers should be transmitted to Lieutenant Governor Glynn, thus abiding by the decision of the court until it could be reversed by a higher tribunal.

"The question as to whether the Assembly had the power to impeach is now being argued before the court for the trial of impeachment by Mr. Marshall and it is absurd to think that pending that argument, and before any decision by the court for the trial of impeachments is made Governor Sulzer or his counsel would in any way concede the legality of the proceedings of the Legislature, or that he is not rightfully entitled to act as Governor."

The decision of the court of impeachment on the question will probably come Monday. Attorney Marshall is expected to finish his argument Monday morning and Judge Parker, chief counsel for the impeachment managers, will answer it. The vote will follow.

James C. Garrison, the Governor's friend and graft investigator, tonight was still a prisoner in the Albany county penitentiary, where he was committed yesterday by the Assembly for contempt of that body. Efforts of the counsel to procure a writ of habeas corpus today were unavailing, but Supreme Court Justice Cochrane at Hudson tonight issued a writ of habeas corpus for Garrison returnable at Troy Monday afternoon.

The writ was obtained after a day of hard labor by Gilbert E. Roe and John T. McDonough, attorneys for Garrison. Early today they began searching for a Supreme Court justice in Albany, but their efforts were futile.

Then they began telephoning around the State for another justice. Finally Justice Cochrane was located at his home in Hudson, where he issued the writ.

Sulzer Talks.

Governor Sulzer tonight broke his long silence, which he has maintained since his impeachment trial began, and declared that he had no intention of resigning and would fight the battle to an end.

"Resign?" he ejaculated, "I have no more idea of doing that than I have of committing hari-kari" and then the Governor thumped his interviewer on the chest and gave other evidences of the fact that he is in a fighting mood.

The Governor's formal statement that he would not resign was not issued until after he had argued at great length with his counsel. Throughout the case they have been opposed to his saying anything for publication but he has overruled them a few times, though not since the trial

LATE MAYOR GAYNOR IDOL OF HIS PEOPLE

Body Lies in State, in Rotunda of New York's City Hall

THE FUNERAL ON MONDAY

Services in Old Trinity Church—Thousands to Gaze for Last Time on Face of Chief Executive—Tribute.

New York, Sept. 20.—In the rotunda of the city hall, on the scene of his years of labor for the municipality of New York, the body of William J. Gaynor lay in state tonight, his coffin draped in the white silken folds of the mayor's official flag and watched over by a guard of honor from the city's police and firemen.

The mayor's body, taken here yesterday from the liner Lusitania and carried to his late home in Brooklyn, where private funeral services were held this afternoon, was brought this evening through a drizzling rain to the hall, from the steps of which less than three weeks ago he accepted a People's nomination for re-election to the mayoralty.

Thousands gathered on that occasion to attest their confidence in his worth to the city as man and mayor. Tens of thousands crowded about the edifice and its approaches tonight, and stood mute, heads bared, and bowed, as his body was borne into the building.

Tomorrow at 8 o'clock the doors of the city hall will be opened and from that hour until sunset or later two separate lines of citizens will have opportunity to pass from the plaza in the front building past the coffin on its bier in the somberly draped rotunda and on out through the north entrance, after gazing on the dead mayor's features.

On Monday the public funeral will be held in Old Trinity church.

The private services in the Gaynor home were held two hours before the body was brought to Manhattan. The little gathering there included only immediate members of the family and a few close friends. The service, brief and simple, was read by Rev. Frank W. Page, of Culpepper, Va., formerly pastor of St. John's Protestant Episcopal church in Brooklyn, to which Mayor Gaynor was a communicant. The clergyman's tribute was personal and intimate.

Promptly at 4 o'clock 200 mounted policemen stood at attention outside, as the coffin containing the body of the mayor was carried from the house by firemen and policemen and placed in the hearse. Departmental heads and members of the board of estimate, acting as escort, stood with bared heads. The funeral cortege then made its slow way to New York across Brooklyn bridge.

Fifty thousand persons stood uncovered in the drizzling rain as the solemn procession, headed by mounted police, marched to the city hall. Eight automobiles following the hearse, carried members of the board of estimate, Mayor Adolph Kline, Robert Adamson, the late Mayor's secretary; R. A. C. Smith, commissioner of docks and ferries, and Police Commissioner Waldo. No member of the mayor's family accompanied the body.

All during the day vehicles drove up to the Gaynor home with floral offerings. It was necessary to employ two automobiles to carry the flowers when the procession started. Conspicuous among the tributes was a wreath of white roses, four feet in diameter, sent by Col. Theodore Roosevelt.

GLENN NOT VERY GARRULOUS

Former Governor in Washington Wouldn't Say if He Would Run for Senate—Was Peeved When Asked for Plans.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Washington, D. C., Sept. 20.—Ex-Governor Robert B. Glenn came to Washington today and in marked contrast to his attitude upon his last visit here, he observed a marked reticence with regard to his future. This manner he observed not only to newspaper men but to several of his closest friends who called on him during the evening at his hotel.

Early this morning the correspondent sought an interview with the ex-Governor with a view to drawing him out with regard to his announcement some time ago that he would announce on September 1st whether or not he would be a candidate for the Senate to oppose Senator Overman. But the effort was fruitless. Over the telephone Mr. Glenn was very abrupt and appeared considerably peeved.

Efforts to make an engagement to interview him were unavailing, as he declared he was "going right out and did not know where he would be during the day."

Wouldn't Talk at All.

In answer to the suggestion that he had promised newspaper men that he would announce his intentions in September, he declared that he did not consider himself bound to make a statement as to his personal business, simply because the papers wished to know.

Several of his friends who talked with him during the evening declared that he had not talked State politics from any angle, and had had nothing whatever to say as to whether he would oppose Senator Overman. He left for home tonight without conveying his future intentions to any one, as far as could be learned.

Charles C. Daniels, and Col. John Cunningham, of Durham, are here.

To Hear Experts On Currency Bill

Washington, Sept. 20.—The Banking and Currency Committee of the Senate, preparing to continue its hearing on the administration currency bill as passed by the House ,today decided to invite Frank A. Vanderlip, president of the National City Bank of New York, to discuss the measure before the committee. Later Vice President Talbott, of the same institution, will be invited to appear.

The committee has decided to have in attendance an expert from the office of the Comptroller of the Currency to keep the committee straight on technical questions, during the examination of witnesses in the future.

Monday the committee will hear Samuel Untermeyer, who as attorney for the Pujo sub-committee of the House Banking and Currency Committee, conducted the extensive money trust investigation of the last Congress.

W. W. Flagan, of Montclair, N. J., was before the committee today. He approved the bill in principle, but suggested a number of amendments. Senator Hitchcock questioned the banker closely as to the possibility of the proposed Federal reserve board expanding and contracting credit throughout the country to suit its political purposes, and of the regional reserve banks exercising a baneful influence over member banks through the regulation of loans and discounts.

On the latter point Senator Reed asked several questions indicating

HAS NO APOLOGIES FOR HIS LECTURES

Secretary Bryan Concludes Chautauqua Engagement With a Statement.

WILL PURSUE HIS COURSE

Christian Citizenship Congress Commends Influence of Lecturer—Other Proceedings at Atlanta Meeting.

Washington, Sept. 20.—Secretary Bryan concluded his chautauqua lectures for the season tonight with an address at Warrenton, Va.

Secretary Bryan today, commenting upon the termination of his engagement, announced that he would continue to lecture as long as he remained Secretary of State, whenever he felt there was proper occasion, and a desire to do so.

Mr. Bryan issued this statement:

"This evening is the last of the chautauqua lectures for this season. The total income from chautauqua lectures this year is a little over $7,000, the net receipts after taking out the necessary expenses are something over $6,500. The number of whole week days which have been used for the lectures is, according to my recollection, seven. The remainder of the lectures have been delivered at places near enough to this city to leave in the afternoon, sometimes as late as 3:08 o'clock. I would not assume that the public was interested in these details were it not for the fact that the representatives of a few newspapers have regarded it as a matter of great importance."

When Mr. Bryan was asked if he would lecture any more during his connection with the State Department, he replied:

"I expect to lecture whenever I deem it desirable or necessary to do so, and have not in the least altered the plans which were made at the time I assumed the duties of the office. The criticism that has been directed against my lecturing is no more bitter than the criticism I have undergone at other times and for other things during my connection with politics.

"A part of this criticism is malicious, a part of it is partisan and a part of it is based upon misinformation. That which is malicious will answer itself, that which is partisan will be accepted as such, that which is based upon misinformation will cease when the critics are better informed.

"No man should enter public life if he objects to criticism and he cannot stay in public life if he permits criticisms to turn him from doing what he thinks is right. He must decide his duty for himself and is answerable to the public for any mistakes he makes. I regard lecturing as an entirely legitimate field. I lectured before I was nominated for the Presidency; I lectured between campaigns, I shall continue to lecture and I shall not believe that any persons whose opinion is worthy having will think the less of me because I do so. This closes the lecture subject for the present."

Mr. Bryan Commended.

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 20.—That Secretary of State William J. Bryan's attitude toward both war and intemperance has proved him a man of high courage was the declaration here tonight of A. L. Orem, of Boston, Mass., in an address before the Southern Christian Citizenship Congress. Mr. Orem's subject was "The Crimes of the Age". The congress also was addressed by Representative Richmond P. Hobson on the "Christian Citizen and the Liquor Traffic."

The morning session of the Congress was devoted to a discussion of "Woman's Work." The session was featured by a heated argument as to the merits of universal suffrage. Mrs. G. B. Lindsay, secretary of the Civic League of America, precipitated the lively debate by asserting that the "votes for women" movement was responsible for "drinking, swearing and gambling among women." At the afternoon session Capt. Jack Crawford, the veteran poet-scout, made a short talk to several thousand children. Tomorrow the Congress will adjourn after holding a rally.

OUTLINES

The Banking and Currency Committee of Congress has decided to invite Frank A. Vanderlip and Vice President Talbott, of the National City Bank, of New York, to discuss the measure before the committee.

It is understood that the North Carolina State Rate Commission will recommend that the latest proposition of the railroads through the Corporation Commission be rejected.

Notwithstanding rumors that Gov. Sulzer would resign if his attorneys lost their fight to prevent him facing the court of impeachment, it was stated yesterday that he would fight the case to its sweet or bitter end.

The body of the late Mayor Gaynor was removed yesterday from his Brooklyn home to the rotunda of the New York City Hall where it will remain until the funeral Monday.

Hundreds of extradition precedents will be laid before Gov. Felker, of New Hampshire, Tuesday when he hears the Thaw case Tuesday; he says his mind is open to all the information possible on the subject.

New York markets: Money on call nominal, no loans; time loans steady, 60 days 4 1-4 to 4 1-2 per cent; 90 days 4 3-4 per cent. Flour quiet. Wheat steady; No. 2, 96 1-2. Corn steady, export 83. Spot cotton steady; middling uplands 13.60. Turpentine steady. Rosin easy.

MEXICAN AFFAIRS UNDERGO CHANGE

Liberal Opposition to Huerta Makes Catholic Party the Issue.

MAY DISSOLVE CONGRESS

Situation Disquieting in Sonora—Carranza Chiefs Do Not Recognize Treaty Between U. S. and Mexico.

Mexico City, Sept. 20.—Political affairs in Mexico have undergone a marked change in the last few days. The liberal party's defiance of President Huerta in the Chamber of Deputies yesterday growing out of opposition to the appointment of Eduardo Tamariz, one of the leaders of the Catholic party, as minister of public instructions, appears to have opened the fight squarely on the issue of the Catholic party influence in governmental affairs with the Liberals and affiliated elements in Congress lined up against it.

Rumors regarding the action President Huerta is likely to take went so far today as to deal with the possibility of his dissolving Congress to rid himself of opposition from that source, and backing Frederico Gamboa, the foreign minister, as his choice for the Presidency in the coming elections.

President Huerta declared himself on the subject of possible dissolution of Congress, saying he has no intention of going to that extremity. While it was authoritatively stated a few days ago that General Huerta had determined to recall General Felix Diaz, pursuant to a settled plan of action, it is now said he has abandoned that course. So far as can be ascertained he has not yet recalled Diaz.

In the face of overwhelming odds against him in the Chamber of Deputies, General Huerta said today he would consider the withdrawal of the appointment of Tamariz, or might possibly shift him to some other ministry where there would be less antagonism. Great interest attaches to the action the Catholic party will take tomorrow in convention, in view of recent developments. The name of Federico Gamboa is the only one figuring tonight in the gossip as the probable choice of the party, although it is said that a compromise candidate might be selected.

Disquieting in Sonora.

Nogales, Ariz., Sept. 20.—American Consul Simpich notified Americans in Sonora today that they could not be required to accept State fiat money as proposed by the Sonora authorities. He said he was acting upon positive instructions from the State Department at Washington. The announcement will affect the Southern Pacific of Mexico and other corporations which have been protesting vigorously to American consul agents. Governor Carranza, the constitutional leader, announced today that he would make Hermosillo general headquarters for a time but was not intending to establish a constitutional government.

"The war cannot end until the victory of the constitutionalists over Huerta is complete," declared Carranza. There can be no legal election while the country is in a state of war. The constitutionalists will take no part in the elections next month, nor recognize those who may be elected.

Constitutionalists' Back-up.

Piedras Negras, Mexico, Sept. 20.—Until the constitutionalists are recognized, the Carranza government will take notice of no treaty between the United States and Mexico. This flat went forth today from Carranza chiefs at Piedras Negras, when United States Consul Blocker protested against the increase to $1 per head of the tax collected by the constitutionalists at the Mexican end of the international bridge over the Rio Grande. The consul observed that a treaty obligation with Mexico had been violated and that the Washington government had authorized him to enter a protest. Carranza officials briefly said in the absence of recognition of Carranza they would not heed any treaty obligations between the two nations.

AIR FOR REFRIGERATION.

Liquefied Product for Commercial Purposes Says French Scientist.

Chicago, Sept. 20.—Development of processes of manufacture of liquefied air so that it will be available for domestic refrigeration was explained by Georges Claude, of Paris, France, in a lecture to the third annual Congress of Refrigeration here today. It will be possible within a few years, M. Claude predicted, for municipal ice plants to pipe liquid air into homes for the use of housewives in their refrigerators, at a cost low enough to make the service popular. The question of preserving eggs without impairing their flavor for long periods occupied an important place in discussions today. The delegates will put their theories to the test Tuesday night, when they will attend a final banquet at which every article served will have been preserved by freezing.

The eighth annual convention of the American Meat Packers' Association will open here Monday for a three days' session.

ENGLISH LABOR TROUBLES.

Strike of Railroad Men Ended, Another Settlement in Sight.

London, Sept. 20.—The strike of the railroad men in the British Isles was practically brought to an end today. Officials of the companies reached an agreement with the representatives of the men's unions today on the basis of the reinstatement of all strikers who agree to handle all the traffic which the railroads are bound to carry under the law. Indications also point to a settlement of the motor omnibus trouble on Monday.

Aids Sulzer Prosecution.

Alton B. Parker, former Chief Justice of the New York State Court of Appeals, and once a candidate on the Democratic ticket for President of the United States, who is acting as chief counsel of the prosecution of the case against Governor William Sulzer, of New York.

EXTRADITION PRECEDENTS

Mass of Information Being Prepared for New Hampshire Governor on Thaw Case—Moving Picture Men Busy.

Concord, N. H., Sept. 20.—A mass of information bearing upon extradition precedents in New Hampshire lay before counsel for Harry K. Thaw today, ready for presentation before Governor Felker Tuesday in an effort to defeat the attempt to have the slayer of Stanford White returned to Matteawan Asylum.

The order of the procedure of the defense will be decided Monday. It had been hoped to submit an outline of the plans to Thaw's mother and sister, Mrs. George Lauder Carnegie, today, but no members of the family has yet put in an appearance.

There was considerable uncertainty tonight as to whether Mrs. Thaw would be able to make the trip here before the extradition hearing Tuesday. She is in charge of a physician and a trained nurse, and it is believed the excitement sure to attend the proceedings next week may make it inadvisable to bring her to Concord.

William T. Jerome, who is in charge of the New York State case, is not expected before Monday night.

Governor Felker was quoted today by a close friends as saying:

"Now that this matter has been put up to me, I shall act upon it in accordance with what seems to me to be my duty; simply, and solely, uninfluenced by public clamor or any other consideration. My mind is perfectly open on the subject of extradition and I want full information before I decide."

While Thaw's counsel were working today in the State library building, their consultation room was invaded by moving picture operators. They were promptly expelled by former Governor Stone, of Pennsylvania, leader of the Thaw forces, who deprecates the introduction into the case of what he calls the "circus element."

May Try Nance During This Week

(Special Star Telegram.)

Rockingham, N. C., Sept. 20.—Developments of the past 24 hours render it now probable that George S. Nance, the insane wife-murderer, will be brought to trial at the September term of criminal court which convenes Monday of the coming week. Alienists of note have been summoned on both sides to be present at that time.

On behalf of the State the following have been called into the case: Dr. John McCampbell, superintendent of the State Hospital at Morganton; Dr. Albert Anderson, of Raleigh, and Dr. Faison, superintendent of the Colored Insane Hospital at Goldsboro.

The defendant's counsel also have engaged Dr. McCampbell in addition to Dr. J. P. Monroe, president of the North Carolina Medical College. Dr. Isaac M. Taylor, superintendent of the Broad Oaks Sanitarium at Morganton, who recently pronounced Nance hopelessly insane, is also expected to be on hand to testify in behalf of the prisoner.

It cannot be learned definitely whether or not counsel for the defense proposes some step when the case is called that would result in Nance's immediate commitment to a hospital for the insane, or whether the trial will proceed with insanity at the time of the crime and since, as a principal plea.

Nance himself still maintains that he is perfectly sane. It is, therefore,

AGAINST PROPOSAL MADE BY RAILROADS

Rate Commission Understood as Recommending Non-Acceptance of Compromise

TIDE OF SENTIMENT RISING

Justice Commission Reports to Governor—Chairman Travis in Washington—President Tate Stands Firm.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Greensboro, N. C., Sept. 20.—The special Freight Rate Commission composed of E. J. Justice, W. B. Council and N. B. Broughton, met here today and formulated their report to Governor Craig containing their views of proposed reductions in rates contained in the second offer of the railroads. The commission declined to make the report public, until it reached the Governor, but it is generally understood that the report is against accepting the compromise offer.

Mr. Justice stated that the meeting today was in response to a request of the Governor that the special Legislative Rate Commission, composed of the three gentlemen named, should get together and submit their views to him. "This, of course," said Mr. Justice, "will not influence His Excellency in any opinion he may entertain or form with reference to the wisdom and policy of accepting, rejecting or modifying the proposition. Inasmuch as the views of the commission are to be disclosed to the Governor first, it would be of doubtful propriety for me to make any statement of what those views are likely to be until the Governor has them in hand and has had an opportunity to comment on them, and, if he thinks proper, to call attention to any errors that may have been expressed in the views of the commission. I am sure that the Governor and Mr. Tate, president of the Just Freight Rate Association, and, I think I may say, the members of the commission, will be influenced in any judgment they may form by consideration of the State's interests and what seems under the circumstances to be just and fair."

Chairman Travis in Washington.

Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 20.—Chairman E. L. Travis, of the Corporation Commission, spent today in Washington, D. C., presumably conferring with railway officials and the Inter-State Commerce Commission regarding the pending proposal of the railroad companies for the settlement of the contest over inter-State freight rates in North Carolina.

He had several long distance telephone conversations with Governor Craig, but nothing as to the nature of the general freight rate situation is given out. The Governor has not yet indicated whether or not he will recommend to the Legislature the adoption of the amended proposal as the Corporation Commission has done.

Governor's Message on Rates.

He is only just beginning to formulate his message to the Legislature for the special session that convenes Wednesday to take up railroad rate matters and proposals for the amendment of the State Constitution.

He declines as yet to indicate just what his attitude toward the amended proposal of the railroad companies for the settlement of the freight rate differences will be, but indicates that he is especially anxious to get rates adjustment that will be satisfactory to the shippers with the least possible disturbance in the Legislature. The Governor seemed to be rather surprised at the interview against the acceptance of the pending proposal of the railroad companies given out by President Tate, of the Just Freight Rate Association.

President Tate's Views.

High Point, N. C., Sept. 20.—In an interview with President Fred N. Tate, of the Just Freight Rate Association, who has just returned from Raleigh, where he was in conference with Governor Craig, the full membership of the special Legislative Freight Rate Commission and the rate experts of the Just Freight Rate Association, he advises that after a careful examination of the latest railroad proposal, it is not as would be inferred from newspaper reports, satisfactory or in shape to be recommended for acceptance.

Is Not Satisfactory.

President Tate desires to state as general information and especially for the information of the membership of the 85 county branches of the Just Freight Rate Association of North Carolina, that the reasons why this last proposal should not hurriedly be accepted is, in the first place, the proposal does not satisfactorily adjust rates to certain North Carolina points and the proposal is contingent upon the co-operation and consent of the Northern and Eastern rail connections of the Southern carriers. In other words, it is not a definite proposition at all, in that no specific table of rates or reductions has been submitted, and further that the whole proposition is submitted subject to an agreement that the State will not adopt punitive, retaliatory or other legislative measures for the protection of the State and for the enforcement of justice. This latter proviso, of course, could not receive serious consideration.

Getting Ready for Mass Meeting.

The proposition, if clean-cut and positive and without strings or provisos, would doubtless be acceptable for the time being insofar as it relates to the territory covered, and it was the hope of all present that the carriers would yet see the wisdom for promptly submitting a clean-cut, positively-defined proposal.

In the meantime President Tate and all of his assistants are rounding up

SECOND PLACE NOW TIED UP BETWEEN SENATORS AND NAPS

Senators Won and Naps Lost Yesterdays Scheduled Games

BARRY WON FOR MACKMEN

Timely Two-bagger in Eighth Inning Enabled Leaders to Defeat Tigers —Two More Games Cinch Pennant for Mack.

By winning yesterday's game from St. Louis by a six to three score, while the Cleveland Naps were losing to the New York Yankees, the Washington Senators tied the Birmingham team for possession of second place in the American League. Each club has played the same number of games and have the same number in the won and lost columns, for a percentage of .573.

The Senators have eight of the remaining eleven games to be played on their local lot, while the Naps have five out of eight games to be played away from home. The aspect presented thusly, gives the Senators the edge on the dope for possession of second place at the ending of the season on October 5th.

Engel started yesterday's game for Washington, but was replaced by Walter Johnson, who gets credit for another win to his long string for the season.

Jack Barry won yesterday's game for the Philadelphia Athletics in the eighth inning with a two-bagger, enabling the leaders to take the game from the Detroit Tigers by a four to two tally. The Athletics play a double bill with Detroit tomorrow, and the winning o fboth games will cinch the pennant for the Mack men.

Vean Gregg allowed the New York Yankees to score seven runs in the first inning of yesterday's game before a single man was out, and the Chancemen won by a seven to three score.

Senators Smile.

Washington, Sept. 20.—By winning today while Cleveland was losing, Washington brought about a tie for second place in the American League race. Each club has won 82 and lost 61 games and has a percentage of .573.

FRANCIS OUIMET WON.

Another to America's List of Winners in International Sport.

Brookline, Mass., Sept. 20.—Another name was added to America's list of victors in international sport here today when Francis Ouimet, a youthful local amateur, won the 19th open championship title of the United Golf Association.

The winning of this national title was lifted to an international plane due to the sensational circumstances of the play and the calibre of the entrants whom Ouimet defeated during his four days' march to victory. Safely berthed in his qualifying round, the boy trailed the leaders in the first half of the championship round; tied with Harry Vardon and Edward Ray, the famous English professionals, for first place in the final round, then completely outplayed them today in the 18-hole extra-round which was necessary to decide the 1913 championship.

Ouimet won with a score of 72 strokes, two under par for one of the hardest courses in the country. Vardon finished five strokes behind Ouimet with 77, Ray took third place, with 78.

It was not the actual defeat of this famous jair of golfers so much as the manner of that defeat that entitles Ouimet's name to rank with that of Maurice E. McLoughlin, champion in tennis, and Harry Payne Whitney, leader in polo. Ouimet, a tall, slender youth, just past his teens, not only outplayed and outnerved Vardon and Ray in the play off, a wonderful fact in itself, but succeeded in battling his way through the largest and most remarkable field of entrants that ever played for an American title.

Mathewson Leads In Shutout Games

While Walter Johnson has him overshadowed for the record of the present season, Christy Mathewson has more shutouts to his credit than any hurler who ever campaigned in the big leagues, with the exception of Cy Young.

Matty has held his opponents scoreless in 73 games during his reign of 13 years, while Young required 22 years to run up a shut-out record of 74 games. Give Matty nine more years and he will probably set a mark in the way of whitewashes that will stand for many seasons. His average of five and a fraction a season is much higher than Young's three and a fraction.

The twirlers who closely approach Matty for a record of seven years or more is led by Walter Johnson, who in seven years has pitched 40 shutouts and Ed Walsh, who in nine years has 54 to his credit.

The shut-out records of baseball's greatest pitchers follows:

Name	Years.	Shutout Games
"Cy" Young	22	74
Christy Mathewson	13	73
Eddie Plank	13	59
"Jeemes" Galvin	13	56
Tim Keefe	17	56

THE PITCHING RECORDS.

Pitching records in the American League todate show Johnson, of Washington, ahead as usual with 33 games won and seven lost, for a winning average of .825. Houck, of Philadelphia, is second, having won 12 and lost four, for a percentage of .750; while Falkenberg, of Cleveland, is third with 22 wins and eight defeats, his average being .733.

Daubert, of Brooklyn, leads the National League batters. His percentage of .361 put him ahead of Earl Yingling, the Brooklyn pitcher, who holds an average of .347. Heinie Zimmerman, champion batter last year, is slowly climbing, but is still No. 10.

Cravath seems destined to win home run honors for the year, as he has 18. Luderus, of Philadelphia, is close with 15, and Saers, of Chicago, has 13 tied.

Carey, of Pittsburgh, has taken away the base-stealing lead from Myers, of Boston, having 49 to the latter's 42.

The first defeat of Jim Vaughan, of Chicago, came too late to be recorded in this week's averages and he leads the National pitchers with four games won and none lost, for a perfect percentage.

Demaree, of New York, is in second place with 15 wins and three defeats, for an average of .833. Humphries, of Chicago, is third with 14 wins and three defeats, his winning percentage being .824.

INDEPENDENT LEAGUE.

Two Interesting Games Yesterday Afternoon on Burnett's Diamond.

Two interesting games of baseball were played yesterday afternoon on Burnett's diamond, corner Seventh and Meares streets, between the teams composing the Independent League. In the first game the Juniors won over Wrightsboro, the score being 6 to 4. The batteries for the Juniors were Buck and Lewis; for Wrightsboro, Seitter and Strickland. The second game was between the Giants and the Immanuel Athletics, the former winning by 12 to 5. The batteries were for the Giants, Reeves and LeGwin; for Immanuel, Locamy and Todd. Next Saturday these teams will play their last games for the season.

St. Louis, Sept. 20.—Miller Huggins, manager of the St. Louis National baseball team, today signed a contract to manage the team next year.

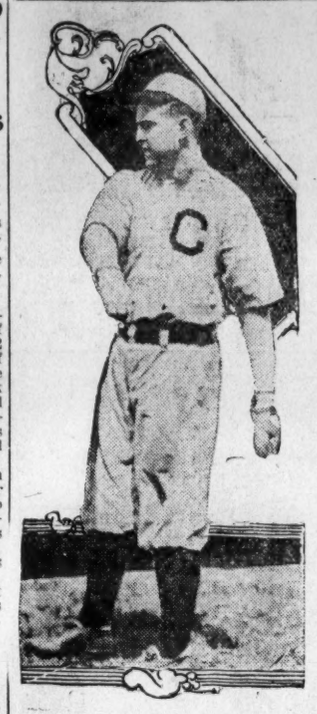
His Right Disputed.



Joe Birmingham, the plucky little leader of the Cleveland Naps, received a severe jolt yesterday, when by losing to the lowly New York Yankees, while the Washington Senators won, his stand at second place was divided with the Griffith band.

Wolgast-Nelson To Meet Again

Milwaukee, Sept. 20.—What for three years the leading fight promoters of the country have failed to do was accomplished in Milwaukee today when Ad Wolgast and Battling Nelson were matched for a second time. The pair have agreed to go ten rounds before Ben Steinel's Milwaukee club the second week of October. There was little trouble in bringing the two hated rivals together.

Both Nelson and Wolgast were spectators at the Charley White-Mickey Sheridan fight in Racine last night. The matter was put up to the Dane and he accepted without hesitation. Ad asked for time to consider, and when seen in Milwaukee this morning accepted. He wants to rest two weeks and then will begin training.

MOGULS MAKE RULING.

Conditions of Optional Agreements— As to Disabled Players.

Cincinnati, Sept. 20.—The National Baseball Commission announced today that the rule of the commission prescribing the conditions under which an optional agreement will be approved and validated had been amended by the adoption of the following paragraph:

"A purchased major league player who has participated in a game and been regularly waived on may be released before September 15th of the year of its execution under an optional agreement exercisable on August 15th of the following year. Such player shall, however, be subject to draft in the year of his release regardless of the approved optional agreement."

The commission also construed the rule relating to the number of players on a major league club to mean that the club will not be required to include in its list the name of any player who is so incapacitated by injury or illness that he is unable to render services, and the chances of the recovery of whose athletic ability are questionable. Such player shall be reserved as "disabled", but shall not count in his team's limit.

RAIN GIVES NATIONAL LEAGUE LEADERS A DAY OF REST

Postponed Games Will Result in Double Headers Today

PIRATES DODGERS SPLIT

Recruits Given Preliminary Tryouts in Second Game, but Retired Under the Heavy Fire— Week's Schedule.

Changing from the American League stands to those occupied by the National, rain stopped three of the four scheduled contests on the circuit for yesterday afternoon, which will necessitate double-headers being played either today or tomorrow. The six clubs which were rained out yesterday have games scheduled for this afternoon, while at Pittsburgh none is played on Sunday. The other teams, playing three-game series which should have started yesterday, will conclude with Monday's games, while Brooklyn stays at Pittsburgh until Tuesday.

The Giants return home next Wednesday for a single game with Brooklyn, and then crosses the river for a three-game series with the Dedicated Dodgers at Ebbetts' Field. They then move to Boston for three games with the Braves to close the month, returning home for the final series of five games with the Phillies, ending October 4th, at which time the forfeited game of August 30th will also be completed.

The Phillies after the series at Chicago ending tomorrow, journey to the home lot for a series with the Braves, seven games being scheduled for four days' work. They will then receive the Brooklyn Dodgers for four games in three days ending October 1st, before their final trip to New York.

Another Break.

Pittsburgh, Sept. 20.—Pittsburgh won the first game 1 to 0 and Brooklyn the second 4 to 3 in this afternoon's double-header. Duffy, a Pittsburgh recruit from Great Falls, Montana, and Brown, a Southern Leaguer, started the second game. Duffy was hit hard in the third and Brown was wild. Ragon took Brown's place after the fifth inning. Gilbert Britton, a young shortstop from the Houston club, of the Texas League, was given a trial in Hans Wagner's position in the two games. He fielded brilliantly and hit the ball hard but could get none of them safe.

FRED MERKLE SUED.

Partner in Oil Well Company Sues for Portion Due Him.

Cincinnati, Sept. 20.—Fred C. Merkle, first baseman of the New York National League club, was sued for $400 in common pleas court here by James M. Crow, of Wheeling, W. Va., who alleges that the ball player owes him for a sixteenth interest in a West Virginia company, which is now drilling for oil. Merkle is in Cincinnati with the New York team.

Leach In Line For Manager Job

As there are to be several managerial berths open in the majors at the close of this season, it is not improbable that Tommy Leach will be given an opportunity to show his ability as a leader. The former Pirate is wanted by more than one good minor league club, but so long as there is a chance for Leach to stick in the big show in the capacity of manager, he ought to be given the chance. There's hardly a doubt that Tommy would make good. He knows the game thoroughly, is popular with the players and fans, and is always trying to win. He is not what could be termed a fighting player, but just the same, he never quits.

THE ETERNAL DOPE.

(By Grantland Rice.)

Rymbals of Swat.

(Mr. O. Herford, having introduced the Rymbal into literature, will pardon us if we push it still further along into the realms of our national fodder.)

This Walter Johnson—he's the guy—
He looks like money in the bank;
He shoots his smoke up on the fly
To blur and blot each batting eye
And make the whole crew walk the plank.

Plank—there's a southpaw, kid, who's there—
The bloke to set a winning pace—
He'll make the best one chop the air
Or hit 'em foul instead of fair—
No wonder Connie leads the Chase.

Chase—yes, he's still upon the job,
Still rated with the very good—
No Collins or a Tyrus Cobb
To make the raging millions throb
But still some actor with the wood—

Poor Wood a year ago today
He had them stymied with the stuff—
He had the whole league eating whey
Out of his mitt across each play—
But this will be almost enough.

A rymbal, if you don't quite make us yet, consists in grabbing a finish for a fresh start—and then plunging on until the time arrives to grab again.

Mathematically, the Athletics can still lose the flag, and mathematically, if we had a million dollars and Col. A. Carnegie gave us another million, we should have two million dollars.

Handicap Race.

The National Commission plans to make a handicap race out of baseball by giving the second division club first grab or something of the sort in the draft allotment. Why not go still further and even up the entire flight—have Walter Johnson cut off his right arm, Mathewson and Marquard take four trips a month on the New Haven, jab out Frank Baker's eyes and then give Browns and Cardinals a margin of 57 won and none lost to start with. Then we'd have a regular pennant race.

Still it isn't a bad idea to give the second division clubs something to start with. And if the above scheme don't work the Commish might try out the canny idea of pushing the Standing of the Clubs upside down about the 12th of each July.

Vardon and Ray.

As we have risen to suggest before, beardings the British Lion within the shadow of a bunker or a sand trap is something else again. Britain's last stand now is with the deadly mashie drawn and the brassie upraised in defense. You may spoof her anent other lines, but not in golf. The little isle of white cliffs and green fields has a rare knack of pummeling the guttapercha from the tee into the cup, using comparatively few strokes for this enterprising purpose. Which is but a prelude to the announcement that than likely be there, thereabouts or Messrs. Vardon and Ray will more somewhere around before the final putt is enticed into the ultimate hole.

Then again there's Jack McDermott, don't overlook a bloke with a Mc attached to his monicker in any battle where they have him crowded. He has a two-stroke jump through his name alone.

Here's a scoop. If you care for such things—Chief Bender picks the Athletics to win the world series while Christy Mathewson favors the Giants. We'd give this important announcement a big head if we had the space, but unfortunately we must bury it here way down around the rut of the gossip. We never seem to have any luck with our stuff these days. The fact that the Giants close their Western trip with St. Louis and Cincinnati while the Phillies tackle the Cubs and Pirates would mean a Giant cinch—if baseball wasn't baseball, which baseball happens to be.

¶News and Reviews of Doings in the World of Sports--Mostly Baseball : :

The Race for the Runner-up

Clark Griffith is guiding his Washington Senators through to the same sort of finish they sprang last year. Then, after entering September in third place, they tore past the Athletics and landed second to the Red Sox in the race for the American League flag. It's just a difference in the personnel of the "stander-still" this season, the Cleveland Naps being the team to suffer through the Senatorial spurt. Judging by the relative positions of the two teams now, the way they are playing and the rivals each has yet to meet in the remaining two weeks of the season, Washington should land the runner-up notch, though the fight may continue clear down the home stretch.

The Greatest Achievement.

When speaking of the greatest single achievements of particular teams this year, that five straight sweep of the recent Nap series by the Senators in Washington must come in for more than bare mention. Had the Senaotrs owned the percentage the Naps had when it started, or had the Naps made the clean sweep instead of the Senators, there would be trouble ahead for Connie Mack in his final two weeks, but as it is, the breaking of the Naps ended all hope of there being a close race for the American League gonfalon, for even a straight run of victories to the end by the Senators from now on would not head off the Athletics.

One fight that seems likely to last almost up to the final day of the season is that between the Browns and Yankees to keep out of last place. The clubs will not meet again this year, as neither will the Naps and Senators, but the battle will continue with the two against outside opposition. The Browns have been playing worse ball the last few weeks than previously, whereas the New York entry has been improving, with the many new players Frank Chance has lined up, with the result that the Gotham troop seems the logical candidate for seventh place. Both the Browns and Yankees are pitted against the second place contenders in series that began yesterday, the Naps playing in New York and the St. Louisans in Washington.

Though the old combination of New York, Pittsburgh and Chicago in the first three places of the National League standing which has endured since 1908, is broken up by the Phillies snatching second, yet the pennant trust remains in control with the Giants taking their third straight flag. Since 1901, no club outside the magic three has been able to land a pennant in the old league. In that year and the two following Fred Clarke ran the Pirates to the top. Then McGraw took up where he left off and got the flags of 1904 and 1905. Frank Chance put the Cubs in the pennant list in 1906 and kept them there three seasons, and in 1909 the Pirates came through again. The Cubs got the 1910 honor and since then it has been all New York. Since the twentieth century rolled in the count between Chicago, New York and Pittsburg was even up at four pennants apiece when this season began. McGraw now takes the lead by piloting his Giants to the 1913 supremacy, making five pennants for his charges.

Since 1905, only once has a club outside the charred trio managed even to horn its way into third place. That was in 1907, when the Giants were crowded down into fourth and the Phillies landed third. And now the Phillies are the ones to squeeze in again. At the beginning of the season, if a fellow had to guess which one of the Big Three would be crowded out of the places at the top, he would have mentioned the Cubs. But Johnny Evers has surprised them all, and the high and mighty Pirates are the buch to be shoved down to the bottom of the first division, the first time they have been that low since 1904.

The intersectional battling in the two leagues will be at an end next Tuesday. In the American League the windup series of the tourers, which began yesterday, are Cleveland at New York, Detroit at Philadelphia, St. Louis at Washington and Chicago at Boston, all these clashes ending on Tuesday. In the National series began yesterday with New York at Cincinnati, Brooklyn at Pittsburg, Boston at St. Louis and Philadelphia at Chicago. All these wind up on Monday except the Brooklyn-Pittsburg melee. Owing to the fact that Sunday ball is not allowed in the smoky city, that series lasts a day longer. It will fire the final intersectional salute of the year in the league on Tuesday. On Wednesday the final home stands begin. The margin this year is well in favor of the East in both leagues, and clean sweeps by the West in nearly all these concluding slashes are necessary to even the balance, which of course is unlikely to occur.

The story is being passed around that Umpire Bill Brennan, who made that queer looking forfeit to the Giants in Philadelphia, will not be employed by the National League next year, no matter who is president of the organization. President Tom Lynch, who reversed Brennan's decision, is certain to let him out, it is said, if he is reelected, and if another man is chosen to head the circuit, he will be instructed by his nominators to dispense with Brennan. It is not the case of the forfeit that mitagates against Brennan so much, according to the yarn being circulated, but his general inconsistent work in games where the spirit of battle ran high. He is said to be over-excitable. Brennan is an expert on the rules of the game, however, in fact one of the best, and if the National League should get rid of him, there probably will be good places awaiting him in either the International League or American Association.

Mr. Cobb again has become Tyrus the Terrible in the last two weeks, now and now is is making a forceful bid to leave Joe Jackson in the rear and grab the leadership of the American League batsman once more. Twice he has shoved his percentage above that of Shoeless Joe, and it looks as if his final shove is likely to put him on the pinnacle he has become used to.

If Glifford Gravath, better known as Gavvy, outfinishes Jake Daubert in the batting race of the National League, it is regarded as almost certain that the square shouldered outfielder of the Phillies will capture the automobile. In the last few weeks he has been breaking fences with reckless abandon, and a little more of the same sort of thing will make it impossible for the Brooklynite to see him when the windup arrives.

One consoling feature in the poor work of the Yankees this year is the thought that, if they had done much better, there would be a general flocking of big league teams to Bermuda to train next Spring. However, Bermuda seems to be a thing of the past now so far as baseball camps are concerned, and it is almost certain that even the Jersey City International League club will look elsewhere as a result of the miserable campaign that is landing the Skeeters in last place.

The International League season ends today and that of the American Association on Monday. Several weeks back it looked like a pair of walkovers for the Newark Indians in the former and Milwaukee Brewers in the latter. But the pennant races tightened up at the last moment and two of the most spectacular fininshes in the history of the organizations were made by Rochester and Minneapolis. The Rochester-Newark duel in the International and the Minneapolis-Milwaukee melee in the Association will be talked of by fans of the two circuits for several years to come as the sort of windup they like to see.

Neither class AA race would have been leaders. The Newark club is owned by the Brooklyn National Leaguers, who snatched away Pitcher Aitchison; Catcher McCarty and Outfielder Collins. The White Sox did the most damage to Milwaukee by purchasing Outfielder Larry Chappell and Infielder Blackburn, and the Detroit Tigers also out in by taking Pitcher Ralph Comstock.

The coming world tour of the Giants and White Sox will be the third trip of professional baseball teams to land across the seas. The first was that of the Boston and Philadelphia teams of the National League under A. G. Spalding in 1874, when only the British Isles were visited. The first trip around the world also was under Spalding, in 1888, when he took a team made up of American Association players and the Chicago club of the National League. This team actually circled the globe, leaving San Francisco 'board ship and returning by way of England. The party was gone until the following spring, and the start of the 1889 baseball season was postponed until they arrived back home.

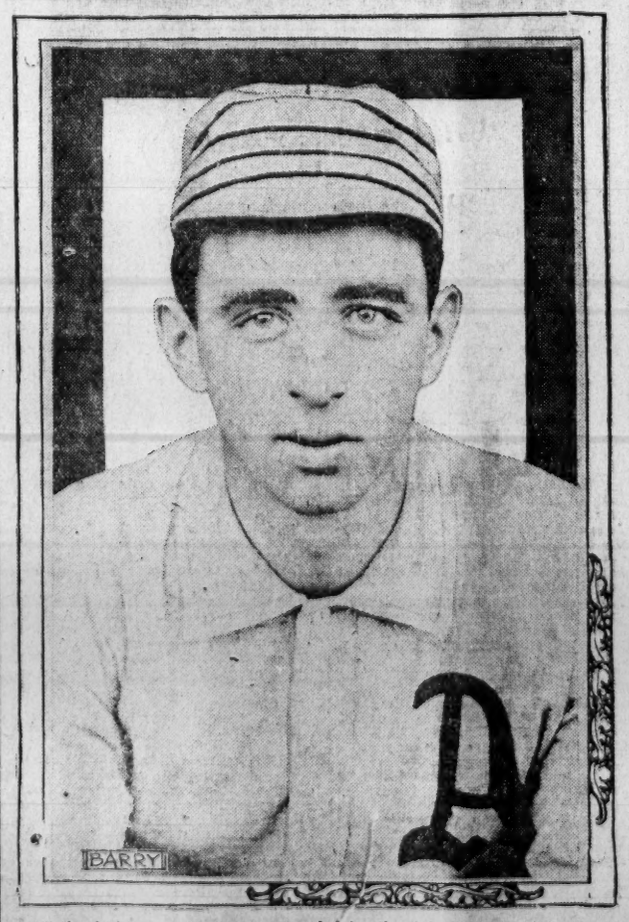
The first football game of any consequences was scheduled for yesterday in the battle of the Indians against Albright, at Carlisle. Of course the result was a foregone conclusion—an overwhelming victory for the redskins—but the event is of interest nevertheless, aside from its being the first real game of the year, for all were keen to see how Glenn Warner lined up his braves with Jim Thorp missing. Next Wednesday the Cornell and Yale elevens make their debuts, the former against Ursinus at Ithaca and the latter against Wesleyan at New Haven. Big teams that make their debut next Saturday are Harvard, Princeton, Army, Brown, Darmouth, Pennsylvania, Minnesota, Lehigh and Georgetown.

This Battling Levinsky, who used to fight under the name of Barney Williams when he was a Philadelphia, begins to look like a real white hope. He more than held his own against Eddie McGoorty in New York and showed cleverness of the Corbett style, though of course not of the same degree. The Hebrew is only twenty-two years old and has been putting on weight rapidly. He weighed only 160 against McGoorty, but that was a gain over his former poundage and his manager, Dan Morgan, says he expects the youngster to tip twenty pounds more a year hence. Though outweighed by them by wide margins, he has disposed of Porky Flynn, Al Kubiak and One Round Davis on points.

Won Yesterday's Game From Tigers.



A timely hit was all that was needed by the Athletics to put two runs across in the eighth inning yesterday and win the game from the Detroit Tigers. Jack Barry was the man who carried the proper brand in stock, and his two-base clout drove in the necessary markers.

COBB VS. JACKSON

Tris Speaker was given another day of rest yesterday and Ty Cobb gained another point in his race for batting championship. A four and two performance for the day gave Tyrus an average of .381, and Jackson, on a three to one shot, stood stationary for the week-end.

THE LEADING SWATTERS

The Ten Leading Big Stick Men in Each League for the Week Ending Last Thursday.

The week ending last Thursday night shows Ty Cobb with a net gain of two points, while Jackson shows a two-point loss. Speaker, for third, showed a gain of three points for the week. Eddie Collins moved up from fifth to fourth place, vice Hendrickson, of Boston, Lajoie, McInnis and Baker, following in order, same as last week.

The National honor roll shows McDonald and Walsh followed by Jake Daubert, who forged ahead and broke the tie with Cravath, now leading him by a matter of five points for real first position.

A shortening of the .300 list is perceptible, as the season reaches an end, only 14 American batters now showing this standing, while 16 in the National League are credited with .300 or better, whereas at the early stages of the game, and up to two months ago, the list ran well up in the twenties in each league.

DEVIN APPOINTED JUDGE

Governor Names Oxford Lawyer to Succeed Judge Foushee—Wilmington Headquarters for Borden Milk Co.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 20.—W. A. Devin, of Oxford, was commissioned today by Governor Craig as Superior Court judge in the 10th Judicial District to succeed Judge H. A. Foushee, of Durham, resigned on account of poor health. Judge Devin will convene his first court in Durham county Monday.

Judge Devin is about 35 years old, a member of the law firm of Graham & Devin, Oxford; has served two terms in the Legislature, being now chairman of important committees and a member of the special Legislature Commission on Constitutional amendments. His acceptance of the judgeship necessitates his resignation from the Legislature and there is not time for the election of a successor for the impending special session. He has been prominently mentioned as a possible successor to Hon. George W. Connor, as Speaker of the House.

N. Walters died suddenly of heart failure this afternoon, aged 62 years. He for many years conducted the principal merchant tailoring business here, and leaves considerable estate. Mrs. Walters and two children survive.

A. & M. College Matters.

The committees from the State Board of Agriculture and the A. & M. College to bring about complete co-operation and elimination of duplication in the work of the college and of the department received reports in an annual meeting just held here and declare that this co-operation and elimination of duplication is now working perfectly and large sums of money are being saved the State as a result. The joint committee will continue its work. Members for the Department of Agriculture are R. L. Woodard, Bayboro; R. W. Scott, Alamance; A. T. McCallum, Red Springs; C. C. Wright, Wilkes. For the college there are C. W. Gold, Greensboro; W. H. Ragan, High Point; O. L. Clark, Clarkton; T. T. Thorne, Rocky Mount. Commissioner W. A. Graham and President D. H. Hill made reports that were highly gratifying as did Dr. B. W. Kilgore, who is directly in charge of a large part of the co-operative work.

The joint committee has decided to provide a professor for a chair of Rural Economics at the college for joint work with the college and the Department of Agriculture. The fight for change of location of the "black lands" test farm near Belhaven will not be settled until the December meeting.

Charters were issued today for the Concord Hospital Co., of Concord, capital $20,000 authorized and $1,600 subscribed by P. R. McFadyen, J. W. Wallace and J. A. Patterson for general hospital purposes; and the Wilson Gorge Rock Co., of Newton, capital $10,000 authorized and $1,350 subscribed by W. S. Barfield, C. E. Chosby and others.

The Wilson Cotton Mills Co., of Wilson, filed an amendment to its charter, increasing the capital from $25,000 to $40,000, S. A. Woodard being the president of the corporation.

Wilmington Headquarters.

The Borden's Condensed Milk Sales Co., of New York, filed domestication papers naming Wilmington as the principal office and C. C. Brown agent for this State. The capital of the corporation is $10,000.

Governor Craig said this morning that he will honor the requisition from the Governor of South Carolina for Nick Salesby, the Syrian fruit dealer, of Tarboro, if he does not agree at once to return to the Palmetto State without requisition. He is wanted at Florence, S. C., on the charge of issuing a check for $618 when he had "insufficient funds" to meet it. The check was in 1909 to J. E. Young & Co., of Columbia, for fruit that was shipped to Florence where Salesby is charged with having disposed of it to other Syrians and left the State before his check could be turned down.

CLANDESTINE HORSE RACE.

Farmers Have Quiet Little Affair—Negro Named Flannigan Second.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Kinston, N. C., Sept. 20.—As an evidence of the interest in good stock by the farmers in this section of North Carolina, 1,000 or more people gathered at a secluded spot in Vance township, two miles from the Greene county line, to witness races which were participated in by a score of owners of blooded horses. The event was entirely without advertisement other than by word of mouth, and no preparations had been made. The entries were from all parts of Greene and Lenoir counties, and neither age, weight nor other of the usual conditions were considered.

The extraordinary event was open to all, and several good animals were presented by negroes. Practically all farming operations in the vicinity were stopped, it being impossible to keep hired hands at work during the afternoon when the races were on.

A half mile of the best road in Lenoir county was the course, the judges were reliable planters, and there was absolutely no handicap. Every heat was spirited and good times were recorded. Although a white man had the best entry of the day, a negro with an Irish name, Flannigan, was a close second. The races lasted until sundown, and with no county officers aware of the occasion, it is rumored that considerable money changed hands.

BREAKING GAME LAWS.

Robeson County Hunters Liable to Get in Bad for Killing Birds.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Lumberton, N. C., Sept. 20.—Reports are coming in that some of the hunters in this vicinity have already opened the season by shooting birds, though the law prohibits the killing of birds until November 1st.

An attorney stated to your correspondent today that every violator of the law where evidence could be obtained, would be punished to the full extent, the penalty being $50 fine or 30 days on the roads.

The Recorder's court has been in session nearly all day, nine cases being disposed of. Of the defendants, six are white, one Indian and two negroes. One negro was given 30 days on the roads, while the others were let off with fines and costs.

WHITEVILLE FOR LOWER RATES.

Columbus County Branch of Rate Association Formed.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Whiteville, N. C., Sept. 20.—As a culmination of several efforts to organize a Columbus county branch of the North Carolina Just Freight Rate Association, a very enthusiastic body of citizens gathered themselves here yesterday morning and instituted the organization.

Mr. Hubert Ramsaur, of Fayetteville, organizing secretary for the State, drove through here last week for the purpose of forming the organization but on account of insufficient notice, a show being in town and various other reasons, his work was not completed. However, while he was here a meeting was called and a temporary president of this branch nominated. This meeting was adjourned because of the small number present to meet Thursday night after supper. For various and sundry reasons again after supper no audience could be secured, and Mr. Ramsaur left the next morning for Elizabethtown to organize Bladen county.

The nominated president and a few others interested in this important movement called a meeting for 10 o'clock this morning and very jubilantly succeeded in instituting the organization. The officers elected were Mr. A. F. Powell, president, and Mr. F. E. Little, secretary and treasurer. It is the purpose of this new organization to send 100 or more delegates from this county to Raleigh on September 24th as delegates to the mass meeting to be held in the Raleigh auditorium at 2:30 P. M. on that day. The officers are already at work in an effort to raise $100, the amount assessed against this branch by the State president. The plan to be followed will be to get at least $1 from 100 members over the county. Mr. E. B. Wright, of Boardman, very generously offered to give $10 providing the other $90 is raised. The people in this section are thoroughly convinced that they are paying exorbitant freight rates as compared with other States and are glad to join in the State-wide fight for just freight rates.

Rev. W. W. Morton has removed from Chadbourn and is now living with Mr. E. S. Lewis here. He is pastor of the Presbyterian churches here and at Chadbourn.

The wedding of Alton Rogers to Miss Ruth Waddell at the Columbus Hotel here, attracted some attention yesterday. The groom is the son of Mr. J. F. Rogers, and the bride is the daughter of Mr. J. P. Waddell, both of Fair Bluff, N. C. They were accompanied from Fair Bluff by Mr. Waddell, brother of the bride, and Mr. R. B. Williams. Rev. W. W. Morton, of this place officiated.

The Court House proposition is by no means a settled question in the minds of the people here and all over the county. Petitions have been passed around in parts of the county asking that the new Court House be built in Vineland instead of the present location of the old building, which is thought by some to be a blind movement to hold-up the work on a new building and eventually succeed in dividing the county.

FAYETTEVILLE COTTON MART

Cape Fear City Has Both Water and Cotton and Believes in Its Future—Cumberland Negro Killed—New Lawyers.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Fayetteville, N. C., Sept. 20.—In a recent dispatch from Monroe the claim was made that that town is the biggest cotton market in the State, on the strength of the statement that 15,000 bales of cotton were sold there last year.

Fayetteville has bought just twice that quantity during the same period, according to careful estimates made here. One firm of buyers, who came in to the market late, took 7,000 bales. Unless someone produces bigger figures than these, Fayetteville will claim for herself the premiership among the North Carolina cotton markets.

Already more than $80,000 worth of cotton has been marketed here since the first bale was brought in on the 28th of August. President S. W. Cooper, of the National Bank of Fayetteville, says that $1,560,000 was required to move that part of the cotton crop which was marketed here last season. And just as much is expected this year, yet the local bankers have not asked for a cent of the government crop loan fund. They do not need it.

A. W. Peace, vice president and cashier of the Fourth National Bank, has made inquiries of 100 farmers, and considers himself very conservative in predicting an average crop in this section. If this proves correct, the damage to the crop in other parts of the South should put the value of the staple which will be brought here this year a long way over a million and a half dollars. In fact, if the product continues to bring as good prices as are being paid here now, and as much of it is brought in as came in last year, the amount should be close to two million.

Here freight rates figure where such a fact would not be suspected by the average man. The town that has the best rates can pay the best prices. This is where Fayetteville's advantage shows again. The eastern cities have the water, but they haven't the cotton; some of the Piedmont towns have the cotton but they haven't the water; Fayetteville, situated in the heart of the group of cotton growing counties, has both. If it can hold this God-given advantage, that is, if the railroads can be prevented from fastening on the State an agreement that would take away from Fayetteville its natural and inalienable right to establish itself as a rate-basing point—if this can be done, the Cape Fear city is clearly destined to become far and away the greatest spot cotton market in the Old North State.

George Murphy, the negro chauffeur who was shot and killed by Charles Guth, the millionaire candy manufacturer, in Baltimore Thursday, was a Cumberland county negro, being the son of George Murphy, an excellent old negro of Flea Hill township. Immediately after the tragedy a telegram was sent to Mr. A. E. Rankin here asking him to notify the young negro's father.

Peyton Stringfield and Charles Lee Guy, recently licensed by the Supreme Court, were sworn as lawyers by Judge C. C. Lyon in the Superior Court here. Mr. Stringfield, who is from Pender county, is a brother of D. M. and Joseph Stringfield, of this city, and will become a member of the law firm of Stringfield & Stringfield. Mr. Guy is from Harnett county and will practice in Dunn. Mr. Stringfield was presented to the court by Col. C. W. Broadfoot, and Q. K. Nimocks presented Mr. Guy.

GOOD ROADS MEETING.

State Association to Meet in Raleigh With the Legislature.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 20.—The North Carolina Good Roads Association will hold a special session in Raleigh next Wednesday to receive the report of the committee on resolutions appointed at the State convention in Morehead City, and to take up ways and means to bring to the attention of the General Assembly the question of providing engineering assistance for counties and townships desiring expert aid in road building, and of using the convicts on the public roads instead of hiring them out to railroads and taking in return for their labor, stock in the roads, much of which is alleged to be worthless ,or at best a poor investment. A full attendance of good roads people is expected.

MI-O-NA FIRST AID TO ICK STOMACHS

Distress after eating, belching of gas and undigested food, that lump of lead feeling in the stomach, headache, biliousness and lack of energy, are warning signals. Now—at once—is the time to take precaution and stop this distress.

Mi-o-na Stomach Tablets is the remedy. Get a fifty cent box today. Their action is safe, effective and immediate. Besides surely and quickly stopping the distress, Mi-o-na soothes the irritated walls of the stomach and strengthens the gastric glands so that they pour out their daily supply of digestive materials, causing prompt digestion and assimilation of the food. Then the entire system is properly nourished.

Mi-o-na is not an experiment. It is not a cure-all. It is a scientific remedy recommended for but one thing—out-of-order stomach. Always have Mi-o-na handy at home or traveling.

Mi-o-na is always sold on the money back if not benefited plan. Robt. R. Bellamy and druggists everywhere.

Dancing is "the poetry of motion" but if the tango is not poetic it is by no means prosaic.

We do not care what they do with the currency just so they do not make it harder to get.—Durham Herald.

A patient person may be kept in hot water a long time, but may boil over with indignation when he gets hot in the collar.

The best thing that can be said about a county is that it is progressive. If a county really is progressive it indicates that its people are intelligent and thrifty.

The Corporation Commission yesterday made a reduction in the freight rate on unwashed gravel for building purposes. Good! Now let the commission take up the subject of sand.

If a man is in sympathy with a lot of politicians whose fortunes are cast together, he calls it a coterie. If other politicians are co-operating in the opposition he considers it "the gang."

Those partisans who predicted six cents cotton if Wilson were elected did so because of ignorance of the law of supply and demand. Many prophets don't know what they are talking about in election times.

The fact that Diggs and Caminetti have been given terms in the Federal penitentiary under the "white slave" act, serves to show that a man has to be as good away from home as he is where he is known—or supposed to be known.

Says the Chester (Pa.) Republican: "It is said rich people live longer than poor people. Maybe that's one reason why we are all anxious to get rich." Yes, even the idea of being short nearly kills some of us, but it is strange how we manage to get along.

The whereabouts of one Mrs. Helen Green, wanted as a witness in New York's latest murder sensation, is unknown to the metropolitan detectives. Atlanta should report promptly whether she is there or whether it is likely that she will very soon arrive there.

Huyler, the candy manufacturer, left an estate of $3,000,000. He catered to the sweetheart trade and made most every sporty fellow contribute to his wealth. He invested in Asheville property, which showed that he was a man of good taste and correct judgment.

Says the New York World: "One of life's latest little ironies is the fact that the first arrest under Wisconsin't anti-gossip law was not a woman at a sewing circle but a man in a barroom." Well, it might have been different had the constable been eavesdropping a sewing circle instead of hanging around the barroom.

If Governor Sulzer is innocent of the charges upon which it is sought to impeach him, those who make the charges are guilty of conspiracy. The Governor declares it is a frame-up. If it is, it would seem that he can put up a defense without taking advantage of technicalities. Exoneration secured through technicalities would be a poor sort of vindication for any man.

A Virginia contemporary thinks it a record of shame that the criminal statistics show that 17,411 persons out of a population of 2,060,612 were committed to county and city jails in 1912. That means that one Virginian out of 118 had to be confined for safe keeping, but it is creditable to the other 117 that they were either on their good behavior or happened to see the cop coming.

Huerta boastingly says 100,000 men are ready to rise in defense of Mexico against foreign invasion. It is quite easy for 100,000 men to rise, but getting something to eat and arms with which to fight is something else. Instead of bluff, Huerta should talk business with a Nation that in short order could crush 100,000 of the best trained men in the Republic of Mexico. The United States does not want to have to do that and is doing its best to avoid doing so. Huerta had better help instead of talking in a manner that would mean more ruin for his country.

SAVE THE STATE AND THE RAILROADS.

Wilmington, Fayetteville and Newbern are opposed to any freight rate compromise that ignores water transportation as a factor in basing rates. The Wilmington Chamber of Commerce has very rightly taken a strong position against the most recent proposition of the railroads, and its position should more concern the State as a whole than it does Wilmington, for the reason that the rate fight is a State fight and the port is the State's port and its only dependence for water competition in the future as well as the present.

The Fayetteville Chamber of Commerce also has taken a positive and determined stand against the railroad proposition to relieve the State without doing justice to water points at the same time. Fayetteville is entirely within her rights in opposing action that would rob her of the benefit which the United States government intended to confer upon that inland water point by canalizing the Cape Fear waterway to a minimum navigable depth of eight feet the year round. Acceptance of the railroad proposition by the Legislature at its extra session to begin next Wednesday would mean State approval of the nullification of the government's purpose in spending $500,000 to give such a manufacturing and commercial center as Fayetteville the advantages of water based rates.

That is precisely what would be accomplished by Legislative sanction of the plan of the rail carriers to negative water transportation. There isn't any way to get around that proposition, and we cannot fancy that either Governor Craig or the Just Freight Rate Association will recommend any compromise that would mean State aid to make improvement of the Cape Fear useless.

The State Corporation Commission has recommended acceptance of the compromise, but that is about the extent of the conception of the commission touching a problem which it has been practically helpless and useless in solving heretofore. We can't conceive that the commission could influence the Governor or the Legislature to take a position that would give Congress ground to refuse further appropriations for developing the waterways and harbors in the State of North Carolina.

Legislative acceptance of a compromise that would keep the port of Wilmington bottled up and negative the results of an eight-foot channel to Fayetteville, certainly would mean State approval of the plans and purposes and designs of the transportation powers that do the bottling. The latest proposition of the railways is a concession to the balance of the State but is a reaffirmation of their determination to keep the water points bottled up and sealed up with the consent of the General Assembly. The purpose is so evident and is so smacking of disingeniousness that approval of it would be so stupid on the part of the State that it would appear absurd to even point out to the General Assembly what the effect of its action would be if it agrees with the railroads to deny North Carolina the benefit of water competition.

First and last, Congress has appropriated millions of dollars to improve the port of Wilmington in order to increase the country's commerce. The plain purpose of making a port here was to open up an outlet for the State's production and promote the commerce of the United States. The improvement of the port has caused more than $100,000,000 of commerce and jobbing business to be done in Wilmington and the railroads have been among the chief beneficiaries of the port development that has furnished them with an immense transportation business. It would look like a case of killing the goose that lays the golden egg for the railroads to bottle up a port that is vital to their business and provides them an ocean gateway for Panama canal traffic, if they ever expect a share in it.

We cannot believe that intelligent railroad management and transportation foresight would contemplate such a thing, and the Legislature would be recreant to its trust and even false to the railroads to permit them to bottle up a port that they severely need in their business, especially in the future when the world's commerce is coming right by it on the new route for the shipping of all nations which intend to take advantage of the Panama canal. The railroads themselves are mistaken, especially those which have lines into Wilmington, for it certainly is not a constructive and wise transportation policy that would bottle up or handicap an ocean gateway that means an outlet to the world for the production of their territory.

Governor Craig, the General Assembly and the North Carolina Just Freight Rate Association would be just to North Carolina and just to the railroads in refusing to fall into their misconceived arrangement to handicap or bottle up the water points which are so valuable to them and the State. Anyhow, the State of North Carolina, acting through its Legislature, cannot afford to sanction the railroad policy that would negative the government policy of spending millions of dollars to provide a port for a State that would thwart the waterways policy of Congress by agreeing with the roads to hamper, hedge about, cripple and circumscribe water transportation.

We do not believe for a moment that North Carolina will consent to surrender its right to secure benefits from its ports and waterways. The Legislature must save the State by exercising its constitutional right to pass laws regulating intra-State rates. It would also be saving the railroads from themselves.

We are glad to note that both President Tate of the Just Freight Rate Association, and the Legislative Commission are not disposed to clap their approval on the proposal, as has the Corporation Commission, and in fact will without doubt come out strongly against acceptance of the proposition when they have had time to go over it carefully and fully.

HOW NAVIGATION DEVELOPS.

The Star takes pleasure in complying with a request from its esteemed contemporary, the Houston Chronicle, to take note of an achievement which "exploits in a forcible manner the growing importance of Houston as a distributing point for heavy merchandise." That is the way The Chronicle puts it up to us, but the circumstance not only specializes the advantages of water transportation at Houston, but it is a strong circumstance that magnifies in a general way the commercial uses of the ocean gateways of the entire country. It happened in Houston but it can happen in like manner in any port on the Atlantic, the Pacific, the Gulf or Great Lakes.

In its regular edition of Sunday, September 14th, the Houston Chronicle printed an advertising section of twenty pages for the Pedon Iron & Steel Company, of that city. The Chronicle claims, and we are prepared to concede it, that "those twenty pages made up the largest single commercial advertisement ever carried by a newspaper in the South, so far as obtainable records indicate." That is about the truth of it, for a twenty-page advertisement for one concern is a whopper. It was a powerful piece of publicity, and it illustrates the faith of the advertiser in the most effective and direct means of reaching the public all in a lump. The Chronicle people call our attention to this fact:

"This achievement in publicity is one that exploits in forcible manner the growing importance of Houston as a distributing point for heavy merchandise. The growth of the Pedon company from $7,500 capital to $1,000,000 capital in two decades has been made possible by reason of the freight rates which Houston enjoys by virtue of Buffalo Bayou, now known as The Houston Ship channel."

Surely it is not necessary to invite anybody to stick a coupling pin here so they can think for a moment what being an ocean gateway has done for Houston and the Pedon Iron & Steel Company. The company, located at Houston to get the benefit of water and rail transportation, a doubly economic means of distribution. Houston furnished the adaptibilities and advantages for the iron manufacturers, while the Pedon Iron & Steel Company did the growing and is now doing the blowing.

Houston is entitled to all the fame she can get on account of this incident, and it affords us pleasure to dangle the feather in the cap of The Chronicle. If Houston can secure the development of a once-shallow bayou into an ocean gateway and become not only a great city but an important port, what ought Wilmington to become with such a magnificent waterway as the Cape Fear? Houston is situated many miles back from Galveston, but as the Buffalo Bayou ran up from Galveston Bay to Houston, millions of dollars were spent in utilizing it to make Houston a port with an immense commerce. Houston and her railroads have taken advantage of their opportunity.

WILMINGTON'S GOVERNMENT.

Wilmington's peculiar brand of commission government came in for severe indictment at the hands of the Chamber of Commerce at its meeting Friday afternoon, but not too severe, for Wilmington has never had the real article in commission form. We have the name but not the thing; the shadow, but not the substance. Indeed, we have a weird mixture of the commission form and the old aldermanic form, and it hasn't been a very cheering success. The chamber's recommendation that the old board of audit and finance as a concurrent body so far as city appropriations are concerned, be restored, can but appeal to most citizens who have observed the government of Wilmington for the last three or four years under the so-called commission form.

We can not call our system the commission form, for in the legislation to make it such, local politicians interfered to the extend of still keeping it in politicis by continuing to recognize ward divisions and other features. However, that is neither here nor there, for the form of government has very little to do with it. As The Star has time and again declared, there is more in men than in form. Any form of government is disappointing if it is not wisely and economically administered.

The City Council has to bear the brunt of criticism and of the strictures put upon it by the Chamber of Commerce but to a large extent the citizens of Wilmington are chiefly to blame. They have never taken the individual interest in their government that they should have taken, and so long as citizens do not take interest in their government, that long are they more or less estopped from criticism of the men who happen at any given time to be running things. A free government is what the governed make it. Many of the best citizens of this city have refrained from exercising their civic duty by seeing to it that only capable and experienced men are elected to positions of great responsibility. Their indifference has penalized the city and we are now making a noise when it is almost too late.

The most we can do now is to remedy a situation and that can be done by the co-operation of our best experienced and able business men. Not enough public opinion is expressed in Wilmington and when it does get to the point where it is expressed it partakes of the extreme. We have never believed it was a good idea to abolish the board of audit and finance but since it was done the public affairs of this city require closer scrutiny than ever by its chief citizens and taxpayers. They ought to nip things in the bud and not let affairs drag along without a protest and without offering co-operation in the handling of a difficult administration.

CURRENT COMMENT.

The Wilmington Star says: "The tradition that Diogenes went around with a lantern looking for an honest man indicates that the men in the limelight at that time didn't make any showing that was at all satisfactory to him." It also establishes old Diogenes' claim to the dishonor of being the original muckraker.—Jacksonville Times-Union.

A newcomer to Charlotte declares that he can find plenty of houses to buy, but none for rent. Again is the need of an apartment house emphasized. Among the best paying properties in Charlotte now are the so-called apartment houses which are in reality nothing except city houses. A sure enough apartment house would pay handsomely.—Charlotte Chronicle.

There must be a good many tax dodgers in North Carolina, since quite recently a State official expressed the opinion that if all the property in the State were truly valued, instead of there being the present eight hundred millions of dollars the real sum would be not less than two billions of dollars. So then the State is losing the taxes on a great deal of property and on this calculation is getting it only on four-tenths of the real value.—Raleigh Times.

Meat and other items of the cost of living have been going up, up, up until those who used to buy steaks at 10 and 12 cents a pound marvel at present prices. The moral of the mention of this subject there is to call attention to those who might raise cattle to the staple and increasing prices of all meat products. It necessarily reflects additional value to chickens and eggs and other similar food products which are the first substitutes for beef and pork It seems as though those who raise any kind of meat are going to find an easy market for it anywhere in the United States, and at good prices, too. Therefore, the farmer might well look to the production of more beef and more hogs, and the young lady of the farm might well undertake to produce more chickens and eggs, with the certainty that this will be good profiatble employment. As the grazing area of the United States diminishes, the permanent meat supply diminishes also, but on the old plantations and on almost every farm there is opportunity to raise meat as a side line to the production of cotton, and the cottonseed meal and hull, besides pasturage will help out the farmer to supply the cattle.—Charlotte Observer.

PALMETTO APPOINTMENTS.

End of Long Patronage Fight Between Tillman and Smith.

Washington, Sept. 20.—Francis H. Weston, of Columbia, S. C., has been agreed upon by President Wilson and Attorney General McReynolds to be United States district attorney for the district of South Carolina. Mr. Weston, who is now a State Senator, has been prominent in politics and was strongly endorsed by Senator Smith, of South Carolina.

James L. Sims, of Orangeburg, S. C., has been selected as United States marshal for the same district. He was urged b ySenator Tillman. The two nominations are expected to go to the Senate on Monday.

Thus the administration has brought to an end a long contest between Senators Smith and Tillman for the two principal Federal offices in South Carolina. The selection of a Smith man for United States district attorney and a Tillman supporter for marshal is looked upon by administration officials as a satisfactory solution of the contest.

Senator Tillman had endorsed William Thurmond for the district attorneyship and Department of Justice officials had given favorable reports upon the qualification of both men. It is said that one of the reasons for the selection of Weston was to show in an indirect way that the administration would favor the re-election of Senator Smith, who goes before the primaries next August.

"GETS-IT" Gets Corns Sure as Fate

If You've Had Corns for Months or Years, "GETS-IT" Will Remove Them All In a Few Days.

"Whew! hurts way up to my heart. I've tried almost everything for corns!"

Corn-sufferers, cornless joy is at hand. "GETS-IT" is the only real enemy any corn ever had. Put "GETS-IT" on in 2 seconds, and away they go, shrivel, vanish. No more cotton-rings to make the corn sharper and more bulgy, no more bandages to stop circulation and stick to the stocking, no more salves to turn the flesh raw and make the corn "pull," no more knives or razors with danger of bleeding and blood poisoning.

"I Don't Wonder People Go Crazy-Happy Over 'GETS-IT.' It Gets Every Corn Sure and Quick!"

"GETS-IT" is painless, stops pain, and is absolutely harmless to healthy flesh. Warts and bunions disappear. "GETS-IT" gives immediate relief.

"GETS-IT" is sold at druggists' at 25 cents a bottle, or sent on receipt of price to E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago.

SOME CHANGE OF SETTLEMENT

County Board of Health, City Council and County Commissioners Agree on Some Points in Conference.

Having received from the City Council strong resolutions urging the dissolution of the consolidated health department and equally as strong resolutions from the Board of County Commissioners asking that the present method of carrying on the health work in this city and county be not disturbed, and having an earnest desire to take such action at the special session of the Legislature which convenes this week as will tend to promote efficiency and economy and restore peace and harmony in the community, Senator Marsden Bellamy and Representative Woodus Kellum requested a joint conference of the County Board of Health, City Council and Board of County Commissioners in the hope that after a full and free discussion of the entire situation some solution would be found that would be satisfactory to all concerned.

This conference was held yesterday afternoon in the Court House and was a very satisfactory one, though there are yet several points to be settled. One fact stood out pre-eminent and that was that the members of the three bodies who were present are desirous of ending this health controversy so that the time spent in wrangling over the various questions, some of little consequence, that arise from time to time, may be utilized in actual health work. A disposition to make concessions was shown by representatives of each body. Apparently they are about as tired of the squabble as the general public, and it appears that they are nearer together now than at any time since the beginning of the controversy.

The meeting lasted for two hours and fifteen minutes and the whole situation was gone into quite thoroughly. Present were Mayor P. Q. Moore, who was made chairman; Drs. Chas. P. Bolles and J. B. Cranmer, and Prof. Washington Catlett, members of the Board of Health; Dr. John Thames, assistant superintendent of health, and clerk of the Board of Health; Councilmen Loughlin and Merritt and Capt. Thos. D. Meares, city clerk and treasurer; Messrs. Yopp, Moore and McGirt, members of the Board of County Commissioners. On motion of Woodus Kellum, Esq., Mayor Moore was elected chairman, and Mr. Kellum was asked to state the purpose of the meeting, which was as outlined above. The conference entered immediately into a discussion of the question.

Tentatively Agreed Upon.

Several points were tentatively settled. Among these were:

That the consolidated health department will not be dissolved.

That the formation of the Board of Health is to remain as at present, composed of the Mayor of the City of Wilmington, chairman of the Board of County Commissioners, the county superintendent of public instruction, and two physicians, who are elected by the other members.

That the superintendent of health for the county and city is to continue to be elected by the County Board of Health. His assistants in the department will also be elected by the Board of Health. The question of who shall have the power to fix the salaries, which is said to be the real bone of contention, is still open. The question is whether the Council and Commissioners are to pass upon the budget as a whole or will have the right to cut the items specifically.

That all expenses in the maintenance of sanitary and health conditions, such as removal of garbage, scavenging, cleaning streets, proper water supply and sewerage, shall be under the separate control and at the separate expense of the city and county in accordance with the territorial limits of same, the incinerator to be under the management of the city under conditions of maintenance as heretofore agreed upon. It was also the sense of the meeting that the purchase of disinfectants, employment of sanitary police shall be borne in like manner. This leaves only the adminstration functions of the health department to be borne jointly by the city and county and gets back to the original proposition of Mayor Moore as advanced at one of the first meetings of the board in May.

That the Board of Health shall make rules and regulations for the maintenance of proper sanitary health conditions in the city and county, and shall require the execution of such rules and compliance with the same by the respective governing bodies of the county and city.

Another question that is yet to be settled is whether or not there will be a re-adjustment in the proportion the city and county is to pay for the administration work. At present the city pays four-fifths and the county one-fifth. There is a likelihood that the county will agree to pay one-fourth of the cost of the administration work, now that the other features of the work are not to be pro rated.

So that if the tentative agreement of yesterday is carried out there are remaining but two questions to be settled, namely: First, Whether the Council and Commissioners or the County Board of Health shall have the say-so in fixing the salaries; second, the amount the county will agree to pay for administration work under the re-adjustment.

Suggestions Not Favored.

Members of the City Council held a conference a few days ago with Senator Bellamy and Representative Kellum and out of the discussion at that time was evolved some suggestions which were placed before the joint conference yesterday, some of which are included in the points on which tentative agreement was reached and outlined above. There were some, however, that failed to meet the approval of the joint conference. In fact, not all the suggestions met the approval of the Council, but were reduced to writing so that those trying to find a solution of the entire matter would have something tangible on which to work. The first two suggestions placed before the meeting yesterday were as follows:

"The Board of Health for the city and the county jointly to be composed of seven members, the Mayor and the chairman of the County Commissioners to be ex-officio, the other five to be elected by a joint meeting of the County Commissioners and the City Council, three of them to be physicians in good standing.

"The superintendent of health for the county and city to be elevated at a joint meeting of the City Council and the County Commissioners, and his salary and that of such subordinates as the combined bodies may determine to be necessary, shall be fixed by the joint meeting."

The last suggestion pleased not at all and the conference was quick in settling upon the plan for the superintendent and his subordinates being elected by the County Board of Health, while the salary question, as stated, is left open.

With regard to the first suggestion a majority of the members of the joint conference were against it from the beginning, but some favored it. However, they did not press their point after they found the opposition to it was so strong. The impression was gathered that Senator Bellamy and Representative Kellum rather favor the idea of forming the Board of Health as outlined in suggestion No. 1. They stated that it was in accordance with the pain adopted in Durham county, which is the only other county in the State which has tried the consolidation of the city and county health departments. It has worked well there, Senator Bellamy said. The principal argument in favor of the plan is that the members of the Board of Health will then be selected by men who are directly responsible to the people, men who were elected by the people.

At a stage in the discussion when it appeared that a majority of the conference might go on record as being in favor of a dissolution of the consolidated health department, Dr. Chas. P. Bolles arose and made a few remarks, stating that he did so not as a member of the Board of Health but as a member of the New Hanover Medical Society.

"I remember," he said, "that at nearly every meeting of the New Hanover Medical Society for years the idea of consolidating the city and county health departments was agitated. The society thought the health work as then carried on in the county and city was a farce. The county superintendent of health was only expected to visit the county institutions and treat the indigent sick of the county. The city superintendent of health was looked upon merely as the chief of the scavenging department and that all there was for him to do except treat a few indigent sick in the city.

"The men in the medical society who were loudest in the advocacy of the consolidation, the men who brought Dr. Rankin, secretary of the State Board of Health, here to advise with them on the advisability of taking this step, these men who stood first and foremost in the fight for a consolidation and the placing of the health work on a different basis, these men, I repeat, are the ones who are now dodging about behind the scenes doing all in their power, trying to move heaven and earth, to change the plan simply because they could not manage everything. Dr. Nesbitt is the bone of contention and it is all because he has done something."

MADE TOUR OF INSPECTION

Major H. W. Stickle Found Rapid Progress Being Made in Recoving from Effects of Recent Storm.

Major H. W. Stickle, in charge of the United States Engineer office of this city, returned Friday from a tour of inspection of the northern section of this district which includes all of North Carolina. Monday he held a hearing at Enfield, in Halifax county, regarding the construction of several draw bridges across Fishing creek which lies between Edgecombe and Halifax counties. The following day he inspected the dredging work now being done in the Tar river, and found that good progress is being made. It has been necessary to remove less material and fewer stumps from the channel of the river than had at first been estimated.

The next point visited by Major Stickle was Washington, where he found work practically at a standstill owing to the recent storm which did great damage not only to private property but also to the government barges, tugs and dredges. Major Stickle stated yesterday that on Wednesday, the day that he was in Washington, the dredge Reliance which was sunk was floated, and a scow which had been carried by the high water out into the woods was brought back to the river.

A government scow was carried a half mile from the Norfolk Southern bridge out into the Chocowinity swamp. Two tugs were sunk also. The draw span of the county bridge was sunk in the channel of the river. Work on the bridge is now being pushed, and it is hoped to have the draw bridge in place by October 1st.

Within ten days following the storm the Norfolk Southern and the Atlantic Coast Line had their bridges in place. The wharves, storehouses and lumber yards along the river front, Major Stickle stated, were greatly damaged, many of them being washed away but the work of cleaning up and repairing is progressing rapidly, and within a short time will be finished.

Leaving Wilmington Wednesday night Major Stickle went over to Cape Lookout in connection with the construction of the break water at that point. He found that the storm had changed the outlines of the sand spit considerably from what had been obtained in the government survey, but not enough to modify the plans for the work.

LETTER TO MAYOR MOORE.

Trades Council Endorse Views Expressed in Labor Day Speech.

The following letter was yesterday sent to Mayor Moore by the Wilmington Trades Council through its secretary, Mr. J. A. Gillerlain:

"Hon. P. Q. Moore, Mayor, Wilmington, N. C.

"Sir: At a meeting of the Wilmington Trades Council following the Labor Day celebration at Wrightsville Beach, it was the unanimous expression of all the members in attendance that the Council tender you a vote of thanks which the writer has the pleasure of recording.

"We wish to thank you for your views on the child labor and public school questions. The fact is, Mr. Mayor, that the points brought out in your Labor Day speech exactly coincide with the views of our great Captain, Samuel W. Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor. We were highly gratified, not to say delighted, to hear you give and define the reasons why labor and capital should be bound together, and how they must get closer and closer together by the evolution of thought, feeling and purposes through the common brotherhood of man.

"We have the honor to remain,

"Very respectfully,

"L. B. JONES, Gen. Chairman.

Crate of Guavas Shipped Here.

Mr. and Mrs. James Howard received this week from Mr. D. A. Morrison, of Jacksonville, Fla., a crate of guavas, a tropical fruit. This is perhaps the first crate of this fruit received in the State as it is not usually gathered so early in the season. It is mildly acid and about the size of an apple. It is much used where found in quantities in making jellies and preserves.

WILMINGTON STAR BUYS HOME

Property on Chesnut Street, Near Front, Purchased Yesterday as Home for the State's Oldest Daily—Equipment.

The Wilmington Star Company, owners and publishers of The Morning Star newspaper and owners of The Star job printing office, yesterday through its board of directors, at a special meeting called for that purpose, purchased from the Murchison estate the valuable property on Chesnut, near Front street, occupied for the past several years by the Southern Express Company, the building to be remodeled and made suitable for a permanent home for the State's oldest daily newspaper and printing business.

The consideration was in the neighborhood of $15,000 and with the improvements contemplated the property will furnish the paper with as commodious and as complete a newspaper home as there is in the State.

The property fronts 25 feet on Chesnut street and runs back into the block 128 feet, with an easement over alleys adjoining on the west, on the north and to the east of the property. It is situated almost immediately across the street, from the Chesnut street entrance to the postoffice and overlooks the beautiful lawn known as the "postoffice square." The building at present on the premises was constructed only a few years ago and lends itself admirably to the improvements necessary to a first-class, modern, newspaper office. It is two-stories in height, white press-brick front and is substantially constructed, well lighted and ventilated and provided with modern arrangements for heating. The purchasers feel that there is no more eligible site in the city for its purposes.

The purchase of the property was through a committee appointed at the last annual meeting of the stockholders and approval yesterday of the board of directors. As soon as the property is put in shape the building will be occupied, simultaneously with the erection therein of a modern newspaper press to take care of the increasing business of the company and in line with its policy of ultimately providing Wilmington with a modern, up-to-date newspaper, second to none in the State. This will entail an outlay of upwards of $30,000, but the owners of the paper have confidence in the future of the city and its willingness to support an up-to-date newspaper and feel no hesitancy in making this outlay.

It will be several months before the change of quarters can be made, but now that the paper is in possession of a permanent home of its own it can take hope and go forward.

Capt. C. S. Ridley, in Charge of Canalization Project of Upper Cape Fear, Gives Interesting History of Work.

Capt. C. S. Ridley, local commander in charge of the canalization project of the upper Cape Fear, under the general supervision of Major H. W. Stickle, was in the city yesterday on business with the United States Engineer office. Captain Ridley has had charge of the work since November, 1912, coming here from Fort Leavenworth, Kansas. He graduated in 1905 at West Point with honors, and has since seen service in the Philippines. At the request of The Star he prepared the following interesting and instructive outline of the work that is being done:

Two Locks and Dams.

"The present project for the improvement of the Cape Fear river was adopted by Congress in the river and harbor act of June 25th, 1910. This project contemplates an improvement by canalization and dredging to obtain a navigable depth of water between Wilmington and Fayetteville of eight feet. To accomplish this, it is proposed to put in two locks and two dams. The first lock and dam, known as Lock and Dam No. 1, is now under construction at King's Bluff, 39 miles above Wilmington, and the second Lock and Dam No. 2, is to be located at Brown's Landing, near Elizabethtown, 72 miles above Wilmington. The eight-foot channel between Wilmington and King's Bluff has already been obtained by dredging and it is only necessary now to maintain it.

"The lock at King's Bluff when completed, will be of concrete with a pile foundation, and with steel mitering gates. It will be about 294 feet long over all with a maximum width at the base of about 84 feet. The walls will be 28 feet high and chamber will take vessels about 200 feet long and 40 feet wide. The dam will be of the timber crib type filled with stone with sheet piling above and below. It will be over 275 feet long and 50 feet wide and will raise the water eight feet above that in the lower part of the river at extreme low water. The abutment for the dam on the side of the river opposite the lock will be reinforced concrete pile construction and will have the same height as the lock walls.

"As the dam is low in comparison with the river banks it will be submerged and its effect as an obstruction in the river will disappear by the time the river rises to the top of the bank, so that the area of land covered by water during flood times will be practically the same after the dam is put in as it is now. As the lock walls are much higher than the dam, vessels may use the lock during a considerable rise in the river and when the river drowns out the lock there will be no fall over the dam and vessels may pass directly over it.

Cofferdam Nearly Completed.

Up to the present time the cofferdam for the lock has been about 95 per cent. completed. This cofferdam is constructed of steel sheet interlocking piling made by the Lackawanna Steel Company and is of the same general type as was used in the cofferdam for raising the battleship 'Maine.' The piling are 45 feet long and were driven through about 23 to 28 feet of compact sand and thin layers of rock. This piling is anchored back by heavy steel wire cables to pile anchorages 52 feet from the wall. In addition to the above work on the cofferdam the dredging inside of the cofferdam and o fthe approaches has been completed. This dredging involved the removal of 83,000 yards of material. Inside the cofferdam a level bottom was secured about 18 feet below low water.

Driving of the foundation piles is now in progress and this will require the driving of 1,850 piles with a penetration of about 23 feet. When this is completed, concrete will be deposited under water around the heads of the piles, the cofferdam will be pumped out and the lock walls built in the dry. Work on the abutment will be started shortly and carried on simultaneously with the construction of the lock and as soon as these are completed the dam will be built in place.

"The land at the site for Lock and Dam No. 2 has been secured and work will be started there during the first part of next year. The same general type of construction will be used there as used at King's Bluff. Here, however, the dam will raise the water 12 feet above the level of the water between King's Bluff and Brown's Landing, thus requiring heavier construction throughout.

Advantages Are Obvious.

"The advantages to be derived from this improvement are obvious and are those which would naturally result from certain all-the-year-round navigation with eight feet navigable depth. It will benefit the cities of Wilmington and Fayetteville at the two ends of the improved channel in a commercial way, acting as it does as a steady and increasing feeder to their business activities. In addition to this, not the least important result will be that this stream with its cheap transportation facilities close at hand will act as a constant incentive to the development of the agricultural resources of the country through which it flows."

SOROSIS CORNER.

More and more as the years roll by are the representative women of the country interesting themselves in local and national questions of practical importance, and the frivolous, carefree society butterfly of the past is fast giving place to serious, earnestly-striving citizens who feel their responsibility in social, civic and industrial reforms. Foremost among them is Mrs. W. J. Bryan, wife of our illustrious Secretary of State. Mrs. Bryan feels sympathetic interest in the intellectual growth of the women of the country and rejoices in their progress along the lines indicated. Twenty-five years ago she managed to organize Sorosis in Lincoln, Neb., which has been a most successful organization. She has interested herself in the work of the Women's Club in Lincoln, which now has a membership of 1,200 and has been responsible for many reforms and improvements in the city and environs. She also is one of the sustaining members of the Y. W. C. A. of that city and while she is doubly qualified to identify herself with the D. A. R. she has never proceeded along that line. She is a firm believer in higher education for girls provided they have mental endowment and ambition to make it worth while rather than merely to satisfy the ambition of their parents. The frivolous side of society has never appealed to her as her mind has been too fully occupied with the study of serious matters, including even law. She is greatly interested in philanthropic work along civic lines and is a firm believer in the future of woman's clubs throughout the land.

LOCAL DOTS.

—Mr. J. V. Fergus, formerly with the Atlantic Coast Line, has accepted a position with the L. W. Moore Real Estate Agency.

—The steamer City of Fayetteville arrived yesterday, after spending nearly a week on the sand up the river, bringing over 200 bales of cotton.

—George Davis, colored, who was arrested several days ago for vagrancy, had a hearing yesterday before Justice Harriss, and was discharged.

—John Rollins, colored, tried to shoot another negro last night, but the pistol was snatched out of his hand. He was arrested by Officer Frank George, and placed in the city prison.

—The new Wilmington Council of Juniors will meet tomorrow night in the Odd Fellows' hall instead of Tuesday night, as announced, the committee on securing a hall finding that it could not get the Odd Fellows' quarters Tuesday night.

—J. Felton Head, Esq., as counsel for E. W. Fuhr and W. B. Grice; of Newberlin, yesterday brought suit in Justice Harriss' court against the Germania Manufacturing Company for a small amount it is claimed to be due for logs sold and delivered. The hearing is set for Wednesday.

—Chairman H. C. McQueen, of the banking and currency committee of the Chamber of Commerce, has called a meeting of his committee for Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce. It is not stated in the call for what purpose the meeting will be held.

—Mr. Moses Horne, of this city, showed a Star man yesterday a number of cotton stalks from his brother's farm in Onslow county, which were completely dead from the effects of a hail storm the first of August. He states that his brother has plowed up his crop as it is practically worthless on account of the hail damage.

—Contracts were signed yesterday whereby Mr. J. G. Kuhlken agrees to sell to the County Board of Education the property at corner of Sixth and Harnett streets, to be used as a site for a school building. The amount to be paid is $9,000. The deal was engineed through the real estate firm of Watson & Applewhite. The actual transfer of the property is not to take place until Spring.

—Deeds were filed for record yesterday as follows: R. F. Warren and wife to A. K. Moore, for $100 and other considerations, lot on south side of Dawson street, 72 feet east of Front, 33x66 feet in size; J. S. Williams and wife to Edgar D. Williams and wife, for $10 and other considerations, two tracts on the west side of the Cape Fear river, in Wilmington, adjoining lands formerly owned by Alexander Oldham.

PERSONAL PARAGRAPHS.

—Dr. J. T. Hoggard, of Atkinson, was in the city yesterday, stopping at The Orton.

—Mr. L. W. Davis left last night for a short vacation which he will spend in Northern cities. While away he will purchase Spring clothing for his wholesale trade.

—Mr. Stone Pulliam, a clever young Wilmingtonian, has taken a position in the insurance offices of Messrs. J. H. Boatwright & Son, succeeding Mr. Lee Pender, resigned to take a position with the Swift Fertilizer Works. Both young men have the best wishes of a host of friends for success in their new positions.

—The friends of Capt. J. J. Crosswell, of Fayetteville, route agent of the Southern Express Company, were glad to welcome him in the city yesterday after an absence since January when he was badly injured in an automobile accident. He suffered a compound fracture of his left leg, and has had to be in the hospital for several months. He still walks with a crutch, but hopes to be able to resume his duties October 1st.

Negroes Have Cutting Scrape.

Fred Dunn, colored, was slashed from ear to mouth with a pocke knife by Randolph Sanders, colored, last night, about 11 o'clock in a confectionery shop, corner Fourth and Brunswick streets. The knife penetrated an artery and he came near bleeding to death, but Dr. Houston Moore happened to be nearby, and sewed up the cut. Sanders was arrested by Officer Hall and locked up.

An Inspection of Our Ready-to-Wear Garments Convinces You as to the Correct Styles for This Season

Only that which is conceded by the foremost designers to be absolutely correct are shown here.

The Suits for Fall have never been shown in greater variety of fabrics, the colorings of which are most exquisite. Dainty trimmings of bright colors add to the effect greatly.

Style in clothes is a very interesting study, and styles this season have never been so varied as they are now. The ultra stylish garments are stunningly beautiful, but, as a rule, they are not practical for real genuine service.

Polvogt's Outer Garments have been selected for their practical styles and their service-giving features.

Our stocks are now rounding into shape providing a wide latitude for satisfactory selections. Descriptions of each style is inadequate. Seeing the garments with your own eyes will be the most delightful way of knowing what will be worn this Fall.

You can depend on correct styles here.

NOT ALL FAVOR NEW BOARD.

Likely to be Opposition to Proposal of the Chamber of Commerce.

The principal subject of conversation in the city yesterday was the action of the Chamber of Commerce in special session Friday afternoon in passing a resolution pronouncing the commission form of government in Wilmington a failure and urging upon the county's representatives in the Legislature to create a second chamber with limited concurrent powers to act as a sort of check on the Council.

Judging from the talk on the streets the community is by no means unanimous on the proposition. There are a great many who fail to see the need at this time of a second board and they will line up in opposition. It is argued by them that at this period in the administration a checking board could not be of any benefit. On the other hand there are many who thoroughly agree with the idea expressed in the resolution adopted by the Chamber of Commerce and will be found giving support to the proposal for a second chamber in the municipal government.

President Corbett, of the Chamber of Commerce, yesterday announced the committee authorized at Friday's meeting to meet and draft plans for the creation of the new municipal body, determine upon what they consider the best method of selecting the members, etc., and report to an early meeting of the Chamber. The special committee is composed of Messrs. J. Allan Taylor, B. Solomon, Wm. Gilchrist, W. H. Sprunt and President Corbett, of the Chamber. The committee will hold a meeting Monday at an hour to be determined later and it is expected that it will be ready to report to the Chamber by Tuesday.

"LITTLE BOY BLUE."

Romantic Scottish Operetta Abounds in Music and Costumes.

Two performances of "Little Boy Blue" were given at the Academy of Music yesterday, one in the afternoon and again at night. The public had been told that they might expect something first-class in the way of a musical comedy built on new lines, and they were not disappointed. As the name suggests the play abounds in Scottish music and costumes though it is linked up in a unique way with gay "Paree." This effort is a little strained but with its many pleasing features one can easily forget it.

The music was not especially striking though the Scottish medley in the second act with the bag pipes and other features peculiar to the land of Burns was well worth while, and was especially pleasing to the audience. The scene of the first act is in the Bal Tabarin in Paris, and in the last two acts in Scotland. The scenery was well built and especially pretty.

MASON AGAIN ARRESTED.

Will Have Hearing on Embezzlement Charge Tuesday Before Recorder.

Herbert Mason, the young white man, charged by his former employer, Mr. M. D. Bright, with the embezzlement of $15, was again arrested yesterday before Justice Harriss nae discharged him because he failed to find probable cause after having heard the evidence in the trial Friday afternoon. He was recognized by the Recorder for his appearance Tuesday when he will again be tried.

The State claims that it will be able to introduce new evidence in the case at the trial Tuesday. While the proceedings in this case are a little out of the ordinary, it appears that they are entirely legal. Neither Justice Harriss nor the Recorder has final jurisdiction in cases where embezzlement is charged. If either one should find from the evidence lack of probable cause they can discharge the defendant, but on the other hand, if probable cause is found the case would have to be sent to Superior Court for final settlement.

If a defendant in a case of embezzlement is discharged by a magistrate or the Recorder for lack of probable cause the grand jury would still have the right to bring in another bill of indictment if it saw fit. After having been tried and discharged in a court of final jurisdiction a defendant could not be tried again on the same charge. These things are mentioned merely because it is little out of the ordinary for a person to be indicted a second time before the Recorder or a magistrate for an offense after having been discharged by the magistrate before the first indictment was brought.

COMMITTEE TO RALEIGH.

Twenty Citizens Will Go There in Regard to Rate Question.

Wilmington will be represented in Raleigh Wednesday, when the freight rate situation comes up for adjustment, by at least 20 leading citizens. There may be others to attend. They will go as representatives of the Chamber of Commerce and the Just Freight Rate Association. The party will leave Wilmington Tuesday evening and returning will leave Raleigh Wednesday night. Arrangements have been made for a special Pullman if as many as 20 persons will go. Those who have been named as the committee are J. Allan Taylor, Isadore Bear, E. T. Taylor, M. J. Corbett, H. Lacy Hunt, Louis E. Hall, R. A. Parsley, W. E. Perdew, R. R. Stone, Woodus Kellum, W. A. French, Jr., John H. Brown, J. O. Carr, M. S. Willard, J. VanB. Metts, M. W. Jacobi, J. G. McCormick, H. E. Boney, ex-Mayor Wm. E. Springer and C. C. Covington.

The new silks have arrived and they are beauties. The assortment is splendid. You should see this selection if you are interested in silks. Rehder's, Fourth street bridge.

"CHRIST'S SECOND COMING."

Subject of Indianapolis Speaker at the Grand Tonight.

Seven hundred and fifty tons of white paper are used daily in New York City alone. That means that some 3,500 acres of forest are cut down each day to print the newspapers, magazines and periodicals that are sent broadcast every hour during the 24, says the Paper Trade Journal. And this is but a small percentage of the total consumption in the United States.

With one city requiring the stripping of 3,500 acres, how long can we expect the paper supply to last? Dr. F. A. Hall, of Indianapolis, gives a free Bible lecture on "Christ's Second Coming" Sunday, at 8 P. M. in the Grand Theatre, raises this question in connection with the thought that the present order of things cannot endure much longer. Every one today is looking for great changes. Few, however, are prepared to say just what we are to expect. Evangelist Hall claims that the Bible does not leave us in darkness on this important subject, and he expects to deal with the question fully. His lecture is fere to all, and no collections are solicited nor will they be accepted.

SHOW THEIR APPRECIATION.

Capt. Harper Presented With Fine Pair of Marine Glasses Yesterday.

As a mark of their appreciation of the splendid assistance rendered by Capt. J. W. Harper, owner and master of the steamer Wilmington in making the past Summer such a great success at Carolina Beach, the officers of the New Hanover Transit Co., Messrs. A. W. Pate, president, and J. J. Loughlin, secretary and treasurer, yesterday gave him a fine pair of marine glasses. The presentation was made on board the Wilmington by Mr. J. J. Loughlin, who congratulated Capt. Harper for the efficient service he had given the public the past Summer.

There were a larger number of visitors at the beach than ever before in its history in one season. By reason of Capt. Harper's careful handling of the thousands of visitors there was not even a sign of an accident, not so much as a finger being smashed. Mr. Loughlin said that it was indeed a pleasure to perform his duty on this occasion. Capt. Harper didn't say much, but as one of the audience expressed it "you should have seen him smile."

Editor Lucas Leaves Chronicle.

Friends in Wilmington of Mr. John Paul Lucas, of Charlotte, will be interested in the following from yesterday's Charlotte Observer: "Mr. J. Paul Lucas, who for nearly a year has been the editor of the Evening Chronicle, has resigned his position to give his entire attention to his business interests. With the exception of about two years spent as editor of the Winston-Salem Journal, Mr. Lucas has been connected with the staff of The Observer and The Chronicle for nearly a dozen years, and is one of the best equipped newspaper men in the State. He is highly popular both within and without the profession. Mr. Julian S. Miller, until now city editor of The Chronicle, has succeeded Mr. Lucas, and has in turn been succeeded by Mr. W. N. Keener, o recent addition to the staff of that paper."

Interment at Old Home.

The body of Mrs. Mamie Stokely, whose death occurred Friday night at Harper's Sanitarium, accompanied by her son, Mr. M. C. Stokely, was taken to her old home at Crawford, Ga., on the 3:05 train yesterday afternoon. The funeral will be held at that place.

COTTON MARKET STILL ACTIVE

Prices Made New High Record for the Season on General Buying—Texas Exporters Laying Down on Contracts.

New York, Sept. 20.—The cotton market was active and more or less excited during the day's trading with prices making new high records for the season on general buying. December contracts sold up to 13.46, or six points above the previous best level and approximately $4 per bale above the low figures of last week.

There was naturally heavy realizing on this advance to practically the 13 1-2 cent level, but offerings were well absorbed and the close was steady at a net advance of 12 to 16 points. There was a big demand for the opening, owing to higher Liverpool cables, unfavorable weather in the South, continued poor crop accounts, and reports that Texas exporters were laying down on some of their contracts for forward shipment. Private advices attributed the advance in Liverpool to covering against these developments in the Southwest and the local market started steady at an advance of 2 to 8 points. Sold-out longs appeared to be replacing part of their cotton, while there was covering by recent sellers for a reaction, fresh bull support, and further trade buying. Profit-taking caused some irregularity, but the general tendency of the market was upward until active months showed net gains of from 15 to 22 points. Closing prices were 7 or 8 points off from the best, under realizing with the late months relatively firm.

The forecast pointed to continued wet weather in the Eastern belt which has been sending in more numerous reports of crop damage recently, while the forecast was for lower temperatures west of the river, and New Orleans wires claimed that storm warnings had been ordered for the Texas coast. The reports from Liverpool that Texas shippers had defaulted on some of their export engagements, attracted a good deal of attention. Such reports are quite frequently in evidence during seasons of rapidly advancing prices, but are generally regarded as indicating either a short yield or difficulty in securing required grades. London cables reported a better prospect for the settlement of labor troubles, and reviews of the local dry goods market, indicating a continued active demand doubtless helped the advance.

WEEKLY FINANCIAL REVIEW

Problem of Money Market Played Important Part in Speculative Situation—Sentiment Over Future Optimistic.

New York, Sept. 20.—The problem of the money market played an important part in the speculative situation this week, and was an effective restraining influence. The sharp preceding rise in stocks led to extensive realizing, another influence which tended to restrict further activity on the long side. Sentiment over the future remained optimistic.

The hardening tendency of money rates, in spite of the scaling down of stock market loans that was in progress witnessed to the working of inroads on banking resources. The approaching money settlements in Berlin are being prepared for by resort by the London gold market. New York clearing house banks keep up their percentage of reserves, but only by shifting loans to the trust companies, and by calling on nearby money centers for cash.

The August trade statement confirmed the tendency of recent months towards expansion of export values, and shrinkage of imports. This showing is complicated, however, by the question of the results to follow the operation of the new tariff law, nearly approaching enactment, there is a distinct improvement in the tone of the investment markets. The extraordinary strength of the reserve position of all the great central banks in Europe gives assurance of provisions ample for immediate needs.

Trade advices continued mixed. The influence of crop damage remains to be measured.

STOCKS IN HANDS OF BEARS

Succeeded in Bringing About Continuation of Decline—Trading Listless Throughout Session. Bank Showing.

New York, Sept. 20.—Bear traders took the stock market in hand at the beginning of business today and succeeded in bringing about a continuation of the decline. Union Pacific was forced down a point and others of the active feature receded almost as much. Rock Island common and preferred shares touched new low figures for their present decline.

The steady demand for stocks at the lower level was not to their liking. Efforts to get back stocks sold caused an upturn and prices gradually recovered the lost ground.

Trading was listless throughout the session. There was a disinclination to make fresh commitments, but the stock exchange is not to be open Monday until noon. The holiday in London today tended still further to restrict trading here.

The showing by the banks on the week of an actual cash gain of nearly $3,500,000, was closely in line with forecasts. Shifting of the burden of loans was reflected in a loan decrease of nearly $10,000,000 and over $5,000,000 was added to the surplus, which was nearly doubled.

Bonds were inclined to weaken again, with Rock Island refunding 4s under marked pressure. Total sales, par value, $549,000. United States 2s declined a point; the 4s registered 1-2 the 4s coupon 1-4, and Panama 2s 2 3-4 on call for the week. Panama 3s registered 1-4 higher. Total sales were 78,600, including American Tobacco 200; C. & O. 200; Lehigh Valley 300; N. & W. 200; Tenn. Copper 100; V. C. C. 100.

YOUNG MAN MISSING.

Mr. A. McQueen Disappears From Marietta—Appendicitis Operation.

Lumberton, N. C., September 20.—Relatives of Mr. Archibald McQueen, of Marietta, lower end of this county, are greatly distressed over his disappearance two weeks ago. He came to Lumberton two weeks ago today, was seen about 3 o'clock by friends on the street, since then nothing has been seen or heard of him.

He is about 35 years old and has a wife and six children. His wife states that when he left home he had on his person $80 or $90.

Mr. J. S. Thompson, Jr., of Fairmont, was operated upon at the Thompson Hospital here this afternoon at 4:30 for appendicitis. When the operation was performed it was found that gangrene had set in and that he was also suffering from peritonitis. Mr. Thompson is considered critically ill.

A RECKLESS BUYER.

He Is Held at Asheville for Inquiry Into His Sanity.

Asheville, N. C., Sept. 20.—W. V. Lyons, claiming to be from New York, and displaying plenty of money, was taken into custody this afternoon at the request of relatives, and is being held pending an inquiry into his sanity. Lyons came here about two weeks ago to visit his sister, Mrs. Sam Novich. While here, he bought several valuable pieces of property, for which he paid. Last night he publicly criticised officials of the city, declaring his intention of removing the present Mayor and stopping the publication of the newspapers. Today he had cards printed, and hired boys to distribute them, declaring at the same time his intention of dismissing the whole police force. Members of the force, at the request of relatives, took him into custody.

SETTLE COTTON STRIKE.

Freight Handlers Go Back to Work at Galveston, Texas.

Galveston, Texas, Sept. 20.—Three thousand, five hundred longshoremen, cotton screw men and drawmen settled their differences today and called off the strike which has crippled the Galveston water front for several days. The principal issue, that negro cotton screw men become unionized, was settled by the proposition that they affiliate with the International Longshoremen's unions with a separate charter. In Texas City, on the mainland, where the longshoremen struck Monday in sympathy with the Galveston men, work will be resumed Sunday.

DON'T EXPERIMENT

You Will Make No Mistake If You Follow This Advice.

Never neglect your kidneys.

If you have pain in the back, urinary disorders, dizziness and nervousness, it's time to act and no time to experiment. These are frequently symptoms of kidney trouble, and a remedy which is recommended for the kidneys should be taken in time.

Doan's Kidney Pills are a good remedy to use. It has acted effectively in many cases in this vicinity.

Can Wilmington residents demand further proof than the following testimonial?

Mrs. J. H. Gardner, Rose Hill, N. C., says: "For several years I was greatly annoyed by kidney complaint and suffered greatly from a lame and aching back. Sometimes I was hardly able to get around to do my housework. I tried many remedies, but did not get relief. Finally I used Doan's Kilney Pills and must say that I never used another remedy that helped me as quickly. I cheerfully recommend Doan's Kidney Pills for what they have done for me."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

DAVID'S
Smart Styles for Young Men

Copyright Hart Schaffner & Marx

Young men can't afford to dress in any but the best style; and the best style is something that only the most expert designers can produce; style in clothes is an art, not simply a word. It's the real art of style in them that makes Hart Schaffner & Marx clothes so much preferred. You'll find that no made-to-measure garments, whatever you pay for them, will give you the lasting satisfaction that's to be had in these goods.

It is such clothing as this of Hart Schaffner & Marx that makes made-to-order clothes unnecessary; they're better than most made-to-order in every way; in fabrics, tailoring, style, fit. You'll see it for yourself here.

the details of the people's campaign for justice, determined that nothing shall be left undone to lay the entire matter before the people of the State at the great mass meeting to be held in Raleigh on Wednesday afternoon next.

Demands Square Deal for Ports.

Lumberton, N. C., Sept. 20.—"North Carolina should accept no compromise that will give less than absolute justice to all her subjects. This will and should mean a reduction extending to both interior and port interests. Nothing less than a square deal for every citizen and every interest should be accepted. If we have been paying four million dollars excessive freight charges, a reduction allowing us a less sum should be promptly rejected." So speaks Frank Gough, president of the local Just Freight Rate Association.

Fayetteville Stirred Up.

Fayetteville, N. C., Sept. 20.—Fayetteville is very much alive to the fact that this is a critical time in her history as a water point with reference to freight rates and her business men are actively engaged in preparing to present the city's views of the rate question at Raleigh next week. A meeting is called for Monday night of all members of the Chamber of Commerce and the local Just Freight Rate Association, at which time speeches will be delivered by business men conversant with the situation and plans will be perfected for sending a strong delegation to Raleigh next Wednesday. The committee will leave on the 7:10 train Wednesday morning.

Commission Reduces Rate on Gravel.

Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 20.—The Corporation Commission made an order today for a very considerable reduction in the freight rate on unwashed clay gravel for road building purposes on all the railroads in the State, the order being the outcome of the case of Cape Fear Gravel Co., of Harnett county, against the Seaboard Air Line, Atlantic Coast Line, Southern and other railroad companies.

The new reduced rate is on shipments five miles to 400 miles, the graduation of rates being shown by the following features: Five miles, 25 cents per ton; 50 miles, 45 cents; 100 mils, 65 cents; 150 miles, 77 cents; 200 miles, 90 cents; 300 miles, $1.05, and 400 miles $1.20 per ton.

that he feared that the power conferred on the regional banks would enable them to dominate not only the banks, but the industrial institutions in their districts. Mr. Flanagan said he expected no such evil results from the operations of the bill.

SCHMIDT'S DIABOLICAL PLOT.

Detectives Still Delving Into Past Records of Renegade Priest.

New York, Sept. 20.—All the death certificates filed since the first of the year, 15,000 in number, were examined today to ascertain whether they included any papers forged by "Father" Hans Schmidt to conceal the murder of other persons besides Anna Aumuller.

Schmidt has confessed that he prepared these blank certificates for the purpose of accounting for the death of persons hopelessly sick or crippled whom he meant to kill painlessly for their own good. He denied, however, that he had put his plan into effect yet, or that he had any victims besides the girl, portions of whose body still lie beneath the waters of the Hudson river.

Revolvers found in the quarters of Schmidt and of Ernest A. Muret, his dentist friend, gave the detectives today additional reasons to believe that the association between them was closer than they have admitted. The weapons are alike in nearly every detail and made by the same factory in Germany. The ammunition with which they were loaded is the same make.

Muret says he bought his pistol eight years ago in Germany. The police believe that Schmidt got his revolver at the same place and at about the same time.

Letters found in Schmidt's trunk apparently show that on his trip to this country he was accompanied by a woman, who believed that she was his wife. She did not know that Schmidt had ever been a priest and evidently had been made to believe that he was a professor of philosophy. The letters were written in German. One, it was said, was mailed from Louisville, Ky.

From the tenor of the letters the detectives believe that the woman was the victim of a fraudulent marriage and was Anna Aumuller.

After Schmidt had left the woman in Louisville, he wrote to her according to the detectives, saying that he had obtained a position in one of the universities in New York City. In reply, the woman wrote, rejoicing in his good fortune, and begging him to let her join him as soon as possible. It is not believed, however, that Schmidt ever brought her here. Inspector Faurot's men refused today to give the name of the woman signed to the letters.

The letters found in Schmidt's trunk mount up into hundreds and according to the detectives throw a great deal of light on his past life. They show, it was said, that a long list of women had been fascinated by him.

Hamburg, Sept. 20.—The police here today identified as Arthur Heibing, the man now detained in New York as Dr. Ernest A. Muret, and under suspicion of being concerned with the confessed murderer, Father Johannes Schmidt, in his counterfeiting operations.

Heibing was born at Nakel, in the Province of Posen, in 1887. He resided at Hamburg from 1904 to 1909, posing variously as a merchant and insurance agent and a physician.

He lived in about 20 different lodging places here. Heibing became a member of the Hamburg Y. M. C. A. under the name of Muret and was repeatedly in trouble in the courts.

Hhe disappeared from Hamburg at the end of 1909 and warrants for swindling frauds are still out against him, both in Hamburg and Berlin.

SULZER TO FIGHT TO THE VERY END

began until tonight. His statement follows:

"I have been advised by my counsel not to make any statement or do any talking, but I have got to have my way in one thing. I am not going to resign and I have never thought of doing so.

"The stories that I am are circulated for political effect and no one better than their authors know their utter falsity."

Counsel for Governor Sulzer tonight refused to discuss whether he would take the witness stand, but it is said by close friends that he has no other thought. He feels, they say, that he has a story to tell that the people should hear and he is going to tell it. But he will not say that such is his plan.

MAY TRY NANCE DURING THIS WEEK

difficult to surmise just how the respective attitudes of Nance and his counsel will be reconciled.

Several interesting developments not heretofore suggested are expected at the trial. Mrs. Ellen Nance, of Washington, D. C., remains in the city to be near her son, whatever the week may bring forth.

The people of the United States read and support as many newspapers as England, France and Germany combined.

IMPROVED TORPEDO FOR JAPS

Japs Get New Cruiser and Forty Torpedoes That Eclipse All Other Such Weapons—Uncle Sam to Get Some.

London, Sept. 20.—The new Japanese battle cruiser Kongo, which has just sailed from Plymouth for home, is taking with her 40 torpedoes of a new and secret design. These torpedoes, a 21-inch weapon officially known as the V. L., are as great an improvement upon the British admiralty's Hardcastle weapon as that torpedo was upon its cold air predecessors. Both are propelled by heated air, but while the Hardcastle had a range of 8,000 yards, the V. L. can travel from 10,000 to 12,000 yards at a speed of 48 knots.

The trials of the Japanese order were made under the personal supervision of two officers of the Kongo, and the tests were carried on with the greatest secrecy. They are said to have been highly satisfactory.

In a few weeks the company manufacturing this new weapon will begin work on a large order for delivery to the United States navy.

Soldiers Like John Burns.

Why was not John Burns made Secretary for War?" is a question British soldiers often ask. Whenever the head of the Board of Works wants recreation he goes into the country to some military encampment and marches a few miles with any detachment of soldiers that happens to be on the move, consequently the soldiers all know him and would like him at the head of the War Department.

John Burns is a great walker. Twenty miles a day is relaxation from work for him. He is very much in evidence at all the Aldershot maneuvers, and he frequently joins some band of Territorials on the march, and then after a day, or an afternoon of tramping in the country, takes a train back to London.

Apart from his fondness for walking with soldiers, and a passion for attending fires and advising the firemen about their work, John Burns is in these days the least conspicuous member of the Liberal cabinet. He, who in his former incarnation of labor agitator loved nothing more than to raise his voice in denunciation or the crimes of capitalists, seldom gets upon his feet in parliament. Some say that this is because he is out of sympathy with the advanced social reforms of the government, and with Home Rule. Certainly he is out of sympathy with his old time "pals" in the ranks of labor. They cannot overlook the fact that he attends court in knee breeches and gold braided coat. And they never fail to remind him, since he has been drawing a minister's salary of $25,000, that he once declared it was impossible for any man to earn more than $10,000 a year.

Washington's Ancestral Home.

George Washington, of Nashville, Tenn., a lineal descendant of one of President Washington's brothers, is visiting Sulgrave Manor, the ancestral home of the Washington family.

An option has been secured on the manor, which will be purchased by the British committee for the celebration of a Hundred Years of Peace, as a lasting memorial of the occasion. It is said that $75,000 is needed to complete the purchase of the property, and while Joseph G. Butler, of Youngstown, O., was here to unveil the Ohio panel of the Pilgrims monument at Southampton, he offered to raise $50,000 of the amount on his return to America.

The British committee hopes to raise the full amount in England and thus make the presentation of the ancient home to the American people one of the graceful acts of the celebration.

Thirty-Year Ghost Laid.

An obstreperous ghost that has annoyed the residents of Ashfords by Rectory, in Leicestershire, for more than 30 years, has been solemnly "laid" by the rector, Rev. F. A. Gage Hall, according to published accounts. Arrayed in cassock and surplice the rector went into the haunted rooms and commanded the spirits to depart "in the name of the Father, the Son, and the Holy Ghost", in accordance with the ancient tradition.

The rectory is an old-fashioned rambling building, which has in its past been the residence of many of the "quality", and the scene of many tragic deeds. The fable that the building was haunted has been a cherished conviction with the servants, and some visitors claim to have experienced happenings which could not be attributed to natural agencies.

The Rev. C. H. Strudwick, Vicar of Whetstone, a neighboring Leicestershire parish, slept for several nights in the house. He relates that on the first occasion he was alarmed in the small hours of the morning by a violent tugging at his bed clothes. He held on tightly but the clothes were pulled off, and when he lighted a candle the door was still locked and there was no visible explanation of the mystery. The sister-in-law of the rector suffered a similar experience. The rector says that the place has been reputed to be haunted as long as he can remember, but since the exorcism the ghosts have not manifested themselves in any form.

American Embassy Portraits.

Through the objection of their descendants to the quality of the portraits of his predecessors, which hang on the walls of his private office, Ambassador Page hopes to secure an improvement in the gallery. During the past fortnight one grandson and one great-grandson have assured the ambassador with some warmth that the presentments of their distinguished ancestors were almost libelous, and they offered to replace the offending portraits with ones which would be better art, if not better likenesses. Dr. Page assured them that such contributions to the artistic improvement of the historic collection would be welcomed, and he expressed the hope that other disgruntled diplomatic descendants would call to examine the pictures of their forebears.

When President Lawrence Lowell, of Harvard University, called recently upon the ambassador he was almost overcome when he saw the chromo which serves to perpetuate the features of his grandfather, Abbott Lawrence, who once represented the United States at the Court of St. James. The Lowell family has always run to brains rather than beauty, but the Harvard president declared that his ancestor did not even look intelligent in the embassy portrait.

C. C. Pinckney, of Richmond, who called several days later, was the next protestant. When he saw the picture of his great-grandfather, Thos. Pinckney, first regularly accredited minister to the Court of St. James, from Washington, he paraphrased the saying of another famous ancestor by exclaiming, "Millions for art but not one cent for chromos."

Ambassador Page is now patiently awaiting the arrival of portraits of some of his early predecessors, done in the best Trumbull and Stuart styles.

WAS UNION SOLDIER.

Captain Zibelon Not a Confederate, as Stated—Was Proud of Record.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Point Caswell, N. C., Sept. 20.—Mrs. M. B. Ward, daughter of the late Capt. John Jacob Zibelon, requests that The Star correct an error made in writing the account of her father's death. It read that he served as a Confederate soldier throughout the war. The fact is, Capt. Zibelon was a gallant soldier serving in the Union army with rank of captain and was honorably discharged at St. Louis after the close of the war. The statemen is made in justice to the late gentleman, who was proud of his war record.

FOUND SMALLPOX GERM

German Scientist Discovers the Elusive Protozoan Which Has Escaped Microscopists—Berlin in the Milk Business.

Berlin, Germany, Sept. 20. — The germ of smallpox, a protozoan so infinitesimal that it has passed through the minutest filters and escaped the trained gaze of microscopists for decades, has been finally discovered by Dr. Walter Fornet, staff physician at the Kaiser Wilhelm Academy.

Dr. Fornet claims not only to have discovered the germ, but to be able to propagate it. This means that it will henceforth not be necessary to inoculate a calf or cow with smallpox virus in order to secure lymph for vaccination, and, consequently, that a pure culture can be secured. The lymph won by present methods contains numerous bacteria which must be exterminated before it can be used for vaccination. What further Dr. Fornet's discovery may mean cannot yet be told, but it opens the way for experiments along hitherto unknown lines in the treatment of smallpox.

Apart from the possibility that Dr. Fornet's discovery may result in new methods of treating smallpox, it is important in that it will make possible the preparation of a pure vaccine virus which may lessen the ill results some times following vaccination, and thus deprive the German anti-vaccinationists, whose number is already very considerable and steadily increasing, of much ammunition. The German law requires the vaccination of all children in their first year, and again in the twelfth, and is very rigorously enforced.

Wisdom of Denmark's Queen.

Recent events in the Balkans have brought to mind the wise prophecy of a queen, nearly thirty years ago, which prevented uncle and nephew from being arrayed against each other in the war just closed by the treaty of Bucharest.

In 1879, the Bulgarians, having finally thrown off the Turkish yoke, set out to choose a ruler. Among the candidates for the Bulgarian throne was Prince Waldemar, of Denmark, then but twenty-one years old. The choice finally fell upon Prince Alexander, of Battenberg.

Alexander abdicated seven years later and the Bulgarian government began negotiations with the Danish royal family to secure Waldemar as king. The negotiations came to naught, through the energetic opposition of the Queen of Denmark. "The nationality and the interests of the Greeks and Bulgarians," she said, "are so diametrically opposed that a lasting understanding between them is impossible. Hence, it could happen that the two brothers, one from Athens (King George, eldest brother of Waldemar), and one from Sofia, would be compelled to become enemies and to wage war upon each other. It is for us to prevent this terrible possibility with all the means at our comamnd. Our son in Athens shares our view."

The Bulgarians, nevertheless, elected Waldemar king. He refused the election, and ten months later Ferdinand, of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha, was elected.

Retired Officers and Business.

The efforts of the Prussian and Saxon Ministers of War to secure the cooperation of Chambers of Commerce in obtaining places in business for retired army officers, concerning which reference was made in these despatches some time ago, continues to excite the opposition and indignation of business organizations in Germany.

In the circulars sent out by the ministers, commercial interests see not only a campaign to crowd regular business men out of lines of promotion, but also decided reflection on business life. They resent the cool assumption that a man who has been found not good enough for the higher commands in the army, is, nevertheless, fully competent to occupy a responsible business position. The Senior Merchants' Guild of Berlin has adopted a condemnatory set of resolutions, in which it is pointed out that few retired officers could, at their age, acquire the theoretical and practical knowledge required of them, and that they are, as a rule, no longer able to adapt themselves to a new calling. Only in a few branches of manufacturing, in which engineer and artillery officers can utilize knowledge acquired in their military service, does the guild see any prospect of success.

In answer to the contention of the ministers that such officers are especially fitted for position of trust, entailing the management of men, the guild points out that full technical or special knowledge is required, precisely in such positions, and that commercial firms have no lack of employees, trained for years in their own offices, who have both the character and the intelligence to fill higher positions satisfactorily. It would not be fair to these men if outsiders were taken in and promoted over their heads. Moreover, it is argued, the officers would be able to accept lower salaries on account of their pensions, and thus cut down the standard of payment for all.

Berlin in Milk Business.

The Berlin municipality, in addition to its many other lines of business and social activity, has decided to go into the milk business, and, beginning October 1, it will undertake to supply the poor of a part of Berlin with milk from its own farms.

The municipality has been forced into this business by the results of a year's investigation of the milk supplied the Board of Charities through private dealers. Frequent complaints of the quality of the milk supplied had been received, and tests in the city laboratory surprised even the critics. The milk was far below standard, both in richness and cleanness. The Board of Charities first attempted to remedy this condition by depriving all derelict milkmen of their contracts to supply the poor. But even this drastic procedure did not result in material improvement the dealers being bound up by long-time contracts with outside dairymen who could not be reached by the municipal authorities.

It was then decided to establish an experimental dairy on one of the municipal farms in the outskirts of the city and supply from this the poor of one district. The municipality will not engage in delivering milk, but will turn over the product of its dairy to one of the regular milk firms for this purpose. If the experiment is successful, the system will be extended to other poor districts of the city.

THE WORLD IS STILL DECEIVED.

The world is still deceived by ornament.
In law, what plea so tainted and corrupt
But, being seasoned with a gracious voice,
Obscures the show of evil? In religion,
What damned error but some sober brow
Will bless it and approve it with a text,
Hiding the grossness with fair ornament?
There is no vice so simple but assumes
Some mark of virtue on its outward parts;
How many cowards, whose hearts are all as false
As stairs of sand, wear yet upon their chins
The beards of Hercules and frowning Mars,
Who, inward searched, have livers white as milk;
And these assume but valor's excrement
To render them redoubted.

ECONOMIC EFFECTS OF CANAL

English Economist Discusses Panama Canal and Relation to World Commerce—Great Britain's Supremacy Threatened.

Speaking on "Some of the Economic Effects of the Panama Canal," Prof. A. W. Kirklady told the British Association at its session in Birmingham, England, Wednesday, that such effects could not be easily exaggerated.

"So far as the outside world is concerned," he said, "the greatest effect of the opening of the canal will probably be to get commerce and trade out of the groove, and cause an all-round modernization of business methods. The old will have to be scraped, friction among the factors of production will have to be elminated, capital and labor in competing countries will have to learn to work harmoniously together. Socially and economically this will effect a very great result. Is it what America dreamed of when she entered upon this stupendous undertaking?"

Mr. Kirklady is professor of Finance at Birmingham University and a recognized authority on economic questions. In his address today he treated his subject under two general heads of local effects and effects on world trade. From the industrial point of view, he said, three questions arose: Who shall supply certain markets; who shall perform the service of transport, and what routes shall shipping take?

The principal factors on the balance of advantages on which the foregoing questions would be decided were, distance; tolls on the route; freight and the possibility of continuous freight-earning; fuel stations; insurance rates; the political factor; rates of exchange; investments of capital and banking facilities; the human factor—manufacturing and commercial ability, experience of trade and markets, and present possession.

Enormous Commercial Facilities.

"The canal," he said, "will add enormously to the commercial facilities between the various regions of the American continent and the adjacent islands, hence important developments may be expected. The West India Islands will enter upon a new period of prosperity, especially when the internal combustion engine takes the place of steam and oil replaces coal. English business and fiscal methods will have a great effect on making the West Indies important to shipping and thus assist the develop-

PAN-DANDY

THE BREAD ABOVE ALL OTHERS

When you buy bread, you don't simply want a combination of flour and water and a dash of salt.

Neither do you want that bread delivered to you "any old way."

You should be afforded every protection from dust, germs, and the hands of the ordinary deliveryman, and that is exactly what we propose to do.

For some time past we have been delivering our BIG-DANDY 10c loaves in sanitary wrappers, and we now take pleasure in announcing that on and after today

ALL FIVE CENT PAN-DANDY LOAVES WITL BE WRAPPED IN AIR-TIGHT SANITARY WRAPPERS

By this means all our PAN-DANDY bread, both five and ten-cent loaves, will be delivered to you in the most hygienic condition, free from all impurities so easily accumulated in the handling by deliverymen. Fresh from the oven to the kitchen, sealed and air-tight. ABSOLUTELY protected, you will find this bread without a peer.

We use the very best flour we can buy; milk which is tested for purity and that must show at least 3 1-2 per cent of butter-fat —and every other ingredient is up to the same high standard of of excellence.

ECONOMIL EFFECTS OF CANAL

ment of local industries, especially the export of raw material. The compaartively unprogressive States of Central and South America will undergo remarkable developments owing to increased immigration of European and increased trade. These local benefits will be the chief and ample, justification for the construction of the canal."

Of the effect on world trade, he continues: "America realizes the importance of the coal trade to the United Kingdom; there will be a strenuous attempt to displace British coal throughout the world in order to give American shipping the advantages at present enjoyed by British. If successful this will deal a mortal blow at our mercantile marine. Thus the British coal industry must realize the situation, and both the capital and labor interested resolve to hold the market at all costs until the fuel question —coal or oil—is finally settled.

"The published scheme of tolls which frees American coasting ships raises an international question. If the canal be worked on business principles, higher tolls will be exacted from other shipping; this will either cause a grievance, or decrease the tonnage using the canal. The question might be made domestic instead of international if America charged equal tolls to all, and gave bounties to such shipping as it wishes to favor."

As to the effect of distance, he thought that on Australasian and Far Eastern markets it would be considerable, as the mileage run by a steamer was a serious factor in cost of service. In this shipping offered a contrast to railways, for w[illegible] trucks were loaded, length of haul had but little effect on cost of service.

Three Classes of Markets.

"Taking London and New York as the typical European and American ports," he said, "the markets of the world fall into three classes—(1) Countries in close proximity to the canal: here the effect will be greatest and, in many cases, the use of the canal a necessity. (2) Australasia and the Far East. At present there is a choice of routes to these markets; Panama will offer another alternative. (3) Ports not directly affected.

"Class 2 is receiving most attention from those estimating the effects on world trade. There is a parallel equidistant from London via Suez, and from New York via Panama. On the South Coast of Australia this is Port Lincoln, Adelaide being the nearest great port. All Asiatic ports west of Japan will continue to be nearer to London, e. g., Manila will be 2,000 miles nearer. But all Japanese and New Zealand ports and all Australian ports east of Adelaide will be nearer New York. If it cost 2s to transport one ton of goods 1,000 miles, distance saved will give American manufacturers an advantage of from 2s to 7s 6d per ton on all goods supplied to ports between Melbourne and Wellington, N. Z.

Tolls—Panama differs from Suez here. Suez had an immediate monopoly; with Panama there is in many instances a choice of routes, and high tolls will deflect tonnage.

"Freights—To benefit American shipping freight must be available both out and home. To benefit American manufacturers freights must be low. At present Europe supplies Australasia with manufactured goods, and the shipping goes via Suez. This route gives a maximum of trading possibilities and great facilities for coaling. The Cape route, too, offers to fully loaded steamers the advantage of cheap bunker coal. For the homeward voyage from Australasia a partly loaded steamer goes via the Horn to pick up cargo at ports like Montevideo. The canal would not attract these ships. When Panama is open will all-around-the-world services be organized? Great Britain is in a better position to do this than any other country. The rumors current recently that an existing shipping combine was trying to arrange an amalgamation with one of the oldest Far Eastern shipping companies were probably due to the hope of being able to commence such a service, having some of the chief trades of the world as tributaries, from the moment that Panama is available. America hopes to open up new markets, e. g., wool. This now concentrates at London, but there is a tendency towards decentralization, and if America develops the woolen industry, she will get a wool market without necessarily constructing a Panama Canal.

Fuel Stations Decisive.

"Fuel Stations.—This will be one of the decisive factors, and lead to the keenest commercial rivalry. The American government is planning to supply good coal at either end of the canal at 19s per ton. The English coal on the Suez route is at present much dearer; to maintain the Suez route in its integrity the supply of cheaper coal is a necessity. When oil replaces coal the British Empire resources will be ample to maintain our commercial position, but this must not in the meantime be placed in jeopardy, or disaster may ensue.

"Insurance Rates—Will probably be the same on both routes.

"The Political Factor—The working of the Imperial ideal in Great Britain, America and Germany should be noted.

"Preferences granted by the Dominions have materially assisted British trade. The possession of the Philippines has displaced Spain from the position of chief trader there in favor of America. The importance of this factor can be traced in the case of Japan and China, when settled government comes, will be another notable instance.

"Rates of Exchange.—The Far East has a silver, Europe and America a gold, standard. Rates of exchange affect trading relations. The whole question should be carefully studied. About seven years ago, when a Chinese merchant could get exchange on the west coast of America at the rate of 119 taels for $100 gold, it paid him to import thence timber and flour; but at present rates, namely, 160 taels for $100 gold, this ceases to be profitable business, and he can trade to greater advantage locally. This factor works independently of trade routes.

"Investments and Banking.—Great Britain is a great creditor nation. Her advances have been really made in goods, and although the interest has to be paid in gold, it comes in goods covered by bills in terms of sterling, so that investors get their interest in gold The British, too, have banking establishments all over the world. London is the great settling place for international trade. All this gives England a very great advantage. Germany has followed England in this. Finally, the Englishman is, roughly speaking, the man in possession, and though at one time he seemed somnolescent, at present he is very wide awake. He has many advantages: (i) for the transport services; cheap, economically worked ships, carefully organized trading facilities throughout the world, and the knowledge and experience which enable him to retain old trades and be the first to enter new ones. (ii) So far as retaining the markets for manufactured goods is concerned he has an unrivalled labor force endowed with hereditary skill, he can get the pick of the raw material, thanks to his knowledge of markets, and a fiscal policy which favors England as a buyer of raw and semi-manufactured materials; finally, British goods are known all over the world for their quality. Honest goods and honorable dealing on the part of the seller are their own market."

RABIES DISCOVERY IMPORTANT

Head of Paris Pasteur Institute Regards Dr. Noguchi's Finding of Microbe of Vital Medical Import—395 Cured.

Paris, Sept. 20.—The reported discovery of the microbe of hydrophobia by Dr. Hideyo Noguchi, of the Rockefeller institute of Medical Research of New York, is considered to be of vital medical importance by Prof. Elie Metchnikoff, of the Pasteur Institute. In speaking of the progress that is being made against this dread disease, Prof. Metchnikoff pointed to the record of the Pasteur Institute for the year of 1912, during which period all of the 395 persons treated were saved. This is the second time such a record has been established in 27 years.

The popular belief that there is an undue prevalence of rabies during that part of the year known as "dog days" has been pretty thoroughly exploded; yet the heated period of the year does bring this subject to mind. It is fully recognized that not all dogs called "mad" are suffering from rabies, and that in hot weather dogs may have convulsions from heat-stroke or from other causes as well as from rabies. In fact, many have found that this good-natured animal may be annoyed to the point at which it will turn on those who pet it; especially will a harmless, starved mongrel, annoyed by the heat, the dust, the fleas and the persecution of persons and things that surround him, attempt to defend himself and snap. Immediately those in the street jump at the conclusion that the dog is mad, and a scare is on. It must be remembered, however, says The Journal of the American Medical Association, that in the mingling of a multitude of like animals which are constantly snarling and quarreling among themselves, when one animal is infected the chances are that the infection will be spread rapidly.

While the precaution already suggested—that not every dog that bites is the subject of rabies—should be borne in mind, nevertheless, for the welfare of the person who may have been bitten by a dog, it is important to know whether or not the dog is rabid. It is unfortunate when an animal that has inflicted such a wound is destroyed immediately. The sane procedure is to quarantine it, in order that a definite diagnosis may be determined. It should be properly guarded and kept from contact with other dogs or animals, but under comfortable conditions. If it is rabid the fact soon becomes evident. If it is simply a case of bad temper and not of disease, the proper punishment or disposal of the dog may be decided after this fact has been established. If for any reason it becomes necessary to kill the animal at once, or if this mistake has been made, the head and neck of the animal should be packed in ice and sent to a properly equipped laboratory as quickly as possible.

It is hardly necessary to suggest that a wound resulting from the bite of an animal should be thoroughly cleansed; carbolic acid should be thoroughly applied and then neutralized with alcohol, and the wound covered with a large, wet antiseptic dressing. Of course, this local dressing alone is not to be depended on when the diagnosis of rabies in the animal inflicting the wound has been established. As soon as this condition of the animal is definitely determined, the patient should be given the benefit of the Pasteur treatment, which is most effective when begun within a fortnight after the wound was inflicted.

More important than the cure of hydrophobia is its prevention by administrative measures. The British muzzling order, absolutely enforced, has rendered Great Britain practically free from rabies. Surely all dogs worth the price of a muzzle or a leash should be thus restrained; the rest should be destroyed. This procedure would rob rabies of its terrors.

Captain Jos. York, of the schooner George H. Wells, which went ashore at Ocracoke during the hurricane September 2nd and who sold the vessel for $800, declaring afterwards in Norfolk that the lifesavers prevented him from getting $1,200, must make good or withdraw his charges, says the Treasury Department.

The Department of Agriculture says that the hurricane warnings sent out by the Weather Bureau have resulted in a marked decrease in the number of wrecks at sea. For 35 years 85 per cent. of the storms at sea have occurred during August, September and October.

Senators Thornton and Bankhead have a bill which would appropriate $25,000,000 for good roads in the States, the latter to provide a like amount.

MEXICAN TRADE INCREASED

In Spite of Revolution Commerce of United States With Mexico is Larger Than Ever Before —Raw Materials.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 20.—Trade of the United States with Mexico in the fiscal year just ended showed a larger total than ever before, according to figures compiled by the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce of the Department of Commerce.

The imports of merchandise from Mexico in 1913 were 77 1-2 million dollars against 66 million in 1912 and 57 1-2 in 1911, the total for 1913 being larger than in any preceding year. Exports to Mexico were 54 1-2 million dollars, against 52 3-4 million in 1912 and 61 1-4 million in 1911, the figures of 1913 being less than those of two or three earlier years but more than those of the immediately preceding year. The grand total of imports and exports for 1913 was larger than in any earlier year.

Manufacturers' materials form the bulk of imports from Mexico, and manufactures the bulk of exports to that country. Copper, sisal grass, mineral oils, hides and skins, gems, lead in ore, and coffee are the principal articles imported from Mexico, while manufactures of iron and steel, lumber, boots and shoes, agricultural implements, automobiles, railway cars, cottonseed oil, meats, wheat, corn, cotton, coal and coke are the principal exports to that country.

Copper in pigs, ingots and bars is the largest single item in the list of articles imported from Mexico, amounting to 17 3-4 million dollars in 1913, against 14 1-2 million in 1912; while the copper in ore imported from that country amounted to over two million dollars in 1913, against a little less than two million in 1912. Curiously, about three million dollars' worth of copper ore is exported to Mexico, being chiefly the product of sections lying immediately along the Mexican border and of a grade readily handled by certain smelting establishments in the northern section of Mexico. Sisal grass imported amounted to 15 1-2 million dollars, against 10 3-4 million in the preceding year; crude mineral oils, about seven million dollars in 1913, against a little over two million in 1912; hides of cattle, 4 1-2 million dollars; goat skins, 1 3-4 million; gum chicle, 1 1-4 million; guayule gum, a substitute for rubber, 4 1-3 million; India rubber, 1 3-4 million; coffee, four million, and cattle, 5 1-2 million dollars, against 4 1-2 million in the preceding year.

On the export side the list of articles is large and includes lumber, 2 1-4 million dollars; pipes and fittings, 2 1-4 million; boots and shoes, nearly two million; raw cotton, 1 1-3 million; cottonseed oil, 1 1-2 million; mining machinery, 1 1-2 million; electrical machinery, practically a million; lard, practically a million; sewing machines, three-fourths of a million; automobiles, over a half million; agricultural implements, over a half million; rails for railways, over a half million; wheat, over a half million, and corn, a little less than a half million dollars.

A very large proportion of the trade of Mexico is with the United States. Fifty-four per cent. of her imports, as shown by her official figures, are drawn from the United States, and 75 per cent. of her exports are sent to the United States, these figures being for 1912.

More than one-half of our trade with Mexico goes by water. Exports from New York to Mexico in the fiscal year 1912, were approximately 17 million dollars, while 23 million dollars' worth of imports from Mexico entered through that port. Of the 66 million dollars' worth of imports from Mexico in 1912, 31 million entered through the Atlantic coast ports, 23 million through the Mexican border ports; 10 million through the Gulf ports, and 1 1-2 million through the Pacific coast ports. The 53 million of exports to Mexico that year showed 17 million through the Mexican border ports, 18 million through the Atlantic coast ports (chiefly New York), five million through the Gulf ports, and 2 1-2 million through the Pacific coast ports.

Mexico's imports of merchandise have grown from 52 million dollars in 1890 to 61 million in 1900, and 90 million in 1912; her exports of merchandise have grown from 18 million in 1890 to 37 million in 1900, and 79 million in 1912.

The cost of living on June 15th, averaged up, was 60 per cent. higher than the average between 1890 and 1900; more than three per cent. higher than it was a year ago and 15 per cent. higher than two years ago, according to the bureau of labor.

Reversing Things

The usual custom is to mark down, cut prices, sell at a sacrifice at the CLOSE OF THE SEASON—but the Big Store of

are going to do just the opposite this time.

Among the New Fall Garments purchased we have an extraordinary large line of $17.50 Coat Suits for Ladies that we purchased at a remarkably low price. There are too many of this one grade of Coat Suit for us to carry. Therefore, we are going to make the opening price on this line of goods what the closing price usually is.

During this week we will sell 78 of these suits for $11.25.

New Fall Goods, fresh and beautiful, are beginning to flood our store. The ocean steamers are bringing them; the freight trains are rolling them steadily to our doors, and the express companies are pouring them in morning, noon and night.

Come and have a look. You will find it both pleasant and profitable.

Kill the Fly and Save the Child

With SHEPARD'S House Fly Driver and Insect Exterminator.

The National Government and Dr. Murray, a Celebrated Physician and Superintendent of Health, of Washington, D. C., ENDORSE IT:

On August 29th I witnessed a demonstration of Shepard's Fly Driver and found that in a confined space this preparation did kill flies. About 300 flies were liberated in a room 12x20 feet and fumes from a bottle of Shepard's Fly Driver were blown with the air of the room. Within a space of one-quarter of an hour all the flies in the room had been killed by the fumes.

The fumes from this preparation produced no ill effects upon the four persons present in the room during the demonstration, and except for an odor of pine tar the fumes are not unpleasant.

As one of the persons present when the above demonstration was conducted, I take pleasure in substantiating the information contained therein.

THEATRICAL

Monday Night—Al G. Field's Greater Minstrels.
Wednesday Night—Anna Held and Company.
Saturday—"The Deep Purple."

The above is the Academy of Music's menu for this week and it is probably the greatest trio, representing the best of every side of stage work, that has ever been crowded into one week in the history of Wilmington theatrically. The week starts off tomorrow night with the annual visit of the monster Field show, and Wednesday night will come the noted Anna Held and a great company of high salaried vaudeville artists.

This will be one of the most brilliant offerings not only in the history of the Wilmington stage, but so far as the entire South is concerned. The company travels on its own special train of Pullmans and carries several carloads of scenery. It will indeed be a notable engagement, and seats will go on sale at Bunting's tomorrow (Monday) morning, the scale will be from 25 cents to $2, with box seats only $2.50 for the attraction.

The week will close with a superb production of the great New York dramatic success of the underworld, "The Deep Purple," with a distinguished cast appearing.

Panama and the Canal Brought Here.

The opening of the Panama canal and the exposition commemorating it are of absorbing interest to all the world. The stage, always a reflex of the happenings of the times, will not be the least helpful in disseminating information as to this important event in the history of the world.

Al G. Field, who always has something pertinent to the times in his programme, has taken advantage of the opportunities presented and will have a scenic production descriptive of the ceremonies attending the opening of the canal that will bring two worlds nearer.

Of course, the minstrel idea will not be the one followed when the ceremonies attending the opening of the big ditch are promulgated. However, the minstrel idea of some things that will occur in Panama are more than worth while, particularly the scenic display. All the scenery has been painted from photos furnished by the U. S. Engineering Department and are realistic.

A street scene in Panama, a volcano in eruption, vessels passing through the canal, a Spanish Lawn Fete, a burlesque on the methods by the moving picture people in securing films for the moving picture exhibitions.

In Panama is a rare bit that will be all the more enjoyable that it is pertinent to the times.

The monster Field show will appear at the Academy of Music tomorrow night and seats went on sale for the performance at Bunting's yesterday morning.

Anna Held & Company Wednesday.

Something entirely new and novel will be offered to the theatre patrons of this city on Wednesday night at the Academy of Music, when Manager John Cort presents Mme. Anna Held and her all-star variete jubilee company.

This monster aggregation consists of the very cream of the stars of this country and Europe, totalling over 50 people in a combination of importations, sensations, creations and novelties galore; Mme. Anna Held herself representing a tower of jewels from the top of her head to the tips of her toes, will unfold for American approval, a creation of her own ever fertile imaginative brain, that promises to "set the river afire," so to speak; George Pheben and Company, appearing in that gilt-edged successful serious playlet, "The Sign of the Rose," Adrew Mack, finally succombing to the lure of the "high Dollar," appears for the first time outside of the legitimate, and sings which goes straight to the hearts of all who hear him, with his beautiful tenor voice and irresistible personality, the Imperial Pekinese produce their latest act ,par excellence, while Francis and Florette uncork a series of lightning evolutions, showing the Tango in all it's phases, as it is done to the plaudits to all Europe, Hirschel Hendler, perhaps the only living rival of the great Paderwski, appears in a musical sensation, and the Chas. Ahearn troupe literally "knock 'em off their seats" in a tornado of stunts such as have never been seen heretofore in this country.

Taking it all in all Mme. Anna Held has never toured America so ably supported as at present by her all-star selection from the varieties.

Seats go on sale tomorrow morning at Bunting's. Mail orders received now will be promptly attended to.

"The Deep Purple."

"Action fast enough to play a long roll on a snare drum," wrote the clever critic on Life, the humorous weekly, in his review of "The Deep Purple." It is this play of Paul Armstrong and Wilson Mizner which, after long runs in both New York and Boston, will furnish the attraction at the Academy of Music Saturday, September 27th.

Rapid action, experience teaches, is what the great majority of theatregoers want. When a play contains this dramatic virtue and in addition is plausible enough to carry conviction, that is, to make one forget the make-believe of the theatre, its success is assured. Never from the time the manuscript of "The Deep Purple" reached the offices of the Arthur N. MacDonald Company, its producers, has any doubt been felt of its popular triumph. It deals with interesting people, the denizens of New York's underworld, in an absorbing and realistic manner. The pretty grafts of those crooks furnish amusement, their bigger games, strong scenes and tense situations.

A splendid company has been assembled by the management for the local presentation of the play. There are seven parts that require skillful handling, hence seven people with whose work the regular theatre-goer is familiar. Several of them have starred in the past.

Grand's New Week.

The Grand has an unusually attractive show to start off the new week with tomorrow. It is headed by a film that will immensely please every one, Edison's "A Mistake In Judgment," showing how little Bobbie's parents simply did not understand him. This is a most elaborate production. Lubin will make a big Indian offer tomorrow in "Her Atonement." Oceola, an Indian maiden, has been annoyed by Black Hawk and is afterwards protected by Tom Hopkins, a cow boy. Lubin has another offering tomorrow in "Black Beauty," the noted horse which takes a leading part in this picture. The Grand will, of course, dish up solid comfort in its usual attractive way. Remember the admission is small, 5 cents, afternoon and night.

Bunny at The Bijou.

Finishing up, in a glorious manner, one of the biggest weeks in its history last night, the popular Bijou is prepared for another royal week and one of the biggest and finest of shows will be presented as initial number. This particular bill will be headed by John Bunny, the popular comedian, in "A Millinery Bomb, the Creation is a Dream." It turns ou to be a fright. After the explosion of laughter everything happily subsides. "Solitaires" is another scream. False rumor and gossip lead to extremely funny complications. "The Cook's Revenge," is another funny picture, where Bridget and the cop play the leading part. "Over the Crib" is a beautiful story of how a couple were united by their child. It may be seen that something superb may be expected. The show with one price of admission, five cents, no matter how big the bill is.

EX-CONDUCTOR IS CHIEF.

Railroader Elected to Head Kinston's Police Force—"Some" House Cat.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Kinston, N. C., Sept. 20.—J. Carson Heath will be Kinston's next chief of police. He will assume the office on October 9th, when the resignation of Wiley T. Moseley, the incumbent, becomes effective.

The new head of the police department is a railroad conductor, and served the city for several years at a previous time in the capacity of patrolman. Patrolmen A. J. Kilpatrick and Floyd D. Kennedy have also resigned from the force. There now remains hardly a man on the police payroll who was appointed at the regular annual selection of subordinate employes in June, several having resigned on previous occasions. The City Council has increased the pay of the chief to $1,200 a year, that of patrolmen to $900, while special policemen from now on will receive $720 per annum.

PERSONS MYSTERIOUSLY LOST

Seven Thousand People Disappear in New York and the Mystery Is Never Cleared Up—Big "Tim's" Case.

New York, Sept. 20.—That "Big Tim" Sullivan, known by sight probably to more New Yorkers than any other of the city's 4,500,000 residents, could walk out of his house and disappear even for a short time without leaving a trace of his whereabouts, calls attention anew to the fact that this is the easiest place on the continent in which to lose one's self.

According to the records and estimates of police authorities, an average of about 20 persons disappear mysteriously every day in the metropolis and no explanation is ever forthcoming as to what becomes of them.

In the course of a year, therefore, the "lost" population of New York amounts to over 7,000, or enough to fill a good-sized town. The largest single class of those who voluntarily disappear in the city's maelstrom is made up of men who desert their wives. A very much smaller number of wives similarly desert their husbands. Others find this a convenient way of avoiding their creditors or escaping the natural results of acts of dishonesty or petty crime. A large proportion of the denizens of the underworld, both men and women, have dropped into it from some higher stratum of society, changing their names and thus losing their identity en route. In a city where every family moves on an average of once in two years and a vast number change their residences every few months, it is naturally easy to drop out of sight and the records show that an astonishingly large number of persons do so effectually every year.

World's Road Record.

A world's record in road-making is probably evolved in the repaving of Fifth avenue's eight busiest blocks—from 34th street to 42nd street—in 15 days. These eight blocks comprise 15,600 square blocks, requiring over 2,000 tons of asphalt, besides other heavy materials. The old asphalt, laid in 1897, is considered to have worn better than any other piece of road-making in engineering history. When ripped up it was found to have worn in some places from a thickness of two inches to a quarter of an inch, and the quarter-inch presented as smooth and unbroken a surface as new road. Repaving was resorted to only because cheaper in the long run than patching. So many concrete foundations have been put on Fifth avenue that the base of its pavement is now from 9 inches to 20 inches thick and there is the prospect of having to blast when necessary to mend a gas or water leak, for as yet there has been found no better method of making such repairs than by gashing a fine pavement.

"Home Craft" for Girls.

A "home craft" course has been introduced into one of New York's high schools for girls, which is calculated to qualify the young women to spend their husband's incomes to the very best advantage. This course was suggested to the principal by the reflection that 65 per cent. of the pupils will marry and that special training for this vocation is most important. Accordingly, the graduate of this school will be able, not only to converse intelligently on litera, ancient history and the newest developments in woman suffrage, to appreciate music and art, and be more or less familiar with French and German—as might be expected, but also to cook a dinner, furnish her home comfortably, artistically and economically, keep it free from germs, trim her own hats, make her own clothes, keep an account book that will come out straight at the end of the month, and play her part in social service. This strictly practical course includes domestic science, domestic arthiology, hygiene, applied physics, household chemistry, household arithmetic, physical training and the general management of a home. It ranges from millinery to the fundamentals of legal procedure and will fit the non-marrying 35 per cent. to make their living as up-to-date housekeepers for which the demand is greater than the supply.

Buncoed the "Con" Man.

Buncoing the buncoer is an art that probably has reached its highest development here. A man of boyish appearance registered at a hotel a short time ago and inserted want advertisements for a number of sales managers for a large Western concern at alluring salaries and liberal expense allowances—a cash depotit of $10 being required to cover cost of samples. There were many nibbles and not a few bit hard and were caught before there called one representing himself as a deputy from the sheriff's office in police headquarters. He lost no time in

TARIFF BY FREE CONGRESS.

New Law Framed in the Open and Not Prepared by Special Interests.

(New York World.)

It is easy to criticise particular schedules of the Underwood-Simmons tariff. It is easy to criticise particular schedules of any tariff. But whatever may be the faults of the Underwood-Simmons measure, it is an honest tariff, enacted by a free Congress.

Its mistakes are honest mistakes. Its shortcomings are honest shortcomings. Its errors of judgment are honest errors of judgment.

This tariff was framed in the open, not in secret. Its schedules were not prepared by special interests seeking their own private profit and accepted by subservient committees. Its rates were not manipulated by lobbies masquerading in the guise of disinterested patriots. It was not bought and paid for in campaign contributions. No member of Congress who helped pass it was engaged in manipulating the stock market while he was manipulating the schedules.

It is the first tariff in 50 years which was passed by the representatives of the people and not by the representatives of privilege and plutocracy. President Wilson describes the contest as "a fight for the people and free business which has lasted a long generation." It was even more than that. It was a fight for honest representative government.

The interests that framed the McKinley act had no share in the Underwood-Simmons bill. The Gormans and the Smiths who mutilated the Wilson bill had no opportunity to mutilate the Underwood-Simmons bill. The men who bought the Dingley tariff from Mark Hanna found no market in the 63rd Congress. The protected extortionists who persuaded the Republican party to commit suicide with the Payne-Aldrich bill had a different kind of administration to deal with this time. The National Association of Manufacturers who "accelerated" poor Taft's Tariff Board had to deal with a President who publicly denounced the lobby. They had also to meet an exposure of their methods in The World's Mulhall revelations which have destroyed the most complete conspiracy that special privilege ever organized for the secret control of government.

Differences of opinion in regard to particular schedules become insignificant in comparison with the spirit and manner in which the 63rd Congress has done its work. Regardless of all criticisms of rates and clauses, this bill marks in tariff-making the actual restoration of government of the people, by the people, and for the people in all that the term implies. Tariffs come and tariffs go, but a free Congress is the highest manifestation of republican self-government.

THE AVOCADO WEEVIL.

Government to Take Steps to Protect American Industry—Hearing.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 20.—The Department of Agriculture has information that a dangerous enemy of avocados, known as the avocado weevil (Heilipus lauri), exists in Hawaii, Porto Rico, Mexico and other foreign countries.

Owing to the rapid increase of avocado culture in this country, and especially in California, there is grave danger of introducing this insect through the importation of seed, which may contain partly developed larvae of this insect. The avocado weevil lives within the seed of the avocado and so far no thoroughly successful method is known of disinfecting or otherwise treating such seeds so as to kill the insect, without destroying the germinative vitality of the seed.

It is hoped, however, that investigations now under way will discover an effective method of treatment under which importation of avocado seed can be permitted. In the meantime it is the duty of the Secretary of Agriculture to consider (in accordance with Sections 7 and 8 of the Plant Quarantine Act of August 20th, 1912), the advisability of prohibiting the importation of avocado seeds and avocado fruits from all foreign countries in which this insect is known to occur.

In compliance with the act, a public hearing will be held at the Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., at 10 o'clock on November 18, 1913, at which all persons interest, or their attorneys may be present and have an opportunity to be heard concerning the establishment of a quarantine against all avocado seeds and avocado fruits coming to the continental United States.

Farm Demonstrator Weaver, of Buncombe, announces that the estimated corn crop of that county of 50,000 acres will run at least four bushels to the acre more than the yield of four years ago ,and at 80 cents a bushel will add $100,000 more to the county's productiveness. How it was done is a story familiar now in every county in the State. It had its inception in printer's ink and theory. Mr. Weaver gives us no estimates of the vast acreage of Buncombe corn sold by the farmers at two dollars or more a bushel, and retailed to South Caholinians and sich at five dollars, on the cob.—Greensboro Record.

D. D. D. Opens New Era in Cure of Skin Disease

Professor Budlong's case of eczema was known to almost every hospital and physician of reputation throughout the state of Connecticut. His letter is another interesting demonstration of what is being accomplished by the famous specific D. D. D., Prescription. "It may be of interest to you to know that your life-giving preparation, D. D. D. Prescription has been of incalculable value to me. I was covered with eczema from head to foot when I began using your remedies. I could get no relief, although I tried a thousand means. I applied but two bottles of the Prescription; a cure was effected in a very short time—in less than one month."—Prof. C. J. Budlong, South Lyme, Conn.

Ask any druggist today for D D. D. Prescription. He'll tell you it allays the itch instantly—and soon there are signs of cure.

We have handled the remedy for years and regard it as the specific for skin troubles of all kinds. Come in or ask us about D. D. D. Prescription, also about D. D. D. soap especially for tender skins.

We offer the first full size bottle on the guarantee that unless it stops the itch at once, it costs you not a cent.

All Blood Disorders Quickly Driven Away

Astonishing Results With the Greatest Blood Purifier Ever Discovered.

Strength, Power, Accomplishment are all Typified in S. S. S.

Some blood disorders become deeply rooted in the glands and tissues, and the mistake is made of resorting to drastic drugs. These only aggravate by causing other and worse troubles. A host of people know this to be true. They knew from painful experience.

To get right down into where the blood is vitiated requires S. S. S. the greatest blood purifier ever discovered.

This remarkable remedy contains one ingredient, the active purpose of which is to stimulate the tissues to the healthy selection of its own essential nutriment and the medicinal elements of this matchless blood purifier are just as essential to well balanced health as the nutritious elements of the meats, grains, fats and sugars of our daily food.

Not only this, but if from the presence of some disturbing poison there is a local or general interference of nutrition to cause boils, carbuncles, abscesses and kindred troubles, S. S. S. so directs the local cells that this poison is rejected and eliminated from their presence.

Then, too, S. S. S. has such specific stimulation on these local cells as to preserve their mutual welfare and a proper relative assistance to each other.

In a very brief time S. S. S. has the reconstructive process so under control that remarkable changes are obseved. All eruptive places heal, mysterious pains and aches have disappeared, and from head to foot there is a conscious sensation of renewed health.

From the fact that S. S. S. is purely a botanical preparation, it is accepted by the weakest stomach and has great tonic influence. Not one drop of drugs or minerals is used in its preparation. Ask for S. S. S. and insist upon having it. And if you desire skillful advice upon any matter concerning the blood and skin write to The Swift Specific Co., 205 Swift Bldg, Atlanta, Ga. Do not allow some zealous clerk to larrup the atmosphere in eloquence over something "Just as good" as S. S. S. Beware of all counterfeits.

ment of local industries, especially the export of raw material. The comparatively unprogressive States of Central and South America will undergo remarkable developments owing to increased immigration of European and increased trade. These local benefits will be the chief and ample, justification for the construction of the canal."

Of the effect on world trade, he continues: "America realizes the importance of the coal trade to the United Kingdom; there will be a strenuous attempt to displace British coal throughout the world in order to give American shipping the advantages at present enjoyed by British. If successful this will deal a mortal blow at our mercantile marine. Thus the British coal industry must realize the situation, and both the capital and labor interested resolve to hold the market at all costs until the fuel question —coal or oil—is finally settled.

"The published scheme of tolls which frees American coasting ships raises an international question. If the canal be worked on business principles, higher tolls will be exacted from other shipping; this will either cause a grievance, or decrease the tonnage using the canal. The question might be made domestic instead of international if America charged equal tolls to all, and gave bounties to such shipping as it wishes to favor."

As to the effect of distance, he thought that on Australasian and Far Eastern markets it would be considerable, as the mileage run by a steamer was a serious factor in cost of service. In this shipping offered a contrast to railways, for w[illegible] trucks were loaded, length of haul had but little effect on cost of service.

Three Classes of Markets.

"Taking London and New York as the typical European and American ports," he said, "the markets of the world fall into three classes—(1) Countries in close proximity to the canal: here the effect will be greatest and, in many cases, the use of the canal a necessity. (2) Australasia and the Far East. At present there is a choice of routes to these markets; Panama will offer another alternative. (3) Ports not directly affected.

"Class 2 is receiving most attention from those estimating the effects on world trade. There is a parallel equidistant from London via Suez, and from New York via Panama. On the South Coast of Australia this is Port Lincoln, Adelaide being the nearest great port. All Asiatic ports west of Japan will continue to be nearer to London, e. g., Manila will be 2,000 miles nearer. But all Japanese and New Zealand ports and all Australian ports east of Adelaide will be nearer New York. If it cost 2s to transport one ton of goods 1,000 miles, distance saved will give American manufacturers an advantage of from 2s to 7s 6d per ton on all goods supplied to ports between Melbourne and Wellington, N. Z.

Tolls—Panama differs from Suez here. Suez had an immediate monopoly; with Panama there is in many instances a choice of routes, and high tolls will deflect tonnage.

"Freights—To benefit American shipping freight must be available both out and home. To benefit American manufacturers freights must be low. At present Europe supplies Australasia with manufactured goods, and the shipping goes via Suez. This route gives a maximum of trading possibilities and great facilities for coaling. The Cape route, too, offers to fully loaded steamers the advantage of cheap bunker coal. For the homeward voyage from Australasia a partly loaded steamer goes via the Horn to pick up cargo at ports like Montevideo. The canal would not attract these ships. When Panama is open will all-around-the-world services be organized? Great Britain is in a better position to do this than any other country. The rumors current recently that an existing shipping combine was trying to arrange an amalgamation with one of the oldest Far Eastern shipping companies were probably due to the hope of being able to commence such a service, having some of the chief trades of the world as tributaries, from the moment that Panama is available. America hopes to open up new markets, e. g., wool. This now concentrates at London, but there is a tendency towards decentralization, and if America develops the woolen industry, she will get a wool market without necessarily constructing a Panama Canal.

Fuel Stations Decisive.

"Fuel Stations.—This will be one of the decisive factors, and lead to the keenest commercial rivalry. The American government is planning to supply good coal at either end of the canal at 19s per ton. The English coal on the Suez route is at present much dearer; to maintain the Suez route in its integrity the supply of cheaper coal is a necessity. When oil replaces coal the British Empire resources will be ample to maintain our commercial position, but this must not in the meantime be placed in jeopardy, or disaster may ensue.

"Insurance Rates—Will probably be the same on both routes.

"The Political Factor—The working of the Imperial ideal in Great Britain, America and Germany should be noted.

"Preferences granted by the Dominions have materially assisted British trade. The possession of the Philippines has displaced Spain from the position of chief trader there in favor of America. The importance of this factor can be traced in the case of Japan and China, when settled government comes, will be another notable instance.

"Rates of Exchange.—The Far East has a silver, Europe and America a gold, standard. Rates of exchange affect trading relations. The whole question should be carefully studied. About seven years ago, when a Chinese merchant could get exchange on the west coast of America at the rate of 119 taels for $100 gold, it paid him to import thence timber and flour; but at present rates, namely, 160 taels for $100 gold, this ceases to be profitable business, and he can trade to greater advantage locally. This factor works independently of trade routes.

"Investments and Banking.—Great Britain is a great creditor nation. Her advances have been really made in goods, and although the interest has to be paid in gold, it comes in goods covered by bills in terms of sterling, so that investors get their interest in gold The British, too, have banking establishments all over the world. London is the great settling place for international trade. All this gives England a very great advantage. Germany has followed England in this. Finally, the Englishman is, roughly speaking, the man in possession, and though at one time he seemed somnolescent, at present he is very wide awake. He has many advantages: (i) for the transport services; cheap, economically worked ships, carefully organized trading facilities throughout the world, and the knowledge and experience which enable him to retain old trades and be the first to enter new ones. (ii) So far as retaining the markets for manufactured goods is concerned he has an unrivalled labor force endowed with hereditary skill, he can get the pick of the raw material, thanks to his knowledge of markets, and a fiscal policy which favors England as a buyer of raw and semi-manufactured materials; finally, British goods are known all over the world for their quality. Honest goods and honorable dealing on the part of the seller are their own market."

RABIES DISCOVERY IMPORTANT

Head of Paris Pasteur Institute Regards Dr. Noguchi's Finding of Microbe of Vital Medical Import—395 Cured.

Paris, Sept. 20.—The reported discovery of the microbe of hydrophobia by Dr. Hideyo Noguchi, of the Rockefeller institute of Medical Research of New York, is considered to be of vital medical importance by Prof. Elie Metchnikoff, of the Pasteur Institute. In speaking of the progress that is being made against this dread disease, Prof. Metchnikoff pointed to the record of the Pasteur Institute for the year of 1912, during which period all of the 395 persons treated were saved. This is the second time such a record has been established in 27 years.

The popular belief that there is an undue prevalence of rabies during that part of the year known as "dog days" has been pretty thoroughly exploded; yet the heated period of the year does bring this subject to mind. It is fully recognized that not all dogs called "mad" are suffering from rabies, and that in hot weather dogs may have convulsions from heat-stroke or from other causes as well as from rabies. In fact, many have found that this good-natured animal may be annoyed to the point at which it will turn on those who pet it; especially will a harmless, starved mongrel, annoyed by the heat, the dust, the fleas and the persecution of persons and things that surround him, attempt to defend himself and snap. Immediately those in the street jump at the conclusion that the dog is mad, and a scare is on. It must be remembered, however, says The Journal of the American Medical Association, that in the mingling of a multitude of like animals which are constantly snarling and quarreling among themselves, when one animal is infected the chances are that the infection will be spread rapidly.

While the precaution already suggested—that not every dog that bites is the subject of rabies—should be borne in mind, nevertheless, for the welfare of the person who may have been bitten by a dog, it is important to know whether or not the dog is rabid. It is unfortunate when an animal that has inflicted such a wound is destroyed immediately. The sane procedure is to quarantine it, in order that a definite diagnosis may be determined. It should be properly guarded and kept from contact with other dogs or animals, but under comfortable conditions. If it is rabid the fact soon becomes evident. If it is simply a case of bad temper and not of disease, the proper punishment or disposal of the dog may be decided after this fact has been established. If for any reason it becomes necessary to kill the animal at once, or if this mistake has been made, the head and neck of the animal should be packed in ice and sent to a properly equipped laboratory as quickly as possible.

It is hardly necessary to suggest that a wound resulting from the bite of an animal should be thoroughly cleansed; carbolic acid should be thoroughly applied and then neutralized with alcohol, and the wound covered with a large, wet antiseptic dressing. Of course, this local dressing alone is not to be depended on when the diagnosis of rabies in the animal inflicting the wound has been established. As soon as this condition of the animal is definitely determined, the patient should be given the benefit of the Pasteur treatment, which is most effective when begun within a fortnight after the wound was inflicted.

More important than the cure of hydrophobia is its prevention by administrative measures. The British muzzling order, absolutely enforced, has rendered Great Britain practically free from rabies. Surely all dogs worth the price of a muzzle or a leash should be thus restrained; the rest should be destroyed. This procedure would rob rabies of its terrors.

Captain Jos. York, of the schooner George H. Wells, which went ashore at Ocracoke during the hurricane September 2nd and who sold the vessel for $800, declaring afterwards in Norfolk that the lifesavers prevented him from getting $1,200, must make good or withdraw his charges, says the Treasury Department.

The Department of Agriculture says that the hurricane warnings sent out by the Weather Bureau have resulted in a marked decrease in the number of wrecks at sea. For 35 years 85 per cent. of the storms at sea have occurred during August, September and October.

Senators Thornton and Bankhead have a bill which would appropriate $25,000,000 for good roads in the States, the latter to provide a like amount.

MEXICAN TRADE INCREASED

In Spite of Revolution Commerce of United States With Mexico is Larger Than Ever Before —Raw Materials.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 20.—Trade of the United States with Mexico in the fiscal year just ended showed a larger total than ever before, according to figures compiled by the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce of the Department of Commerce.

The imports of merchandise from Mexico in 1913 were 77 1-2 million dollars against 66 million in 1912 and 57 1-2 in 1911, the total for 1913 being larger than in any preceding year. Exports to Mexico were 54 1-2 million dollars, against 52 3-4 million in 1912 and 61 1-4 million in 1911, the figures of 1913 being less than those of two or three earlier years but more than those of the immediately preceding year. The grand total of imports and exports for 1913 was larger than in any earlier year.

Manufacturers' materials form the bulk of imports from Mexico, and manufactures the bulk of exports to that country. Copper, sisal grass, mineral oils, hides and skins, gums, lead in ore, and coffee are the principal articles imported from Mexico, while manufactures of iron and steel, lumber, boots and shoes, agricultural implements, automobiles, railway cars, cottonseed oil, meats, wheat, corn, cotton, coal and coke are the principal exports to that country.

Copper in pigs, ingots and bars is the largest single item in the list of articles imported from Mexico, amounting to 17 3-4 million dollars in 1913, against 14 1-2 million in 1912; while the copper in ore imported from that country amounted to over two million dollars in 1913, against a little less than two million in 1912. Curiously, about three million dollars' worth of copper ore is exported to Mexico, being chiefly the product of sections lying immediately along the Mexican border and of a grade readily handled by certain smelting establishments in the northern section of Mexico. Sisal grass imported amounted to 15 1-2 million dollars, against 10 3-4 million in the preceding year; crude mineral oils, about seven million dollars in 1913, against a little over two million in 1912; hides of cattle, 4 1-2 million dollars; goat skins, 1 3-4 million; gum chicle, 1 1-4 million; guayule gum, a substitute for rubber, 4 1-3 million; India rubber, 1 3-4 million; coffee, four million, and cattle, 5 1-2 million dollars, against 4 1-2 million in the preceding year.

On the export side the list of articles is large and includes lumber, 2 1-4 million dollars; pipes and fittings, 2 1-4 million; boots and shoes, nearly two million; raw cotton, 1 1-3 million; cottonseed oil, 1 1-2 million; mining machinery, 1 1-2 million; electrical machinery, practically a million; lard, practically a million; sewing machines, three-fourths of a million; automobiles, over a half million; agricultural implements, over a half million; rails for railways, over a half million; wheat, over a half million, and corn, a little less than a half million dollars.

A very large proportion of the trade of Mexico is with the United States. Fifty-four per cent. of her imports, as shown by her official figures, are drawn from the United States, and 75 per cent. of her exports are sent to the United States, these figures being for 1912.

More than one-half of our trade with Mexico goes by water. Exports from New York to Mexico in the fiscal year 1912, were approximately 17 million dollars, while 23 million dollars' worth of imports from Mexico entered through that port. Of the 66 million dollars' worth of imports from Mexico in 1912, 31 million entered through the Atlantic coast ports, 23 million through the Mexican border ports; 10 million through the Gulf ports, and 1 1-2 million through the Pacific coast ports. The 53 million of exports to Mexico that year showed 27 million through the Mexican border ports, 18 million through the Atlantic coast ports (chiefly New York), five million through the Gulf ports, and 2 1-2 million through the Pacific coast ports.

Mexico's imports of merchandise have grown from 52 million dollars in 1890 to 61 million in 1900, and 90 million in 1912; her exports of merchandise have grown from 18 million in 1890 to 37 million in 1900, and 79 million in 1912.

The cost of living on June 15th, averaged up, was 60 per cent. higher than the average between 1890 and 1900; more than three per cent. higher than it was a year ago and 15 per cent. higher than two years ago, according to the bureau of labor.

George Bernier, 13 years old, holding a guy rope of a balloon while it was being inflated at a fair at Woodstock, Conn., was suddenly carried 500 feet into the air and dropped to death in sight of 5,000 people, Tuesday.

Reversing Things

The usual custom is to mark down, cut prices, sell at a sacrifice at the CLOSE OF THE SEASON—but the Big Store of

are going to do just the opposite this time.

Among the New Fall Garments purchased we have an extraordinary large line of $17.50 Coat Suits for Ladies that we purchased at a remarkably low price. There are too many of this one grade of Coat Suit for us to carry. Therefore, we are going to make the opening price on this line of goods what the closing price usually is.

During this week we will sell 78 of these suits for $11.25.

New Fall Goods, fresh and beautiful, are beginning to flood our store. The ocean steamers are bringing them; the freight trains are rolling them steadily to our doors, and the express companies are pouring them in morning, noon and night.

Come and have a look. You will find it both pleasant and profitable.

Kill the Fly and Save the Child

With SHEPARD'S House Fly Driver and Insect Exterminator.

The National Government and Dr. Murray, a Celebrated Physician and Superintendent of Health, of Washington, D. C., ENDORSE IT:

On August 29th I witnessed a demonstration of Shepard's Fly Driver and found that in a confined space this preparation did kill flies. About 300 flies were liberated in a room 12x20 feet and fumes from a bottle of Shepard's Fly Driver were blown with the air of the room. Within a space of one-quarter of an hour all the flies in the room had been killed by the fumes.

The fumes from this preparation produced no ill effects upon the four persons present in the room during the demonstration, and except for an odor of pine tar the fumes are not unpleasant.

(Signed) A. L. MURRAY, M. D., Supt. Health, Washington, D. C.

As one of the persons present when the above demonstration was conducted, I take pleasure in substantiating the information contained therein.

THEATRICAL

Monday Night—Al G. Field's Greater Minstrels.
Wednesday Night—Anna Held and Company.
Saturday—"The Deep Purple."

The above is the Academy of Music's menu for this week and it is probably the greatest trio, representing the best of every side of stage work, that has ever been crowded into one week in the history of Wilmington theatrically. The week starts off tomorrow night with the annual visit of the monster Field show, and Wednesday night will come the noted Anna Held and a great company of high salaried vaudeville artists.

This will be one of the most brilliant offerings not only in the history of the Wilmington stage, but so far as the entire South is concerned. The company travels on its own special train of Pullmans and carries several carloads of scenery. It will indeed be a notable engagement, and seats will go on sale at Bunting's tomorrow (Monday) morning, the scale will be from 25 cents to $2, with box seats only $2.50 for the attraction.

The week will close with a superb production of the great New York dramatic success of the underworld, "The Deep Purple," with a distinguished cast appearing.

Panama and the Canal Brought Here.

The opening of the Panama canal and the exposition commemorating it are of absorbing interest to all the world. The stage, always a reflex of the happenings of the times, will not be the least helpful in disseminating information as to this important event in the history of the world.

Al G. Field, who always has something pertinent to the times in his programme, has taken advantage of the opportunities presented and will have a scenic production descriptive of the ceremonies attending the opening of the canal that will bring two worlds nearer.

Of course, the minstrel idea will not be the one followed when the ceremonies attending the opening of the big ditch are promulgated. However, the minstrel idea of some things that will occur in Panama are more than worth while, particularly the scenic display. All the scenery has been painted from photos furnished by the U. S. Engineering Department and are realistic.

A street scene in Panama, a volcano in eruption, vessels passing through the canal, a Spanish Lawn Fete, a burlesque on the methods by the moving picture people in securing films for the moving picture exhibitions.

In Panama is a rare bit that will be all the more enjoyable that it is pertinent to the times.

The monster Field show will appear at the Academy of Music tomorrow night and seats went on sale for the performance at Bunting's yesterday morning.

Anna Held & Company Wednesday.

Something entirely new and novel will be offered to the theatre patrons of this city on Wednesday night at the Academy of Music, when Manager John Cort presents Mme. Anna Held and her all-star variete jubilee company.

This monster aggregation consists of the very cream of the stars of this country and Europe, totalling over 50 people in a combination of importations, sensations, creations and novelties galore; Mme. Anna Held herself representing a tower of jewels from the top of her head to the tips of her toes, will unfold for American approval, a creation of her own ever fertile imaginative brain, that promises to "set the river afire," so to speak; George Pheben and Company, appearing in that gilt-edged successful serious playlet, "The Sign of the Rose," Adrew Mack, finally succombing to the lure of the "high Dollar," appears for the first time outside of the legitimate, and sings which goes straight to the hearts of all who hear him, with his beautiful tenor voice and irresistible personality, the Imperial Pekinese produce their latest act ,par excellence, while Francis and Florette uncork a series of lightning evolutions, showing the Tango in all it's phases, as it is done to the plaudits to all Europe, Hirschel Hendler, perhaps the only living rival of the great Paderwski, appears in a musical sensation, and the Chas. Ahearn troupe literally "knock 'em off their seats" in a tornado of stunts such as have never been seen heretofore in this country.

Taking it all in all Mme. Anna Held has never toured America so ably supported as at present by her all-star selection from the varieties.

Seats go on sale tomorrow morning at Bunting's. Mail orders received now will be promptly attended to.

"The Deep Purple."

"Action fast enough to play a long roll on a snare drum," wrote the clever critic on Life, the humorous weekly, in his review of "The Deep Purple." It is this play of Paul Armstrong and Wilson Mizner which, after long runs in both New York and Boston, will furnish the attraction at the Academy of Music Saturday, September 27th.

Rapid action, experience teaches, is what the great majority of theatregoers want. When a play contains this dramatic virtue and in addition is plausible enough to carry conviction, that is, to make one forget the make-believe of the theatre, its success is assured. Never from the time the manuscript of "The Deep Purple" reached the offices of the Arthur N. MacDonald Company, its producers, has any doubt been felt of its popular triumph. It deals with interesting people, the denizens of New York's underworld, in an absorbing and realistic manner. The pretty grafts of those crooks furnish amusement, their bigger games, strong scenes and tense situations.

A splendid company has been assembled by the management for the local presentation of the play. There are seven parts that require skillful handling, hence seven people with whose work the regular theatre-goer is familiar. Several of them have starred in the past.

Grand's New Week.

The Grand has an unusually attractive show to start off the new week with tomorrow. It is headed by a film that will immensely please every one, Edison's "A Mistake In Judgment," showing how little Bobbie's parents simply did not understand him. This is a most elaborate production. Lubin will make a big Indian offer tomorrow in "Her Atonement." Oceola, an Indian maiden, has been annoyed by Black Hawk and is afterwards protected by Tom Hopkins, a cow boy. Lubin has another offering tomorrow in "Black Beauty," the noted horse which takes a leading part in this picture. The Grand will, of course, dish-up solid comfort in its usual attractive way. Remember the admission is small, 5 cents, afternoon and night.

Bunny at The Bijou.

Finishing up, in a glorious manner, one of the biggest weeks in its history last night, the popular Bijou is prepared for another royal week and one of the biggest and finest of shows will be presented as initial number. This particular bill will be headed by John Bunny, the popular comedian, in "A Millinery Bomb, the Creation is a Dream." It turns ou to be a fright. After the explosion of laughter everything happily subsides. "Solitaires" is another scream. False rumor and gossip lead to extremely funny complications. "The Cook's Revenge," is another funny picture, where Bridget and the cop play the leading part. "Over the Crib" is a beautiful story of how a couple were united by their child. It may be seen that something superb may be expected. The show with one price of admission, five cents, no matter how big the bill is.

EX-CONDUCTOR IS CHIEF.

Railroader Elected to Head Kinston's Police Force—"Some" House Cat.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Kinston, N. C., Sept. 20.—J. Carson Heath will be Kinston's next chief of police. He will assume the office on October 9th, when the resignation of Wiley T. Moseley, the incumbent, becomes effective.

The new head of the police department is a railroad conductor, and served the city for several years at a previous time in the capacity of patrolman. Patrolmen A. J. Kilpatrick and Floyd D. Kennedy have also resigned from the force. There now remains hardly a man on the police payroll who was appointed at the regular annual selection of subordinate employes in June, several having resigned on previous occasions. The City Council has increased the pay of the chief to $1,200 a year, that of patrolmen to $900, while special policemen from now on will receive $720 per annum.

PERSONS MYSTERIOUSLY LOST

Seven Thousand People Disappear in New York and the Mystery is Never Cleared Up—Big "Tim's" Case.

New York, Sept. 20.—That "Big Tim" Sullivan, known by sight probably to more New Yorkers than any other of the city's 4,500,000 residents, could walk out of his house and disappear even for a short time without leaving a trace of his whereabouts, calls attention a-new to the fact that this is the easiest place on the continent in which to lose one's self.

According to the records and estimates of police authorities, an average of about 20 persons disappear mysteriously every day in the metropolis and no explanation is ever forthcoming as to what becomes of them.

In the course of a year, therefore, the "lost" population of New York amounts to over 7,000, or enough to fill a good-sized town. The largest single class of those who voluntarily disappear in the city's maelstrom is made up of men who desert their wives. A very much smaller number of wives similarly desert their husbands. Others find this a convenient way of avoiding their creditors or escaping the natural results of acts of dishonesty or petty crime. A large proportion of the denizens of the underworld, both men and women, have dropped into it from some higher stratum of society, changing their names and thus losing their identity en route. In a city where every family moves on an average of once in two years and a vast number change their residences every few months, it is naturally easy to drop out of sight and the records show that an astonishingly large number of persons do so effectually every year.

World's Road Record.

A world's record in road-making is probably evolved in the repaving of Fifth avenue's eight busiest blocks—from 34th street to 42nd street—in 15 days. These eight blocks comprise 15,600 square blocks, requiring over 2,000 tons of asphalt, besides other heavy materials. The old asphalt, laid in 1897, is considered to have worn better than any other piece of road-making in engineering history. When ripped up it was found to have worn in some places from a thickness of two inches to a quarter of an inch, and the quarter-inch presented as smooth and unbroken a surface as new road. Repaving was resorted to only because cheaper in the long run than patching. So many concrete foundations have been put on Fifth avenue that the base of its pavement is now from 9 inches to 20 inches thick and there is the prospect of having to blast when necessary to mend a gas or water leak, for as yet there has been found no better method of making such repairs than by gashing a fine pavement.

"Home Craft" for Girls.

A "home craft" course has been introduced into one of New York's high schools for girls, which is calculated to qualify the young women to spend their husband's incomes to the very best advantage. This course was suggested to the principal by the reflection that 65 per cent. of the pupils will marry and that special training for this vocation is most important. Accordingly, the graduate of this school will be able not only to converse intelligently on litera, ancient history and the newest developments in woman suffrage, to appreciate music and art, and be more or less familiar with French and German—as might be expected, but also to cook a dinner, furnish her home comfortably, artistically and economically, keep it free from germs, trim her own hats, make her own clothes, keep an account book that will come out straight at the end of the month, and play her part in social service. This strictly practical course includes domestic science, domestic arthiology, hygiene, applied physics, household chemistry, household arithmetic, physical training and the general management of a home. It ranges from millinery to the fundamentals of legal procedure and will fit the non-marrying 35 per cent. to make their living as up-to-date housekeepers for which the demand is greater than the supply.

Buncoed the "Con" Man.

Buncoing the buncoer is an art that probably has reached its highest development here. A man of boyish appearance registered at a hotel a short time ago and inserted want advertisements for a large Western concern at alluring salaries and liberal expense allowances—a cash depotit of $10 being required to cover cost of samples. There were many nibbles and not a few bit hard and were caught before there called one representing himself as a deputy from the sheriff's office in police headquarters. He lost no time in

TARIFF BY FREE CONGRESS.

New Law Framed in the Open and Not Prepared by Special Interests.

(New York World.)

It is easy to criticise particular schedules of the Underwood-Simmons tariff. It is easy to criticise particular schedules of any tariff. But whatever may be the faults of the Underwood-Simmons measure, it is an honest tariff, enacted by a free Congress.

Its mistakes are honest mistakes. Its shortcomings are honest shortcomings. Its errors of judgment are honest errors of judgment.

This tariff was framed in the open, not in secret. Its schedules were not prepared by special interests seeking their own private profit and accepted by subservient committees. Its rates were not manipulated by lobbies masquerading in the guise of disinterested patriots. It was not bought and paid for in campaign contributions. No member of Congress who helped pass it was engaged in manipulating the stock market while he was manipulating the schedules.

It is the first tariff in 50 years which was passed by the representatives of the people and not by the representatives of privilege and plutocracy. President Wilson describes the contest as "a fight for the people and free business which has lasted a long generation." It was even more than that. It was a fight for honest representative government.

The interests that framed the McKinley act had no share in the Underwood-Simmons bill. The Gormans and the Smiths who mutilated the Wilson bill had no opportunity to mutilate the Underwood-Simmons bill. The men who bought the Dingley tariff from Mark Hanna found no market in the 63rd Congress. The protected extortionists who persuaded the Republican party to commit suicide with the Payne-Aldrich bill had a different kind of administration to deal with this time. The National Association of Manufacturers who "accelerated" poor Taft's Tariff Board had to deal with a President who publicly denounced the lobby. They had also to meet an exposure of their methods in The World's Mulhall revelations which have destroyed the most complete conspiracy that special privilege ever organized for the secret control of government.

Differences of opinion in regard to particular schedules become insignificant in comparison with the spirit and manner in which the 63rd Congress has done its work. Regardless of all criticisms of rates and clauses, this bill marks in tariff-making the actual restoration of government of the people, by the people, and for the people in all that the term implies. Tariffs come and tariffs go, but a free Congress is the highest manifestation of republican self-government.

THE AVOCADO WEEVIL.

Government to Take Steps to Protect American Industry—Hearing.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 20.—The Department of Agriculture has information that a dangerous enemy of avocados, known as the avocado weevil (Heilipus lauri), exists in Hawaii, Porto Rico, Mexico and other foreign countries.

Owing to the rapid increase of avocado culture in this country, and especially in California, there is grave danger of introducing this insect through the importation of seed, which may contain partly developed larvae of this insect. The avocado weevil lives within the seed of the avocado and so far no thoroughly successful method is known of disinfecting or otherwise treating such seeds so as to kill the insect, without destroying the germinative vitality of the seed.

It is hoped, however, that investigations now under way will discover an effective method of treatment under which importation of avocado seed can be permitted. In the meantime it is the duty of the Secretary of Agriculture to consider (in accordance with Sections 7 and 8 of the Plant Quarantine Act of August 20th, 1912), the advisability of prohibiting the importation of avocado seeds and avocado fruits from all foreign countries in which this insect is known to occur.

In compliance with the act, a public hearing will be held at the Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., at 10 o'clock on November 18, 1913, at which all persons interest, or their attorneys may be present and have an opportunity to be heard concerning the establishment of a quarantine against all avocado seeds and avocado fruits coming to the continental United States.

Farm Demonstrator Weaver, of Buncombe, announces that the estimated corn crop of that county of 50,000 acres will run at least four bushels to the acre more than the yield of four years ago ,and at 80 cents a bushel will add $100,000 more to the county's productiveness. How it was done is a story familiar now in every county in the State. It had its inception in printer's ink and theory. Mr. Weaver gives us no estimates of the vast acreage of Buncombe corn sold by the farmers at two dollars or more a bushel, and retailed to South Cahoolinians and sich at five dollars, on the cob.—Greensboro Record.

D. D. D. Opens New Era in Cure of Skin Disease

Professor Budlong's case of eczema was known to almost every hospital and physician of reputation throughout the state of Connecticut. His letter is another interesting demonstration of what is being accomplished by the famous specific D. D. D., Prescription. "It may be of interest to you to know that your life-giving preparation, D. D. D. Prescription has been of incalculable value to me. I was covered with eczema from head to foot when I began using your remedies. I could get no relief, although I tried a thousand means. I applied but two bottles of the Prescription; a cure was effected in a very short time, in less than one month."—Prof. C. J. Budlong, South Lyme, Conn.

Ask any druggist today for D D. D. Prescription. He'll tell you it allays the itch instantly—and soon there are signs of cure.

We have handled the remedy for years and regard it as the specific for skin troubles of all kinds. Come in or ask us about D. D. D. Prescription, also about D. D. D. soap especially for tender skins.

All Blood Disorders Quickly Driven Away

Astonishing Results With the Greatest Blood Purifier Ever Discovered.

Strength, Power, Accomplishment are all Typified in S. S. S.

Some blood disorders become deeply rooted in the glands and tissues, and the mistake is made of resorting to drastic drugs. These only aggravate by causing other and worse troubles. A host of people know this to be true. They knew from painful experience.

To get right down into where the blood is vitiated requires S. S. S. the greatest blood purifier ever discovered.

This remarkable remedy contains one ingredient, the active purpose of which is to stimulate the tissues to the healthy selection of its own essential nutriment and the medicinal elements of this matchless blood purifier are just as essential to well balanced health as the nutritious elements of the meats, grains, fats and sugars of our daily food.

Not only this, but if from the presence of some disturbing poison there is a local or general interference of nutrition to cause boils, carbuncles, abscesses and kindred troubles, S. S. S. so directs the local cells that this poison is rejected and eliminated from their presence.

Then, too, S. S. S. has such specific stimulation on these local cells as to preserve their mutual welfare and a proper relative assistance to each other.

In a very brief time S. S. S. has the reconstructive process so under control that remarkable changes are obseved. All eruptive places heal, mysterious pains and aches have disappeared, and from head to foot there is a conscious sensation of renewed health.

From the fact that S. S. S. is purely a botanical preparation, it is accepted by the weakest stomach and has great tonic influence. Not one drop of drugs or minerals is used in its preparation. Ask for S. S. S. and insist upon having it. And if you desire skillful advice upon any matter concerning the blood and skin write to The Swift Specific Co., 205 Swift Bldg, Atlanta, Ga. Do not allow some zealous clerk to larrup the atmosphere in eloquence over something "Just as good" as S. S. S. Beware of all counterfeits.

GOVERNORS TRIED BESIDES SULZER

Five Other Executives Who Have Been Impeached in Various States.

HOLDEN OF NORTH CAROLINA

Photos of Six Heads of States Who Have Been Impeached Since the Colonies Were Formed Into United States.

Accompanying this are the pictures of six Governors who have been impeached at various times for various causes in as many States—Sulzer, of New York, and five others, one of whom is Governor William W. Holden, of North Carolina.

Governor Holden, at the left, was impeached in 1870 for illegal imprisonment and illegally declaring counties in a state of insurrection. He was removed from office and disqualified forever from again holding office in the State of North Carolina. Many men will remember the stirring times of Reconstruction during which Holden was Governor, and recall vividly his impeachment. It is interesting to note that the records of that trial were wanted in New York in the trial now going on of Governor Sulzer of that State, and North Carolina recently sent all the documents bearing on the case to Albany, for use by the General Assembly in the trial of Sulzer. Impeachments have been rare in this country, only seven having occurred since the formation of the Union.

Next to Governor Holden is Governor Henry C. Warmoth, of Louisiana, who was impeached in 1872 on charges that he offered a $50,000 bribe to Lieut. Gov. Pinchback. The Governor's term came to an end before the trial and the impeachment was dropped.

The third from the left is Governor Albert Ames, of Mississippi, who in 1876 was alleged to have defrauded the State of $32,750, in connection with prison labor contracts. He resigned and the charges were dropped.

Governor Sulzer, of New York, who today faces trial by the Senate on impeachment charges by the State Assembly.

On the right of Governor Sulzer is Governor Powell Clayton, of Arkansas, impeached in 1871 for conspiracy to deprive the Lieutenant Governor of the State of his office. The Senate recommended dismissal of the charges and the impeachment was dropped.

The last on the right is Governor Charles Robinson, of Kansas, impeached in 1862 for improper conduct in connection with a sale of State bonds. He was acquitted on trial by the Senate.

SEEMS TO HAVE REFORMED

Billingsgate, Once Unfavorably Known for Bad Language, Given Clean Bill of Health.

"Billingsgate" is synonymous for language that is not exactly of the type that is heard in polite society. Billingsgate itself is the name of the famous fish market in the heart of London, England, the biggest fish market in the world, and Billingsgate language is language full of uncouth expressions and strange oaths such as are supposed to be used by fish hawkers. However, according to the present lord mayor of London, Sir David Burnett, Billingsgate as a name for wild expressions, promises to become a misnomer. Recently he paid a surprise visit to this market within his jurisdiction, and like Haroun Al Raschid of old, he went in disguise; that is to say he did not go in his mayoral robes, but were a bowler hat, so that he should not be recognized.

During the whole time he was there he testifies that he never heard a profane word. Everywhere, too, when fish porters came running along with loads that might have damaged his clothes they gave the warning cry "By your leave, sir." His lordship came to the conclusion that the good temper displayed in the carrying out of their arduous labor would have been a credit to any body of men.

LOOKED INTO GOLDEN FUTURE

Proof That Moore Was Right When He Indulged in Rhapsodies Over "Love's Young Dream."

A little girl in Linwood is just about old enough to have a beau, and she is perfectly crazy about any pompadoured, green-hatted, bare-necked, tall, skinny lad that—well, let us tell our little incident without adding adjectives.

The maiden's lovely boy friend went out of town for a week, but he wrote letters. And the maiden's sister started kidding.

"What?" exclaimed sis ,"another letter from Rob? When do you expect to marry him, dear?"

"Oh, very soon!" cried the little one, encouraged by such a display of sympathy. "Robert has only two years more in the preparatory school. And then he will go to Harvard and be graduated with the highest honors. After he gets his degree he will go out west and make his fortune, and then we shall be married. Oh, all seems so beautiful."

"Dream on, kid!" exclaimed the older sister, tenderly. "Do you want to go to another picture show with me this evening? There's a long time to wait, and we've got to put in the time somehow."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

MIGHT EMULATE THE OSTRICH

Physician Apparently Had Little Fear for the Digestive Powers of His Patient.

"Dick's line of talk on imagination," said Senator Marcus Smith of Arizona to a party of pals a few nights ago, "makes me think of a medical acquaintance of mine.

"Among his patients," continued the senator, "the doctor had a lady who was strong on imagination. In fancy she suffered every ill in the long sick sick list, and was continually calling at the physician's office or 'phoning for him.

"Early one evening the doctor was called to the lady's house, and although the fair patient complained of being very ill, she said she intended going to the theater.

"The doctor readily saw that she would be perfectly safe in attending the performance, and was about to take his leave when the patient called him back.

"'Oh, doctor,' said she in a weak and languid voice, 'I want to ask you something. Do you think that I may eat a few oysters tonight on returning from the theater?'

"'Yes, madam,' replied the physician just a trifle testily as he started for the door, "shells and all.'"

The army is said to number 100,000 men and has recruiting stations at every Orange lodge. Sir Edward's position is highly significant and is taken to mean that Ulster will resort to arms rather than accept Home Rule.

Bad Weather Has Interfered With Cotton 4 Picking—Government Building Site a Problem. Personal Notes.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Lumberton, N. C., Sept. 20.—This section has gone through another extremely dull week, the weather being responsible to a great extent for conditions. It has been hot and sultry with showers every day, making travel disagreeable and cotton picking has been delayed but fortunately there has been no wind to do any harm.

Mr. A. M. Diggs, second trick operator for the S. A. L., left yesterday on an extended trip through the West and Northwest. Mr. Diggs will be away for a month or more. During his absence Mr. Rowe will fill his place.

Failure of the Lester-Miller Players to make arrangements for appearance here will make Mutt and Jeff the opening play of the season, on October 3rd.

Mr. Bennie Harris, musician at the Pastime Theatre, has been suffering with chills and fever. Chief Redfern has also been confined by the same trouble.

Mr. Abe Schwartzberg carried the negro to the penitentiary this week who recently stole a mule from Mr. Whaley, for which the negro got two years.

The little son of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Biggs was carried to Fayetteville this week for an operation. He is getting along well. Little Truman Parmele, who swallowed a coin which was removed from the lung at Fayetteville hospital, is getting along very nicely and will be brought home soon.

Rev. J. Frank Garrell, pastor of the Presbyterian church, who has been sick for several days, is again able to be out and expects to fill his regular appointment tomorrow morning and evening. Rev. H. C. Moore, editor of the Biblical Recorder, will preach at the First Baptist church tomorrow morning and evening. Rev. Father Watkins, of Wilmington, will conduct the service for the Catholic congregation at the opera house tomorrow morning at 7 o'clock.

We understand that Messrs. A. T. Williams and J. H. Wishart will in a short time begin the erection of a brick stores on their lots north of the Farmers & Merchants' Bank building on Chestnut street, between Fourth and Fifth. Mr. Williams will erect his next to the bank. In a few years Chestnut will be a close second of Elm street.

Messrs. C. B. Skipper, Jr., and G. B. McLeod, Jr., returned to college this week, Mr. Skipper going to Waynesboro, Va., and Mr. McLeod went to Staunton.

Mr. Arthur Davis who spent his early life in Lumberton, leaving here about 25 years ago, arrived yesterday to visit relatives in the country. Mr. Davis resides in Albany, Ga.

The Lumberton government building has taken another start and now it seems that many of the business men are in favor of the French lot on Fifth street, between Chestnut and Walnut, which it is said can be purchased. The lot is less than one block from the court house. A few of our people are opposed to that location, but then there is not a site that seems to please everybody. Mayor White is circulating a petition among the business men for signatures to be presented in Washington that the French lot be selected. Mr. White stated that he has seen a majority of the business men, that only two had refused to sign, most of them being very enthusiastic about the location.

When the graded school closed yesterday 392 pupils were enrolled and Monday the total is expected to go over 400. The first grade has 60 pupils, while the fifth grade has 59. The grades between first and fifth have fewer than either of them, while those above still have less. The music class has 35 members, the largest number in the history of the school.

The contracting agent for Downie & Wheeler's circus was here yesterday making arrangements for the coming of the show October 24th.

Large crowds have visited the Butts mill near Barker's this week to try their luck fishing, while the water was being drawn off. Large quantities of fine fish are said to have been caught.

Mr. George G. French has been confined to his home for the past week suffering from an attack of rheumatism.

Report reached here this week that Prof. Albert Freeman, who spent the Spring here during which time he made many friends, was married in Petersburg, Va., last Monday.

Some of our people are not taking kindly to the idea of working the public roads. The promoters of this Robeson county roads law cannot deny the fact that it is against the poor man and in favor of the rich. We are told that some of the farseeing ones tried to prevent the passage of that part of the act requiring every man of road age to work the road four days in the year or pay an additional road tax of $2, but it was time thrown away.

Mr. Fred Townsend, of McDonald, began work Monday at the Lumberton cotton mills office, having taken a position as bookkeeper.

Little Viola Pridgen, eight years old, left yesterday morning for Morganton to enter the institute for the deaf and dumb. It was through the untiring efforts of Mr. K. M. Biggs that the parents of the little girl were prevailed upon to let her go away from home. Mr. Biggs is never so happy as when he is trying to do something for the unfortunate.

Lumberton is soon to have one of the most up-to-date photograph galleries in the State. Miss Lillian Ferguson, the promoter, has no superior in the business, and she will have associated with her a Mr. Gregg, of Asheville, who will arrive here early in October. All kinds of work from postcards up will be turned out in the best and latest style of the art.

Dr. W. A. McPhaul is confined to his home suffering from a severe attack of tonsilitis.

Mr. S. L. Martin, of Leaksville, N. C., has taken a position as pharmacist with the Lumberton Drug Company. Mr. Martin arrived yesterday and at once entered upon his work.

Postal Clerk Bethea, on the run from here to Marion, S. C., stated this morning that he had been summoned to work the public road next Monday and Tuesday. He is one of the unfortunates who has to help to pay for keeping the town streets in order and then work the public roads or part with $2. Rather than be in any controversy with the postoffice department he will pay the money and stay on his work.

It does not seem to have occurred to President Huerta to retaliate—or should we say reciprocate?—by urging all Mexicans to leave the United States.—Springfield Union.

One southern State rents its convicts to contractors for a little more than $400 a year and pays its teachers slightly more than $300.

There are nearly 6,000,000 acres of waste land in this country which are capable of being cultivated.

Special Demonstration and Sale

GREAT MAJESTIC RANGES

ALL THIS WEEK

Everything Cooked is Served to Those Present.

Prof. Wulff will give lectures on the art of "Economical and Scientific Cooking" at our store at 2:30 to 5:30 P. M. Don't miss a single day, and bring your friends. If you are not the proud possessor of a Great Majestic Range, these lectures will prove just as interesting. Every lady in the city should attend. This course of lectures affords an opportunity to learn more about cooking and preparing new and tasty dishes than your cook book will teach you in years. We will give you with every MAJESTIC RANGE sold this week a set of ware valued at $8.00. Commencing Monday, September 22nd.

THE GREAT
MAJESTIC RANGE
Isn't it the truth?
Every housewife spends by far the most of her time in the kitchen, and least of her time in the parlor, yet, it's surprising, how many have a $500.00 piano in the parlor and a cheap, worn-out cook stove in the kitchen.
Now, is your kitchen a pleasant place for you, or does that old, worn-out range or stove give you as much trouble as ever? If so, why not eliminate all this worry, bother and needless expense by putting in a
MAJESTIC
THE RANGE WITH A REPUTATION
and thus insure perfectly-cooked meals for the folks, plenty of hot water always, no repairs to fuss over, besides having a range that adds to the appearance of your kitchen.
Isn't it worth looking into? Why not to-day
SHOULD BE IN YOUR KITCHEN
THE RANGE WITH A REPUTATION
N. JACOBI HARDWARE COMPANY

SAVE $8.00

As a Special Inducement during our demonstration week only, with every MAJESTIC RANGE sold — (prices always the same)— we will give free one handsome set of ware as illustrated here.

Every piece of this ware is the best of its kind. Not a piece that is not needed in every kitchen. It cannot possibly be bought for less than $8.00. This ware is on exhibition at our store. DON'T FAIL TO SEE IT.

THE WEEK'S NEWS REVIEWED IN BRIEF

Glimpses of the World at Large, Little News Stories of the Carolinas, and a Resume of Local Doings, Prepared for the Busy Man and the Week-End Reader.

Of General Interest

Rival gangs hired for political purposes during the primary in New York Tuesday, met in a congested street in automobiles and opened fire on each other, but none was hurt. Four of the gangsters were locked up.

A bomb was last week sent to Gen. Harrison Gray Otis, owner of the Los Angeles Times, which was blown up by dynamiters a year or so ago, but he didn't open it. Police investigation revealed it to have been highly dangerous.

John Uhler, formerly teller of the Park Bank, Baltimore, admitted he stole over $11,000 of the bank's funds to speculate in stocks, and the grand jury has found a true bill, but Uhler has disappeared, and detectives are looking for him high and low.

Because of the drought in Oklahoma which has practically destroyed all crops, the Indian Commissioner has extended for one year the time for white settlers to pay the Indians for land purchased on which payments would have fallen due November 1st.

England is in the midst of another great labor disorder in her transportation lines, and a general tie-up has been threatened for days. Employment of non-union men and recognition of the union are among the demandes. Several thousand men have been idle for several days.

Tuesday was Independence Day in Mexico, corresponding to our Fourth of July. President Huerta addressed Congress, promised fair elections next month, said he was pacifying the country and blamed the United States for not recognizing him, saying unsettled conditions were due to this country.

Two years in prison and $2,000 fine is the sentence of Maury L. Diggs, and 18 months and $1,500 that of F. Drew Caminetti, both of whom were convicted of violation of the Mann white slave act of Congress, in that they, married men, transported two girls across State lines for immoral purposes.

A landslide in Alaska where a party of Canadian boundary surveyors were encamped, has probably caused the death of C. D. Roberts and Harry Bodle. The slide was 1,000 up the mountain and measured 500 feet in width and 25 feet deep. It is thought the men were buried under the tons of rock and earth.

The Washington administration is now marking time with reference to Mexico. All depends on what the elections in that country amount to next month. Even if Huerta is elected he will not be recognized and nobody else will be until Uncle Sam is assured that the government is stable, capable and responsible.

Judge Foster will preside in Federal courts in the Southern District of Georgia, presided over in the past by Judge Speer, because that official is under charges demanding his impeachment. In October the case of Thomas Watson, once Populist candidate for President, will be heard by Judge Foster. Watson is charged with mailing obscene matter.

In view of the income tax feature of the tariff bill the corps of the Internal Revenue Department will be greatly enlarged and preparations are being made to extend the service in order to take on the additional work. Collectors in large districts will porbably get a raise from $5,000 to $6,000 per annum, and 300 new men will be put on the commissioner's staff.

Secretary Daniels of the Navy Department, declares his plans to be to make the navy a floating school for enlisted men of high character, so that when a man's time is up he will be better fitted to serve in the navy, or if he doesn't want to re-enlist, he will be better prepared to become a good and useful citizen with knowledge of some practical trade or calling.

August 30th New York and Philadelphia played a game of ball in the latter city and because people in the bleachers waved their hats and flashed mirrors, confusing the New York players, the game was forfeited to New York 9 to 0. The league moguls overruled this and ordered the game played October 2nd, beginning exactly where it left off. The uncompleted score was 8 to 6 for Philadelphia.

Harry K. Thom is now in the jurisdiction of the United States Court and his hearing is set for Tuesday at Concord, N. H., at which time a Federal judge will pass on the question of whether he should be carted back to New York. It looks as if he will win out this time and if he loses he can stay proceedings for two or three years by appealing to the Supreme Court. Sentiment for his release is very strong everywhere.

At the reunion of the grand army of the Republic at Chattanooga, Tenn., Wednesday, the Ohio veterans asked the survivors of Forrest's cavalry to march with them in the grand parade, but a general order had been issued from headquarters to let nobody but Union veterans march, this to keep a lot of women out of the line, and hence the gray-clad soldiers of the South didn't march; but regrets were expressed by the Union soldiers and no feeling prevailed.

After two weeks of mystery as to who the woman could have been whose mutilated and dismembered body was found in the Hudson river, the police found that her name was Ann Aumuller and that she had been killed and cut up by Hans Schmidt, a Bavarian, and a Roman Catholic priest. He had married her, performing the ceremony himself, without witnesses, and when she was about to become a mother, he slew her and cut her up in the bath tub. When arrested, he confessed and began acting crazy.

In San Domingo they have been having a little revolution. Uncle Sam has sent them word that he doesn't approve of it, being as he is standing surety for their debts. They have a few little gunboats and the other day when the Clyde Line steamer Seminole arrived at Puerto Plata, they didn't want her to enter the port, which they declared under blockade. The captain said he had left New York before the blockade was declared and in it he was going, in spite of the guns. The presence of a warship operated to help out his big talk, and the little gun boats steamed away.

Brief News Stories of The Carolinas

Winthrop College at Rock Hill, S. C., has opened with 778 students enrolled.

The Jackson Mills Co., of Monroe, has been chartered with $125,000 capital to weave fabrics.

C. E. Landreth, of Greensboro, has September strawberries and says if frost does not come too early he will have plenty of the berries later on.

The Supreme Court at Raleigh handed down 15 opinions Thursday and in one case the judges tied, one being absent. In such a case, the original judgment stands.

A portrait of the late Judge Thomas W. Fuller, of Fayetteville, was unveiled in the Supreme Court room at Raleigh last week in the presence of a distinguished company.

Strict enforcement of the law against vagrants in Newbern is resulting in reduced illegal whiskey selling in that city. The new mayor is putting the vagrants to work.

The new Duplin county court house is said to be about the finest in the State, considering the population and wealth of Duplin; and it is arranged and equipped in the most modern way.

October 15th thirty-six automobiles will leave Fayetteville filled with boosters for that town and will tour the lower counties of this State and the adjoining counties of South Carolina.

Yadkin county, in the mountains, has raised the largest crop of tobacco this year she ever turned out. The crop everywhere seems to be much larger than usual and yet the prices have been ruling very fair.

Dr. Isaac M. Taylor, alienist of Morganton, has pronounced George S. Nance, who killed his wife at Hamlet, "hopelessly insane." Nance killed his wife in a hotel and set her on fire. He is in jail at Rockingham.

William J. Bryan, Secretary of State, has accepted an invitation to speak at the 134th anniversary celebration of the battle of King's Mountain, October 7th. Other prominent men will be there, but will not speak.

A man wishing to mail small alligators by parcel post was turned down at Newbern. Ever since a postmaster let a bundle of skunk hides through the mails the postal people have shut down on alligators and other varmints.

Adolph Roberts, the Newbern man who killed himself because of ill health, went so far in his preparations for self destruction as to go to the family plat in the cemetery and inspect the place where he would be buried.

Greensboro has practically freed itself of flies and mosquitoes during the Summer. E. P. Wharton and Dr. T. J. Battle led the forces against the pests and next season it is believed that there will be still less trouble from them.

J. W. Witcher, policeman at High Point, was shot and fatally wounded at a negro moving picture show, while he and Chief Ridge were trying to keep down trouble. The same shot wounded the chief in the hand and arm.

Capt. John Jacob Zibelin, a native of Bavaria, who came to this country in 1839 at the age of 12, died recently at Kelly and was buried in Pender county, at the old home place. He was a captain in the Confederate army.

People in the fine tobacco section around Aynor have been compelled to haul their tobacco 18 to 20 miles to Marion or Mullins, but now that the A. C. L. has put in a spur to Aynor from Conway, the folks have built up a market of their own.

Judge Howard Foushee, of Durham, judge of the Tenth Judicial district, resigned by wire to Governor Craig Wednesday night, because of ill health. He has not been well for a long time and finally the physicians told him he would have to give up the bench.

The R. S. Bond property at Lumberton has been recommended by the postoffice inspector as the most suitable place for the public building but his selection is not final and all parties can be heard. There is immediately available for the site the sum of $10,000.

The Presbyterian Synod of North Carolina meets in Greensboro October 6th-9th for what will be the most important and most largely attended meeting it has ever held. On the 7th the delegates will go to the old Alamance church to celebrate its 100th anniversary.

C. H. Bivens, a prominent citizen of Monroe, was electrocuted Wednesday night when he took hold of the chain supporting an arc light in order to shake the wire and make the carbon drop, so the light would burn better. He got 2,300 volts and dropped down stone dead instantly.

Ben Hazel, colored, who killed his wife four years ago and escaped to Pennsylvania, where he entered the ministry, and who was captured and brought back recently, submitted to a charge of murder in the second degree in Guilford court and was sentenced to 30 years in prison.

Albert M. Noble, of Smithfield, has been appointed clerk to the U. S. Court in Samoa, of which Alexander Stronach, of Raleigh, is judge. He will get married to Miss Eleanor Myatt, of Smithfield, before he goes, and together they will start on the 8,000-mile journey a short time after.

Monday Senator Simmons presided over the Senate as President Pro Tem., and in addition to this duty had to attend to the duties of his position as chairman of the Finance Committee and as chairman of the joint conference between the Senate and House tariff adjustment commitees.

Harnett County Commissioners have appropriated $8,000 for four leading public roads provided citizens living on these roads raised $6,000; and representatives have been in Washington asking for Federal funds to aid in the road work. They are told they could get $10,000 if they raised $20,000.

J. V. and W. H. Hogg, brothers, were killed in Allendale, S. C., Monday, by the discharge of a single shotgun, and J. W. Hogg, a relative, is in jail. There was a general fight in which six men engaged and a shotgun was discharged. The brothers stood close together and both were hit.

Supervisor Nipper and Guard Johnson, of the Wake county convict camps, were convicted of whipping brutally a convict in Superior Court last week and fined $20 and costs. They appealed. Judge Cook declared that they had no right to beat prisoners. The Supreme Court will decide the question, which seems to be in doubt.

Miss Mabel B. Fitzgerald, of New York and Oxford, Eng., who has made exhaustive studies in the effect of altitude on human life, participating on the breathing and the blood of people, with reference to its medical effect on tubercular patients, is in the western part of the State carrying on investigations the results of which will be published this Winter.

The railroads Tuesday through Chairman Travis, of the Corporation Commission submitted to Governor Craig an amendment to their rate proposal submitted in August, which was rejected, and the Governor took the matter under advisement. The new reductions would lower rates to points on the State lines, left out in the other proposal, and to points in the western part of the State, but offered nothing to water points.

When Frank Wymbs, a paper hanger, returned home at Spartanburg, S. C., Wednesday, he found the door of his wife's room locked. The children said she had gone in the room early in the afternoon and they could not get a word from her. He broke the door open and found his wife dead, with a sponge soaked with chloroform pressed to her mouth. She left a note bidding farewell to the world. Her mind was deranged.

Norman E. Mack, former treasurer of the National Democratic organization, has been charged by John A. Hennessy with collecting from $150,000 to $300,000 for campaign purposes and never reporting it. He alleges that Mack used blackmailing methods to get it from shady concerns and grafting contractors. Mack has brought suit for libel.

Japan and China are looking at each other as they pass by but not speaking, and the two countries may go to war yet. If they do not, it will be because England frowns on it for fear the other powers will seize the opportunity to carry out the long-threatened partition of the empire.

Some candidates are called and others just naturally get there.—Pittsburg Post.

Writes "Movie" Plays.

London, Sept. 20.—The Countess of Warwick has entered the "movie" world as a writer of scenarios and has thrown open Warwick Castle, with its thousands of acres of deer park and woodland as a setting for dramas. Lady Warwick admits that she has written her first play in "a highly sensational vein." It is called "The Great Pearl Affair," and is, therefore, entirely topical.

The Week Locally

The Builders' Supply Company, of this city, has been awarded the contract for the improvements to be made in the postoffice lobby.

The expenses of the city for the first quarter of the new fiscal year were $89,828, or at the rate of $359,000 a year, or $83,000 more than the budget.

There is a demand for restoration of the old board of audit and finance for the city and it is rumored that the representatives will be asked to restore it.

Five concerns submitted bids during the week for moving 1,040,000 cubic yards of material from the river channel and 450,000 cubic yards from the Cape Fear bar.

The King Edgar, British steamer, carried the first cargo of cotton from this port this season, sailing Thursday with 11,786 bales valued at $825,000. Last year the first cargo went out September 23rd.

George W. Penniman, of Massachusetts ,a noted Pythian lecturer, will address the Pythians of the city and their friends on the subject of Pythianism, illustrating the talk with slides, on the night of November 1st.

Six sisters of the order of St. Francis, arrived the first of the week from Mill Hill, London, England, to take charge of the school for colored children which is under direction of the Catholic church here.

A letter received the 17th from Germany brought the sad news that Mrs. Bornemann, mother of Justice G. W. Bornemann, Mr. J. W. Bornemann and Mrs. Katie Gerdis, of Wilmington, died August 27th, aged 87. She had twice visited this country, spending sometime with her children here.

The city has named a Park Commission composed of Messrs. J. J. Blair, Adam Empie and H. deW. Rapalje, and Misses Julia Parsley and Katie Grainger to improve the parks and plazas of the city and have charge of trees, and they will beautify the postoffice lawn, at an expenditure of $1,500.

F. B. LeGwin, engineer for the Chadbourn Lumber Co., has brought suit against the A. C. L. for $10,000 for damages for injuries sustained March 13th, when he started across the tracks and a shifting engine struck a car, knocking him down and permanently injuring one of his legs, says the complaint.

Because it is alleged that they conspired to escape, Joe Mason and Bony Lear, white convicts, were given three months additional on the county roads by the Recorder Thursday. At the conclusion of the trial Mason swore out a warrant charging Guard Grady Cook with assaulting him following the alleged attempt to escape.

The board of education has bought sites for school buildings in the northern and southern sections of the city. In the southern section the site costs $5,000 and is at corner of Fourth and Meares, Col. Walker Taylor owner; and in the northern section the site is at corner of Sixth and Harnet, J. G. Kuhlken owner, price $9,000.

Monday the local banks of the city bought the county's bond issue of $275,000 at par with accrued interest. The bonds are for roads and schools. Owing to the dull bond market there had been some difficulty in selling the bonds and the offer of the banks is considered a good one, the county furnishing the bonds and the usual legal opinion.

The schools of the county all opened Monday, two weeks later than usual on account of the teachers' institute held here. Owing to the compulsory feature of the new law, the attendance all over the county and State will be much larger than ever. Truant officers have been named to see that every child of school age is in school unless there is a legal reason.

Promoters of Wilmington and Carolina Beaches have offered to pay $1,000 per mile toward the construction of the public road to the beaches if the county will agree to have the road completed by next October. The estimated cost of the road is $3,000 a mile and the companies therefore would be paying one-third of it. The commissioners are building the road now but have hesitated about fixing a time limit.

That there will be a corn show here in December is assured by the activities of County Demonstrator J. F. Herring, Mr. L. B. Sasser and Mr. Geo. H. Hutaff. Messrs. Sasser and Hutaff are giving $100 each in prizes to the boys making the best corn on a measured acre this year, and the State together with a number of individuals will give prizes, and these will all be awarded when the corn show is held.

Dr. Lewis A. Stimson, of New York, a noted surgeon and author and the father of Former Secretary Stimson, of the War Department, spent Wednesday night in the city, on a very interesting visit to the State, this being his first visit since the Civil War when he was a member of Sherman's army. While here then he was taken ill with fever at Faison, and Thursday ate dinner with Mrs. Marshall Williams there, in the very house in which he was ill 50 years ago.

Four new State forests have recently been added to those in Hawaii, making 27 in all, with an aggregate of 683,101 acres. Of this amount, 67 per cent belongs to the territory, the rest being private land administered by the territorial forest officers.

The United States consul at Aberdeen, Scotland, thinks that American manufacturers may have a chance to compete in furnishing staves for fish barrels. There has been a recent rise in the price of spruce and fir staves from Sweden and Scotland.

WOMEN AVOID SOCIETY.

They are reluctant to make the least effort when suffering from dizziness, backache, headache, nervousness, the blues, that bearing down pain or a displacement. Yet they would like to be well. Why continue to suffer when thousands of American women are living testimonials for what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has accomplished in overcoming all such troubles and restoring glorious health? (advertisement.)

THE GOLDEN CALF.

(The Story.)

The people's heart was still gross, and their religious perceptions indistinct. As a mass, they had vague notions of the power that had led them, but had not attained to the idea of Omnipresence. They probably looked upon God as a tutelary Deity, beyond whose jurisdiction it was possible for them to stray. They were very far short of the idea of the spirituality of God. They coveted a visible palladium. * * * It was a crucial hour. God was proving his people. The test was severe, but not out of proportion to their ability to endure it. Would they be true to the pledge which they had voluntarily taken when they said: "All that the Lord hath spoken we will do." * * * Alas! there was a sudden epidemic of fear, and there was no towering personality to withstand it. The black idolatry of Egypt eclipsed for them the heavenly light of Sinai. * * * With the ineffable voice still ringing in their ears: "Thou shalt not make unto thee any graven image" they still required Aaron to make one. * * * Charity seems to have suggested that Aaron's compliance was in reality feigned to gain time in hopes of Moses' return, or that he was deftly playing one sinful propensity against another, in hopes of checkmating idolatry with cupidity. At best Aaron cuts a poor figure. He might do for an easy-going benefice, but had no martyr stuff in him. * * * This was the occasion on which the Israelites in their hearts turned back to Egypt, as Stephen affirmed. That glittering image carried in the van would be a substitute for the fire-cloud pillar; and the image of Egypt's famed Apis would be an aegis under which they might shelter themselves from the wrath of their former taskmasters. * * * While the carnival of idolatry was at its height, the towering form of Moses appeared. Unconscious of the symbolical character of his action, he held the tables aloft then dashed them on the rocks below; thus giving for all time the strongest possible emphasis to the phrase, "the broken law." * * * Next he attacked the costly image, taking the granite fragments of the broken tablets to pulverize the idol. * * * Having done what mortal hands could do to reform the great evil, the mediator of the old covenant hastens up the granite staircase of Sinai, into Jehovah's presence, and there with a patriotic emotion that struggles to express itself in a broken and elliptical sentence, intercedes in Israel's behalf with an abandon and self-oblivion only equaled by Paul, when he wished himself accursed for his brethren's sake.

The Teacher's Lantern.

Hegel affirms that the circumstances under which the law was given on Mount Sinai amounted to an "absolute enslavement of the human individuality by the majesty of the Divine personality." The circumstances were confessedly dread and solemn, and appropriately so, but not to the extent of enslavement. That event was of the nature of a covenant—which implies the free consent of both parties. The people of their own accord said, "All that the Lord hath spoken, we will do."

That the people were not metamorphosed into religious automatons is evident from their shameful lapse. They were perfectly free to recede from the covenant which had been ratified in the thunders of the mount. They actually did so. Such is the fateful element of selfhood which inheres in nations and individuals, and determines their destiny! It is a dread gift, exalting the recipient to highest heaven, but making his fall to lowest hell possible. * * * The grievous consequences of sin, its persistent and almost ineradicable nature, have a startling illustration in this circumstance. It turned into a Hebrew proverb, "No affliction happens to Israel in which there is not some particle of the dust of the golden calf." * * * The gold cure, after all, is not so modern as we supposed. Moses used it three thousand years ago, when he made Israel swallow its own god. He "poured it into their bowels." * * * The utter futility as well as shameful sinfulness of adopting measures of expediency when moral principles are at stake, is here exemplified. The result should be the strongest possible deterrent. The desperately "poor out" Aaron made at it is a fair sample of what comes of using finesse in matters of morals. Right is right. Wrong is wrong. There is no shading off, no neutral tint between the two. The cry is still, "Who is on the Lord's side?"

Divine approval is all-inclusive. Consciousness of that is unfailing source of joy and strength. There are things as certainly to be shunned as there were in St. Paul's day. If not shunned they make divine approval impossible and the shame of defeat certain.

DANIELS AND ENLISTED MEN

North Carolina Secretary Determined to Improbe Status of the Jack Tars of Uncle Sam—Criminals Not Wanted.

Secretary Josephus Daniels of the Navy Department is going about the reorganization of the navy in a way that must result in better conditions for the enlisted men, and for at least one term of administration the Jack Tars will yet more consideration than they have yet had.

"I respect the traditions of the American navy," says Secretary Daniels, "and I have no intention of tearing down those essential distinctions between the commissioned ranks which make for discipline. What I aim to do, however, is to attract the better class of men to enlist by opening the avenues of advancement to men already in the navy. That is the one end for which I strive.

"For example, the department next month will hold an examination for appointment to the grade of assistant paymaster, in which there are 12 vacancies. Heretofore persons permitted to take these examinations have been from civil life, and owed their opportunity to the favor of members of Congress or the President.

Limited to Sailors.

"This time, however, under a policy which I have inaugurated, the list of candidates will be limited entirely to enlisted men, and the examinations will be so modified as to include only those essentials necessary to the average cashier in a mercantile establishment. I do not mean that all enlisted men will have the opportunity to take these examinations, but only those whose integrity can be vouched for by their commanding officers.

"I believe, too, that the enlisted man who, by persistent attention to his duties, and hard study, fits himself to stand examinations for commission, should be encouraged, and not cast down by senseless barriers of class prejudice. If I insist upon democracy in the navy to this extent, I am not an enemy of necessary distinctions between commissioned and noncommissioned men.

Has Improved.

"I meant what I said when, in addressing the graduates at the Naval Academy last June, I told them that they would command men of higher morals and more intelligence than had ever before served in the ranks. The tone of the enlisted ranks has been gradually improving since the days before the Civil War, when the sailor, brave as he was, was regarded as little above the brute in the treatment accorded him. This tendency is to be encouraged, and men of brains in the navy have been trying for years to devise means of attracting good men to the navy and keeping them there.

"When I became Secretary of the Navy I found the enlisted rank sadly depleted. Desertions were great and the recruiting was slow. I hunted about for the cause, and found it, I believe, in the discontent of men who found themselves, once in the navy, shut off from advancement. Obviously, however, those men must have the basis of education before they can aspire to advancement and all that I have been doing with the Naval Training School, in which the rudiments of education supplied, has been based on a desire to give the men a foundation upon which they could build their opportunities for promotion.

Disgusted by Courts.

"Whatever is done for the advancement of the enlisted man, however, is predicated on the respect which the nation at large is willing to give to its fighters in the ranks. That is why it has disgusted me so that prosecuting officers in various parts of the country still persists in offering men accused of crime the alternative of punishment or enlistment in the navy.

"How can we improve the position of the enlisted man unless the enlisted man has self-respect, and how can self-respect exist among men who are forced to associate with criminals and the riffraff of the country."

Secretary Daniels' ideas have not been advanced in the department without opposition. The old class distinctions are almost as strong as ever in the commissioned ranks, and only recently did the Secretary find it necessary to override completely an examining board which had placed low on the list of successful candidates for commissions in the Marine Corps, an enlisted man whose written examination was next to the best turned in by more than 50 candidates, many of whom were drawn from colleges and universities.

SEGREGATION OF RACES.

Clarence Poe's Proposition Exciting Interest Throughout South.

To the Editor of The Star:

Will you be kind enough to give me space—since the idea is so new, since it has excited so much interest, and since so many people are ignorant of my exact purpose—to explain to your readers just what I propose by the policy of race segregation I have been advocating for the rural South?

But to begin with, let me say a word as to the imperative need for some such remedy as I have been urging. I knew when I began this agitation that thousands and thousands of white farmers in all parts of the South were being forced from their homes for social reasons by the growing number of negroes around them (as my own father was), but I did not then know how wide-spread are the evils resulting from our present indiscriminate sandwiching of white and negro farmers

The hundreds of earnest messages from farmers, and even more earnest messages from farmers' wives and daughters, have opened my eyes. A white farmer may have bought land in what he expected to remain forever a white community, may have built a good home with this expectation, ordering his whole life accordingly. And yet some non-resident owning land adjoining him may put any kind of negroes on it, terrorizing the farmer's wife and daughters, destroying the social life of the community, depreciating the value of the farmer's land, and finally forcing him to move for social reasons—leaving the negroes to gobble up the farm for half its real worth. This is not a fancy picture but a literal report of what is actually happening all over the Cotton Belt. Almost every section of the South feels the blighting effect of such conditions. Worthy settlers refuse to come, and farmers already in a community hesitate to build worthy country homes, because they have no assurance that they or their children will not be forced to leave the place in order to find plenty of white neighbors.

If we are to save the rural South to the white race, we must find some remedy, and I have become convinced that an aroused public sentiment is not enough. We must have a statute which will enable any white community that wishes to do so to take steps to insure its remaining white—a statute framed not in a spirit of injustice and persecution to the negro, but in a spirit of justice and protection to the white man.

Briefly, I propose a simple law which will say that wherever the greater part of the land acreage in any given district that may be laid off is owned by one race, a majority of the voters in such a district may say (if they wish) that in future no land shall be sold to a person of a different race. Provided such action is approved or allowed (as being justified by consideration of the peace, protection, and social life of the community), by a reviewing judge or board of county commissioners.

It may be argued, I know, that such a law is unjust because with the government of the South as it is, it could be utilized by white people to keep their communities white, but the negroes would rarely or never be able to use it to make a community wholly negro. All of which I admit, and yet I believe it is just.

I believe it is just because the white man needs the social protection of such a law and the negro doesn't. If a majority of his neighbors are white, the negro doesn't care. His land is made more valuable by the predominance of neighbors of a different race; the chances of selling it for its worth are better; his family are not uneasy or unsafe; they don't mind running off day or night to see neighbors or kinsfolk miles away; and his money-making facilities are better. But with the white man surrounded by negro neighbors exactly the contrary conditions exist. So I am confident such a law as I propose would be just, and eminent lawyers have assured me it would be constitutional.

As for its practicability, that is apparent on its face. It is not a radical measure. It would not be forced on any community that doesn't want it. But wherever any white community does wish to keep itself white and does want the protection of such a law as I propose, I believe it should have that privilege.

I shall be glad to send further information to any interested reader who agrees with me.

Sincerely yours,
CLARENCE POE.

STOP CATARRH!

Unless Properly Treated With Hyomei This Disease May Become Serious.

If you have catarrh, usually indicated by sniffling, stopped up head, droppings in throat, watery eyes, and morning choking, there is an irritated state of the mucous membrane which affords an ideal condition for the growthh of disease germs.

Do not allow the dangerous germs which may be breathed into the nose throat and lungs to begin the destruction of your health.

The easiest, simplest, quickest, surest and cheapest way to check catarrh is by breathing Hyomei—all druggists sell it. This wonderful medicated air treatment does not upset the stomach, but is breathed in through the Hyamei inhaler, directly following and surely destroying all disease germs that may have been inhaled—the tissues of the throat, nose and lungs are quickly healed and vitalized.

The unusual way in which Hyomei is sold by Robt. R. Bellamy dispels all doubt as to its curative properties. Money refunded to anyone whom Hyomei fails to benefit. A complete outfit, including inhaler and bottle of liquid, costs but $1.00.

MAMMOTH COTTON MILL ANNEX

Million and a Half Dollars to be Expended on Addition to Revolution Plant at Greensboro. Install 2,000 Looms.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Greensboro, N. C., Sept. 19.—Plans and specifications are being prepared for an addition to the present plant of the Revolution Manufacturing Company plant that will cost between $1,250,000 and $1,500,000 and probably be ready for operation by the end of the year 1914.

The addition will more than double the capacity of the Revolution mills and give it about the same floor space as the White Oak cotton mills. For some time it has been rumored that the Revolution people would increase their plant, but not until this week was any definite announcement made.

2,000,000 Brick Needed.

Two million brick will be required in the construction of the buildings and an order for 500,000 of the number has already been placed. From 800 looms now operated in the mill the number will jump to 2,000, which is the same as the number now used in the mammoth White Oak mills. Two hundred new dwellings will be erected, and about 700 more people will be employed, which will increase the population of the mill village by at least 1,500. The mills manufacturtures domestics and cotton flannels.

The addition will be made by extensions at both ends of the mill, so that it will run from within 50 feet of the main line of the Southern Railway Company, to the street car line, a total distance of 1,000 feet.

Greensboro Mill Center.

Work on the Revolution mills was started 13 years ago and the mill has been in operation about 12 years. The officers are: S. Stemberger, president; Julius Cone, vice president; H. Sternberger, secretary-treasurer; George P. Stone, superintendent. It is one of the four big mills in the suburbs of Greensboro, three of which are owned by the Cones and Sternbergers. With the constant additions being made to these mills, Greensboro is fast becoming the center of cotton manufacturing in the South. The city now has the second largest cotton market in the State.

The Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, with 5,000 delegates, will meet in Calgary, in 1914.

When It Comes to Using ICE

The Independent Ice Company

without doubt offers in all respects the best Ice to be had in this market.

The water used is drawn from deep wells and is clear, pure and cold; it is distilled and double filtered, then reboiled making it absolutely pure.

It is then frozen at a very low temperature making Ice of the highest sanitary quality.

The best authorities on analytical chemistry prove our claim that no purer Ice than ours can be made.

Our Ice cuts clear and sure thus avoiding the waste in using so noticeable in other makes of Ice; therefore, careful and discriminating consumers will make no mistake in calling for our Ice on the grounds of purity, economy and general satisfaction.

Our delivery service is of the highest efficiency, combining certainty with celerity—early and late, and all the time on the job.

Our increasing sales prove in the most conclusive manner that we are serving the public with the real stuff.

Very truly yours for good, hot weather,
